Clemenceau, War Premier of France, Is Dying

Cannot Live Through Saturday, Say Specialists Watching Spread of Uremic Poisoning.

SUFFERS TORTURE OF HEPATIC COLIC

Aged Statesman Gives Last Will and Testament To Executor and Asks Simple Funeral.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(Saturday.)—(United News.)—Georges Clemenceau, 88-year-old Tiger of France, was near death early today, the victim of uremic poisoning spreading quickly through his system.

Dr. Lucien Degennes, leaving the bedside at midnight, said Clemenceau's condition was "hopeless," but that he probably would live through the night.

France's wartime premier was in a somnolent state. His kidneys had not functioned for many hours, Degennes said. Frequent injections of morphine were given to relieve the pain of hepatic colic when the Tiger, with effort, opened his eyes.

Faithful Friends at Bed.

Throughout the evening and into the morning a little knot of faithful persons kept watch in the Tiger's room. There were Francois Pietri, to whom Clemenceau handed his testament and intrusted the task of being his executor; Clemenceau's son, Michel; his grandson, Dr. Andre Jacquemaire; his chauffeur, Brabant, and his valet, Albert, whose hand he kissed last night while the faithful retainer wept.

Sister Thonneste, Catholic nun, was present to ease his pain. Clemenceau had ordered all other women outside his room, even his daughter, Madame Jacquemaire, who took up a vigil outside the door.

He lay in his Japanese bed in his dim, unlighted room, his hands still wearing the gloves without which he had not been seen in years, whether outdoors or in bed.

Only 24 Hours More.

He wore only his nightgown, having discarded for the first time the heavy clothes he was accustomed to wear when retiring so that he could interrupt his sleep to write. So acute were his abdominal colic pains that he could not stand the pressure of bedclothes.

"Death is now a question of 24 hours," said Dr. Lucien Degennes, as darkness fell. "His condition is most grave and there is no hope. His kidneys have not functioned for 18 hours and he is slowly being poisoned."

Clemenceau, known throughout France as the "Father of Victory" when he was premier during the World War, was stricken with an acute attack of colic Thursday after a hearty breakfast. His condition was

South Experiences Earliest Winter; Snow Due Today

Nashville, Tenn., and Huntsville, Ala., Get Heavy Falls — Birmingham 6 Below Freezing.

BY THE UNITED NEWS.

Light snow flurries and freezing temperatures brought the first taste of winter below the Mason and Dixon line Friday and forecasts were that the temperatures would fall still lower today.

All districts north of central Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia reported varying snowfalls and motorists scurrying for anti-freeze compounds.

The snow line was expected to advance southward to Atlanta and Birmingham today. Temperature Friday at Birmingham was low at 26 degrees.

Snow in Alabama.

Nashville and middle Tennessee was buried under four inches, a new record fall for so early in the season. Knoxville and Chattanooga reported slight flurries. Memphis had seven inches. Little Rock reported all of Arkansas was under five to seven inches following the fall which began last night.

Huntsville, Ala., was under three inches of snow and shivered at 30-degree temperature.

Unseasonal snow and cold, sweeping down from the northwest, attacked the middle west, the east, and causing 14 known deaths.

Temperatures went as low as 16 degrees below zero in Thief River Falls, Minn., and the snow piled up 19 inches deep at Dunkirk, N. Y. As far south as Alabama and Louisiana the white blanket covered the land.

Mail Plane Forced Down.

Four persons were killed at Erie, Pa., when a New York Central passenger train, 45 minutes late, struck two automobiles in a heavy snow storm.

Near Dallas, Texas, an automobile with its windshield covered with snow collided with an interurban trolley car and five women were killed.

Two men met death when their truck was demolished by a train near Seneca, Mo., in a snowstorm, and a man and his wife were killed near Cisco, Texas, by a train which struck their automobile in a fog.

An air mail plane bound for Cleveland was forced down by the snowstorm and cold near Collins Center, Erie county, New York.

Blizzard in East.

In New York the temperature was below freezing most of the day and a stiff, chilling breeze swept the city.

Great gales on the Atlantic were reported by the liner American Merchant, which arrived four days overdue from London. Captain Ernest F. Mitchell said it was the vessel's worst trip in four years.

High winds battered the ship's speed down to a crawling pace from November 10, two days out, to November 18. Passengers were forbidden on deck for two days. Waves swept over the rails and a strip of deck railing was torn away. Two forward portholes were smashed.

The first snowstorm of the season invaded the east, driving in across the Great Lakes. The heaviest fall was on the south shore of Lake Erie. At Dunkirk, N. Y., 19 inches fell. Several inches fell in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania, while the Adirondack district in the vicinity of Old Forge was blanketed with snow.

SOLONS CONTINUE TARIFF ARGUMENT AS SESSION ENDS

House Republicans Refer Very Caustically to Senate's Failure to Complete Duty Bill.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Still arguing over the unsettled tariff legislation, congress ended its extra session tonight for a week's holiday before the regular long term opens in December.

House republicans referred caustically to the senate's failure to complete the tariff bill, the last of the four legislative recommendations submitted by President Hoover to the session.

Weary and wan after days and nights of debate, the senate found itself unable to keep a quorum on hand for the final day and gave up the contest until the next session. It could not adjourn until 10 p. m., so a recess was taken about noon until 9:45 p. m.

The secretary of the senate and Senators Heflin, Alabama, and Blease, South Carolina, vied for the floor at the closing 15-minute session and the secretary won. He took 12 of the 15 minutes in calling the roll.

Eleven senators were present when Vice President Curtis rapped for order and three of them sought the floor. Senator Fess, of Ohio, was recognized.

Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, tried to put into the record a farm report but Senator Blease objected to the transaction of any business. Then Senator Heflin asked for recognition but Senator Fess demanded a quorum call and obviously a quorum was not present nor could it be obtained.

When a member of the press gallery laughed out loud at this move which kept Heflin from making a speech the Alabaman demanded that the press gallery be cleared. The vice president ordered quiet.

As the calling of the roll proceeded Senator Heflin arose to demand that the secretary call it faster. Then Senator Blease sought to withdraw his objection to the Nye report but neither senator was permitted to interrupt the roll call which proceeded until the senate finally reached the hour of 10 p. m.

Senator Fess was the only one of the 24 "young guard" republicans who signed a round robin pledge to attend all the night sessions on the tariff bill who was present for the 15-minute meeting tonight.

The tariff comes up again in the senate next month as unfinished business and leaders of the coalition of

22-Story Office, Cold Storage and Warehouse Lease Is Given Approval by W. & A. Commission

This combination office, cold storage and warehouse structure will rise on the site of the present Union depot on Pryor street under an agreement reached Friday. The building will cost from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000. Offices will fill the entire front of the structure and the tower. The United States Cold Storage Company of Chicago is the builder.

IMMEDIATE SEWER SURVEY PLANNED

Council Committee Will Name Engineering Firm at Meeting Tuesday Afternoon.

Selection of an outstanding engineer to begin an immediate survey of the sewer disposal needs of Atlanta and its environs with a view of providing ample disposal facilities, will be the principal business to come before a meeting of the sewer committee at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon, it was announced Friday by Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction.

Mr. Donaldson has communicated with several leading sewer engineering concerns since city council and the bond commission approved setting up a fund of $25,000, or so much thereof as is necessary, to make the comprehensive survey which is necessary.

The construction chief will present to the committee a list of several firms which have bid on the work and will recommend that one of them be accepted.

Some time ago attorneys representing a group of residents filed formal notice with Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and general council that unless relief measures were instituted by December 1 an injunction to prevent pollution of streams in Atlanta and vicinity would be sought in the courts.

Council and the bond commission then set up the money for the survey. If the engineer is accepted and work begun at once the injunction will not be filed, it is said.

TWO ARE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO AT GRIFFIN

GRIFFIN, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Two persons lost their lives tonight when the southbound Dixie Flyer on the Central of Georgia railway struck an automobile at the 13th street crossing.

Victor Pooles, driver of the car, was killed instantly, and Miss Lucile Blackman, his companion, died after reaching the hospital.

Winter Sleet, Maybe Snow, Coming Today

All-Time Record for Year's Rainfall in Atlanta Is Broken.

Atlantans were introduced to the 1929 edition of real winter weather Friday, with snow, rain and sleet sending the mercury down to the freezing point. Also on Friday an all-time record for a year's rainfall, 65.24 inches, was broken, 39 days before the end of the year. During the remaining 39 days the previous record is expected to be topped by quite a substantial margin, it was predicted.

The city had a light flurry of snow about 5 o'clock Friday morning and from then on during most of the day it was a slow rain that did everything except freeze on the streets. North of Atlanta there was a more pronounced snowfall and the official prediction is that the city will get more snow, probably some sleet and enough rain to beat the all-time precipitation record established in 1920.

Atlanta registered a low temperature of 38 Friday morning at 7 o'clock and freezing weather, or a drop of six degrees, was indicated for today. North of Atlanta, at Dalton and Lafayette, as much as an inch of snow fell. A total of eight southern states were reported as "under a blaket of snow," and Alabama, particularly, was in the well-known "icy grip."

The weather belt represented by Memphis, Nashville and Asheville received snow throughout, Director C. F. von Herrmann announced, but the fiercest onset of the season was in Alabama. Rain in the south and central portions of Georgia, and rain "or snow" in the northern part of the state was the forecast Friday night.

Heavy rains in 1920, with flood conditions obtaining over the southland, set up the high rainfall record of 65.24 inches for the period dating from the establishment of the local weather bureau. At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon the total for the year had reached within one-hundredth of an inch of that mark. Continuance of rain after that time soon topped the all-time record. Exact figures were not available Friday night.

One of those never-failing combinations, a disturbance along the Gulf of Mexico and high pressure over the Ohio valley, is responsible for the brand of weather served Friday and forecast today. The gulf disturbance brought the rain, and the accompanying low temperature was blamed on the Ohio valley pressure.

SLASH IN COUNTY SALARIES BEATEN

Commission To Pass, However, on Employment of New Workers in Cases of Vacancies.

The present scale of salaries of Fulton county employes will be continued in effect during 1930, the board of commissioners decided Friday afternoon following a lengthy hearing granted heads of former fee offices.

Budgets of the former fee departments were adopted for 1930 without any cut based on the 1929 budgets, with the understanding that when vacancies occur in any of the offices the posts are to be considered as nonexistent and the commission is to pass on employment of new help to take the place of resigned or deceased employes.

The motion to continue the present salary scale was made by Commissioner Walter B. Stewart and met with approval of every commissioner with the exception of Edward H. Inman, chairman of the finance committee, who has advocated a 20 per cent reduction in salaries instead of the 10 per cent which had been proposed by the board.

Schedules To Be Offered.

Under the board's action, any adjustments of salaries in the departments are to be made by heads of departments and the 1930 salary schedules, based on the budgets adopted Friday, are to be presented to the board for approval on or before December 21.

Commissioner Stewart's plan of reducing salary expenses is one of elimination, a practice he has carried out in the department of public works this year to the extent that salaries have been reduced by $5,000 and overhead expenses by $3,000 without cutting the pay of any employe. When an employe leaves the service of the county in the future, under Mr. Stewart's plan the man who is put in the place which has been vacated will not be increased to the full amount the ex-employe was drawing. For instance: if an employe drawing $400 a month resigns, a $300 man will be put in his place at a salary of $350, and corresponding promotions will be made along the line.

Budgets Compared.

Budgets of the former fee offices for 1930 compare as follows with the 1925 budgets, the first under the sal-

Same Bandit Robs Grocery Seventh Time

"How Much You Got for Me This Time?" He Inquires.

"How much you got for me this time?"

Sam Feldman, grocer, of 141 Chapel street, S. W., had heard that voice before. In fact he had heard it seven times since January 1, and each time it had cost him money.

He turned around to see a negro, about 5 feet 8 high, average in appearance, fairly well dressed—and then he saw a gun.

By this time Feldman was resigned to the inevitable and he made no protest as the bandit walked over to the cash register, took $20 in cash and one dollar in stamps, then calmly walked to the door and disappeared in the darkness.

For the seventh time Feldman picked up his phone and reported that he had been visited by the same bandit with the same result.

"It's just too bad," he told Call Officers Charlie Floyd and Arthur Dailey. "All I do is lose money. I can't even get a thrill out of it any more."

EUROPEAN TRAIN BOMBING TERMED MACEDONIAN PLOT

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Nov. 22. (United News.)—Indications that the bombing of the fast Orient express train in the Tsaribrod region yesterday was a Macedonian plot to complicate Jugoslav and Bulgarian frontier negotiations were reported today by officials.

"ERUDITE TUNNEY" AND WIFE EMBARK FOR NATIVE PORTS

NAPLES, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, and his wife, the former Polly Lauder, sailed tonight on the steamship Vulcania for New York. They have not been in the United States since their marriage in Rome on October 3, 1928.

WORK ON GIGANTIC DEPOT STRUCTURE TO START IN MAY

Project on Old Union Station Site Will Cost Between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

DUAL LEASE MADE TO RUN TO 1999

Definite agreement by all parties and assurance that work would commence next May on the proposed 22-story office, cold storage and warehouse building, to cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, on the site of the present Union depot on Pryor street, came Friday when the W. and A. commission, the N. C. & St. L. railway and the United States Cold Storage Company, of Chicago, which will erect the building, reached terms ending the negotiations which have been in progress more than a year.

Construction of the new building, which will cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000—considerably in excess of a $2,000,000 minimum fixed in the lease terms—will begin next May, as soon as the removal of the depot facilities to the new terminal station can be effected and the property cleared of its present building.

The new building, it was announced, will be known as the Dixie Terminal building. It will be of terra cotta construction, with a central tower rising to the full height of 22 stories.

It will afford 600,000 square feet of floor space, 475,000 of which will be devoted to storage purposes and 125,000 to office space. Of the storage space 150,000 square feet will be cold storage, in which temperatures between 20 degrees below zero and 40 degrees above will be maintained.

Approximately 30,000 square feet of store space will also be provided, fronting on Pryor and Wall streets and Central avenue.

The lease was made with the United States Warehouse Company, of Delaware, a corporation organized Thursday of this week to conduct the warehouse business which will be operated in the new structure. It is a subsidiary of the United States Cold Storage Company, of Kansas City, with which the Western & Atlantic railroad commission has been negotiating in effecting the lease.

The agreement entered into Friday is dual in its nature, the United States Warehouse Company sub-leasing the depot property from the present lessors, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, for the remaining period of their lease, until De-

THE ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL TEAM

Four famous coaches, comprising the board of selection for The All-American Football Eleven for 1929, will confer next week for final decision.

These coaches are:

Bill Roper, of Princeton University.
Howard Jones, of University of Southern California.

These men are all active coaches and the leading figures in football in their respective sections. The judgment of this board will be made immediately after the Thanksgiving Day games and will be transmitted to The Atlanta Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

The prominence of these four coaches in the field stamps their judgments as authoritative. Three elevens will be picked, first, second and third.

The All-American Football Eleven will be published exclusively in The Constitution on Sunday, December 1.

PRESIDENT WEARS BLACK ARM BAND AS GRIEF TOKEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Hoover is wearing a band of black crepe around the sleeve of his coat as a mark of mourning for the late Secretary Good.

He will wear this for the 30-day state period of mourning which will end on December 18.

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Nearing conclusion of their annual convention in Biloxi, the United Daughters of the Confederacy today agreed to complete the restoration of the birthplace of General Robert E. Lee at Stratford, Va., and distributed annual awards for the year's best work.

The convention voted to pay off the remaining $50,000 for the memorial to Lee, restoring the old home to the exact surroundings of his boyhood days, and to ask each division and chapter to assume its responsibility in the campaign.

Reports will be made to the 1930 convention on the progress made by each division from the various states represented. Mrs. Albert S. Porter, of Cleveland, Ohio, division president, was awarded first place among the 42 division reports for the most constructive and comprehensive report offered.

The Georgia organization retained the Alexander Farris cup, given to the state showing the largest membership. South Carolina was next, only one point behind Georgia. During a discussion of the aid rendered the old Confederate soldiers by the Daughters and the gathering of data for assembling a complete historic record of the individual exploits, the James F. McKinsey award for the most meritorious work among the veterans was given to the Ohio division.

To Mrs. Mary Bond, of Clarksville, Va., went the cup for the most unselfish individual work among the veterans during the year. Mrs. Roy Weeks McKinney, of Kentucky, reported that the movement to obtain the complete records of the soldiers was well under way and that the majority of the information was in hand. The membership of the U. D. C. has grown to 63,000, it was shown in the report of Mrs. J. P. Higgins, of St. Louis, in charge of the department of records. During the past year members added numbered 4,559.

MACCABEES ORDER TO MEET JOINTLY ON MONDAY NIGHT

A joint meeting of the fraternal Order of Maccabees will be held at the Kimball house Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Sir Knight A. M. Hornberger, a representative of the Supreme Tent, will be among those present.

The meeting is being held for the purpose of consolidating Georgia Tent No. 18 and Palestine Tent, No. 3. A new charter will be granted by the Supreme Tent for the new tent which will be known as Georgia Tent, No. 3. At the conclusion of the meeting all present will be entertained as the guests of Dr. Horace Grant, H. D. Rosendorf and Charles Green.

TARIFF MEASURE TO AID FARMERS IS HOPE OF CRISP

If present coalition forces in the senate holds their lines, in the opinion of Congressman Charles R. Crisp, of the third Georgia district, a visitor to Atlanta Friday, it is probable that a tariff bill of real value to the farmers will be enacted.

The republicans have a wide majority in both houses, he said, but in the senate progressive republicans and democrats working together exercise control. "We are hoping that as a result of the situation in the senate a tariff bill will be enacted which will repeal the flexible clause in the present bill and provide some real benefit for farm products," he said.

SENATOR W. E. EDGE TO DEPART TODAY FOR NEW MEXICO

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, newly appointed ambassador to France, who has been spending a few days at the Norias Hunting Club near here, said today he expected to leave tomorrow for New Mexico, to visit a son in school there. He expects to go to Washington from New Mexico and leave immediately for France. He succeeds the late Myron T. Herrick.

COMMON CARRIER ACT IS ENJOINED BY TRANSFER FIRM

The Saye & Davis Transfer Company Friday afternoon was protected by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, from enforcement by the Georgia public service commission of the common carrier act. Judge Thomas issued an injunction against the commission on the ground that the plaintiff transfer company is not a common carrier, but is a private carrier, hauling goods under contract with five firms.

The transfer company was represented by Robert S. Sams and Troutman and Troutman. The public service commission was represented by S. J. Smith, Jr., of Commerce, and T. Mayhew Cunningham, of Savannah. Mr. Smith said that the case would be appealed.

ROAD TO ROME, AMERICAN PLAY, OPENS IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—"The Road to Rome," a play with a New York cast, opened tonight at the Theater Femina in the Champs Elysees, inaugurating the first American theatrical season in Paris.

A large Franco-American audience welcomed a typically American production. McKay Morris played Hannibal and Jessie Ralph Fabia.

It was the gala opening of the Paris-American Players, directed by Carol M. Sax, known in America for productions with Morris Gest, Margaret Anglin, George Tyler and the Shuberts, and founder of Baltimore's Vagabond Players.

Backed by a group of wealthy Americans, the players will give six recent American successes, bringing some of the more prominent members of the original casts to Paris for each play.

Each of the six plays is to run two weeks.

TOBACCO "QUEEN" LEAVES FORTUNE TO FOUR CHILDREN

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The four children of Mrs. Josephine Carr Dula, widow of Robert B. Dula, former vice president of the American Tobacco Company, inherit the bulk of the estate, her will, filed today, disclosed. Mrs. Dula died November 15, last.

Two daughters, Mrs. Iva Dula Edgar, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Selva Dula Pieri, of New York, and a son, Grover C. Dula, of New York, will receive life estates in equal shares of the residue. The fourth part will go to Robert L. Dula, another son, of Scarsdale, N. Y., who will receive a life estate in his share after $65,000 indebtedness to his father's estate has been withdrawn from the principal.

Elizabeth Moody, of Wentzville, Mo., a sister of the testatrix, will get a life estate of $25,000. Mrs. Josephine E. Kaime, a granddaughter, will get a similar bequest. Another granddaughter, Catherine Meyer, of St. Louis, will receive $25,000. Two brothers, Edward and Dudley Carr, St. Louis, and a friend, Inez Moore, of St. Louis, will get $5,000 each.

KELLOGG CHAMPIONS PEACE IN LONDON TALK

Tells Pilgrim Society Navies Must Be Cut To Insure Safety.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Frank B. Kellogg, former American secretary of state, emerged from private life to receive the homage of the Pilgrim Society tonight and to urge reduction in the land and sea forces of the world sufficient to prevent their use for anything but national protection.

"In my judgment one of the most important problems now confronting the nations," he told the distinguished members of the society who have as a purpose increasing British-American friendship, "is the question of reduction of limitation of armaments. I say reduction and limitation because, however ideal complete disarmament might be, we must look at these reforms from a practical standpoint. The world is not yet ready for disarmament.

"Competitive building inevitably is a great inducement to war. No treaty which provides for or contemplates an increase of armament will meet the situation.

"No one or two nations are going to be able to dominate the world," Mr. Kellogg went on. "The control of the seas is now an impossible dream. The security of the world can only be obtained by mutual consideration, confidence and the advancement of specific settlement of disputes."

Reviewing the post-war problems and efforts toward world peace, he outlined the work which is yet to be done toward maintaining peace. He cited the advancement of ideals by education of the peoples of the world; the advancement and extension of conciliation and arbitration and of disarmament or limitation of armament.

Recalling the steps which culminated in the signature of the general pact for renunciation of war, in which he himself had collaborated with Foreign Minister Briand, of France, Mr. Kellogg asserted there was an increasing world demand that the principal military and naval powers take further action toward accomplishment of disarmament as an effort to maintain peace.

"Therefore, I am hopeful that progress is going to be made in reduction of naval armaments and that it will be followed by reductions in land armaments and that the world will be satisfied that the great powers demand and intend to maintain peace."

He stressed his belief that war between the United States and Great Britain was impossible and referred at length to the value of the recent visit by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to the United States. "Mr. MacDonald's reception, beside being a personal tribute to him, was a tribute to the government and people of the British Empire. It is my considered opinion that there are no serious unsettled problems between the two countries which can possibly be the basis of armed conflict."

BAPTISTS TO ELECT

Dr. Newton Will Address Sunday School Group.

Dr. L. D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Baptist Sunday School Association which will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the West End Baptist church.

Officers for the coming year will be elected by the association and special recognition will be given at the meeting to those receiving awards from the recent city-wide training school. Attendance banners will be awarded to the schools having the largest attendance.

C. B. TAINTER LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON TODAY

Consolidation Causes Change in Royal Baking Powder Organization.

C. B. Tainter, who has been district sales manager here for the Royal Baking Powder Company the past two years, will leave today for Washington to assume direction of sales of the company's products in twelve states, reaching from Maryland to Florida.

The change comes through the consolidation of Royal Baking Powder Company, Chase & Sanborn Coffee, and Fleischmann Yeast into Standard Brands, Inc., which will have its district sales office in Washington. Mr. Tainter will be in charge of the Royal Baking Powder Company sales division.

Offices for Standard Brands, Inc., in Atlanta will be maintained at 540 South Pryor street, formerly occupied by the Fleischmann agency.

Mr. Tainter has been with the Royal Baking Powder Company for twenty-six years, and has worked the greater part of the United States. He has been in Atlanta for only two years, but has made a wide circle of friends here and expresses regret at leaving, although the change means a distinct promotion for him.

While a salesman for the company Mr. Tainter covered the Atlanta territory fifteen years ago. He is optimistic over the future development of sales of the Royal Baking Powder Company products, which include in addition to baking powder, Royal fruit flavored gelatin and Chase & Sanborn coffee.

Under the new arrangement retail grocers will be afforded a big advantage in merchandising Standard Brand products, it is pointed out by Mr. Tainter. Store-door delivery will make it possible for the retailer to renew his stock of Standard Brand products twice a week, affording an opportunity of quick turnovers, with fresh and small stocks at all times.

STERILIZED CITRUS FRUITS ARE BOUND FOR GEORGIA POINTS

Five cars of sterilized Florida citrus fruits are now en route to Georgia, it was announced Friday by Manning S. Young, state entomologist. The shipments are made under the recent amendment to the citrus fruit quarantine.

Two of the cars are consigned to Atlanta, two to Waycross and one to Savannah.

MARCUS LOEW'S ESTATE REDUCED BY MANY DEBTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Debts and other deductions reduced the estate of Marcus Loew, theater magnate, who died in 1927, from a gross of $1,673,293 to a net of $826,647, it was shown in a transfer tax appraisal filed today.

Sinclair Prepares For Race Season In New Orleans

JOBSTOWN, N. J., Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Harry F. Sinclair's first official act upon his return to his estate here today was to appoint John Lowe chief trainer of his great Rancocas racing stable. Lowe succeeds the late Samuel C. Hildreth, who died while Sinclair was at the District of Columbia jail serving a term for contempt of court.

Sinclair and his wife motored to Lakewood this afternoon to bring home their young son, who is attending a private school there. He will spend Thanksgiving at home.

Since his release Wednesday midnight, Sinclair has refused to add to the printed statement he made, in which he reasserted his innocence of any offense and pointed out that the charge upon which he was sent to jail was specified by the courts as involving no moral turpitude.

But late today Mrs. Sinclair went out to the crowd of reporters and photographers who had been keeping vigil at the entrance of the estate since yesterday afternoon.

"Mr. Sinclair doesn't know I've come to see you boys," she said. "He has nothing to add to his statement. The newspapers have hounded us for seven years, and we think we are entitled to a little rest. We will remain here a short time and then go to New Orleans with our horses for the winter racing season."

Council will select a successor to the late William B. Cody, veteran chief of Atlanta's fire department, at a meeting December 2, it was announced Friday following a conference between Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and members of the Atlanta board of firemasters.

Three candidates for the post were reported in city hall circles Friday—Assistant Chief John Terrell, Assistant Chief William Butler and G. B. Carlton, veteran secretary of the board of firemasters.

In the interim Assistant Chief Butler will remain in charge of the department under an order issued by Councilman William E. Saunders, chairman of the board of firemasters.

TRINITY CHURCH SERVICE UNDER PROF. B. J. POTTER

Professor Ben J. Potter, associate of the Royal College of Organists of London, will direct the service of the Trinity church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening when a program entirely of festival music devoted to praise and thanksgiving, will be presented.

The service is to be known as a Harvest Home Festival Service and the church has been fittingly decorated with flowers, fruits, vegetables and other products of the soil. Professor Potter will direct the choir in a number of festival songs, in addition to presenting a number of selections upon the organ, himself. Soloists for the occasion will be Mrs. Arthur C. Akin, Mrs. Josephine Burns Bridwell, Mrs. Nellie Nix Edwards, Robert Bradford and Robert Mell.

ATTEMPT TO KILL CHARGED TO COSBY BY GRAND JURORS

Indictments charging Howard Cosby with burglary and assault with intent to murder were returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury. Cosby is charged with entering the home of R. H. Zachery, at 760 Virginia circle, and assaulting Zachery and F. W. Williams, of the same address. Cosby is alleged to have cut Zachery with a knife and to have struck Williams with a flashlight. The defendant stole two savings banks, a watch and $7 in cash, it is charged.

SAVANNAH C. OF C. GAINS FORWARD MOVEMENT FUND

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 22.—The Savannah Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a dinner tonight to celebrate the raising of $100,000 per year for a period of three years to maintain the chamber and its kindred organizations. The money-raising campaign was under direction of A. R. Lawton and was completed in two days.

OFFICIALS DEPORT CHINESE CONVICT AS PEN TERM ENDS

After serving a sentence in the federal prison for violation of the anti-narcotic law, Lung Kum Friday was ordered deported to China and was sent to New Orleans by district officials of the United States department of labor. Conviction, in the case of aliens, automatically requires deportation.

John Burke, Italian, also was sent to New Orleans but was given the privilege of shipping from that port on a foreign vessel. He was listed as a deserting seaman and had served two and one-half years for violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

BUTTON SLIPS INTO STOMACH AFTER LODGING IN LUNG

A button, first lodged in her right lung and now in her stomach, was the cause of little Jerry Hughes, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hughes, of 6 Gertrude place, Grove Park, being held under observation of physicians at Grady hospital all of Friday.

The child swallowed the button Thursday afternoon and X-ray pictures located the article in her right lung. In drawing it out it fell from the grasp of a delicate instrument just when the throat had been reached. However, the button fell into the child's stomach and no further trouble is anticipated. Nevertheless physicians kept little Jerry under observation on Friday.

Indicted for Murder.

BAINBRIDGE MAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22.—T. James Gray, 38, Bainbridge grocer, was seriously injured today when his automobile and a truck collided, turning the automobile over. The identity of the truck driver was not known here.

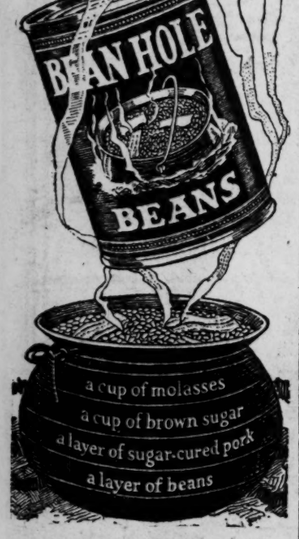
Annual Inspection Of Postoffice Here Completed Today

Although official comment has been withheld pending return to his office today of Charles E. Caine, chief postal inspector in the southeast, the annual examination and inspection of the Atlanta postoffice was completed Friday. The inspection had been in progress since Tuesday and ended with a conference with Postmaster Edward K. Large.

BEAN HOLE BEANS

With that wonderful outdoors flavor

Buried all night in the fragrant embers of the earthen "bean hole"—layers of flavor-rich beans and pork and molasses and sugar. That's the famous old Maine logging camp recipe for the best beans to be found the world over.



● Such a flavor—blending the wood smoke of the forests and the fresh, sweet earthen oven. Never was such a flavor known outside the North Woods until now. Van Camp's experts have brought you at your grocers the best beans for your table. Prove them tonight. Empty the can in a buttered baking dish. In a moderate oven 20 minutes. No need to search the far forests for the finest beans. They are here—easy to serve—easy to buy. Two sizes—medium, 15c; large, 25c.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Adds Bulk to a Diet Without Adding Weight to the Body

Many of these new diets are serious in their consequences. Because they lack roughage, constipation occurs. The first symptoms are dizziness, weakness and sallow complexion. Unless corrected, the whole system suffers. Health and beauty are stolen.

By including Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet, you keep fit as you take off weight because you prevent constipation.

ALL-BRAN does not add fat to the body. It just sweeps your intestines clean of poisonous wastes. No pills nor drugs can play the part of ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet.

You will like the appetizing, nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. Eat it in clear soups. On salads. Soaked in orange, prune or fruit juice. As a cereal with milk or cream. Delicious with honey added. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases of constipation with every meal.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants, dining-cars. Sold by all grocers.

THERE IS SUCH A DIFFERENCE IN BREADS

Compare Merita for Better TOAST

Toast that's brown and crisp and crunchy—and still not brittle inside.

That's Merita toast. Merita's finer grain does it. The tiny air cells, so close together, keep the heat where it belongs—on the outside.

Just toast Merita, and compare it.

No. 20—How science guards MERITA goodness

The "grain" of a loaf refers to the size of the holes or cells inside the bread.

They should be very fine and uniform. A large grain means that the loaf is porous—that the air will penetrate and it will get stale quickly.

Community Chest Directors Will Select New Officials; Purchasing Bureau Urged

Directors Will Name President, Two Vice Presidents and Executive Director Soon.

Recommendation that election of a president, two vice presidents and an executive director be "referred to the board of directors with power to act" and adoption of the same course on a recommendation for a central purchasing bureau for all institutions and organizations functioning through the Chest, featured Friday's annual meeting of the membership of the Atlanta Community Chest.

The proposal to create a central purchasing bureau, which would receive bids and make contracts for commodities used by the 39 institutions and organizations embraced in the Chest, stirred considerable debate.

A resolution also was adopted recommending appointment of a committee to consider and report on consolidation of case work management among agencies serving families and individuals, such as the Family Welfare society, Red Cross and Salvation Army. To this committee was referred another recommendation that a transient service bureau be established.

List of Directors.

Nominations reported by the committee appointed to select directors, proposed the following list, which was adopted:

Miss Lucy Marvin Adams, H. M. Atkinson, Milton Bell, Rev. L. R. Christie, R. W. Courts, Jr., Jackson P. Dick, W. Bayne Gibson, Arthur I. Harris, Dr. T. P. Hinman, Clark Howell, Jr., R. T. Jones, Jr., Roy LeCraw, R. F. Maddox, Armand May, Wiley Moore, Leon O'Neal, J. Carroll Payne, Miss Rebecca Shuman, Walter B. Stewart, Judge Garland M. Watkins, David Woodward, W. D. Hoffman, Raymond A. Kline, Howard See, J. C. Malone, J. P. Allen, Miss Mary C. Barker, Eugene R. Black, Ryburn Clay, Thomas H. Daniel, Samuel C. Dobbs, Sr., T. K. Glenn, Frank Hawkins, Harold Hirsch, Mrs. Sam M. Inman, W. D. Langley, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, R. A. Magill, W. E. Mitchell, James Morton, A. J. Orme, R. B. Pegram, John F. Thigpen, E. A. Thornwell, Kendall Weisiger, Cator Woolford, H. G. Voorhis, Frank Neely, Fred Jordan, Harrison Jones.

The committee presented the following to represent the societies on the board of directors:

Robert G. Stephens, Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross; (no nomination yet made), Legal Aid Society; Robert H. Vogel, Community Employment Service; (no nomination yet made), Family Welfare Society; (no nomination yet made), Salvation Army; R. K. Rambo, Tuberculosis Association; Sam E. Finley, Atlanta Child's Home.

Mrs. Stacy E. Hill, Atlanta Humane Society; (no nomination yet made), Atlanta Safety Council; John Wesley Weekes, DeKalb County chapter, American Red Cross; L. H. Moss, Federation of Jewish Charities; Mrs. W. E. Mansfield, Travelers' Aid Society; Mrs. R. G. McAliley, West Point milk fund; (no nomination yet made), Carrie Steel Logan Home.

Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Florence Crittendon Home; H. G. Voorhis, Georgia Children's Home Society; Mrs. Dan B. Harris, Home for the Friendless; Mrs. Cam Dorsey, Sheltering Arms; Mrs. R. V. Haslett, Home for Old Women; Mrs. W. W. Kilpatrick, Community Home for Girls; (no nomination yet made), Atlanta Urban League; Dr. Harvey M. Cox, Camp Fire Girls; John W. Crenshaw, Y. M. C. A., state and national; (no nomination yet made), Butler Street Y. M. C. A.; J. P. Faulkner, Georgia Conference on Social Work.

G. A. Towns, Gate City Free Kindergarten; Joseph Loewus, Hebrew Orphans' Home; Dr. John Hope, Leonard Street Orphans' Home; Mrs. R. M. Walker, Home for Incurables; Colonel E. R. Craighead, Churches' Homes for Girls; Edward H. Johnson, Atlanta School of Social Work; Ernest Ramspeck, Boy Scouts; Mrs. Samuel Inman, Girl Scouts; (no nomination yet made), Y. W. C. A.; E. Marvin Underwood, Georgia commission on inter-racial co-operation; Paul Donehoo, Community Shop.

Report of Executive Director Frank Miller showed that 32 of 39 societies embraced in the Chest have cared for a total of 16,268 families and individuals per month.

"The family and relief group," the report added, "ten societies, cared for a total of 6,317; child care group, 11 societies, 1,151; individual group, 5 societies, 312; character-forming group, 6 societies, 8,488; the Humane society, 269; the Social Service Exchange, 595, a grand total for 34 societies of 17,132 per month."

Resolutions Adopted.

Other resolutions adopted were:

We recommend that a committee be appointed to consider consolidation of case work for child care under one management. We would suggest that, since this subject is closely related to the juvenile court, Judge Watkins, of the Community Chest board, be made a member of the committee.

We recommend that a committee be appointed to consider the consolidation of agencies doing character-building work during the recreational time of young people under one management.

We recommend that a committee be appointed to wait on the boards of education, requesting that the city and county schools include in their social science course instruction on the Community Chest and its allied agencies.

We recommend that the board of the community shop for the handicapped be authorized during the year, 1930, to raise a capital fund of $10,000 to build and equip a shop for the blind and other handicapped in broom and mop making and other similar occupations by which they may support themselves.

We recommend that a committee be appointed to cultivate closer relationship between the volunteer and paid workers of the churches in the city doing charitable work and the societies in the chest.

We recommend that the Chamber of Commerce be requested to appoint a committee to make a study of employment conditions in Atlanta with a view to stabilizing social and economic conditions. We would suggest that this committee include representation from the boards of the community employment service (white and colored), Federation of Jewish Charities, Salvation Army, Family Welfare Society, Atlanta Urban League, Federation of Labor, and any civic organizations interested in this particular subject.

We recommend the publication of a blue book, containing the names of all individuals and honor firms contributing to the chest.

EXECUTION OF SNOOK INDEFINITELY DELAYED

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 22.—(AP) Dr. James H. Snook, under sentence of death for the murder of Theora K. Hix, will be given an indefinite stay of execution pending a review of his case before the state supreme court, Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall, of the state's highest tribunal, told attorneys for the condemned man late today.

The chief justice declared he would refuse the stay in the event that all petitions are not filed Monday and all questions laid before the court simultaneously.

Prosecutor Chester said he would waive all procedure to prevent the stay, since the scheduled date of execution is only a week away.

Judge Marshall made this statement at a conference with Snook's counsel and Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr., today after the second district court of appeals had refused the former Ohio State University professor's plea for a new trial. The justice instructed E. O. Ricketts, of Snook counsel, to file both a motion for leave to file a petition in error, alleging mistrial, and a petition of right, in which it is expected that attorneys for Snook will set forth federal grounds for a later appeal to the United States supreme court.

While the appeals court found that Dr. Snook had been mistreated by the prosecutor before he confessed and that the prosecutor had used improper language in summing up, it was held that the manner in which he cut the girl's throat after slugging her with a hammer indicated deliberation and premeditation. The court labeled the killing as "a most vicious and brutal murder, designed and executed by a cool, calculative individual and no excuse for justification thereof to be found in the record."

The defense had claimed that Dr Snook was not given a fair trial; that his first confession was forced by violence; that the lower court erred in certain instances; that the conduct of the prosecutor, before and during the trial, was improper; and that Dr. Snook was rushed into trial without sufficient time in which to prepare a defense.

In affirming the conviction, the court said that all three judges had given consideration to the whole case—3,125 pages of testimony—and are unanimously of the opinion that "no error prejudicial to the defendant has intervened in this record."

The court denied that Snook had not been given time in which to prepare a defense, citing the new criminal code of Ohio, under which a criminal case must be assigned within 30 days of arraignment. In this connection the appeals judges noted that the trial was under the old code, but that the early date of trial was within the spirit of the new law.

It was the opinion of the court that Snook's first confession was forced from him by violence, but that this was not true of the second confession, made to newspapermen. Even without the confession, the court held, the record "is sufficient to support the verdict of the jury."

The court took the occasion to condemn "third degree" methods.

SOLICITING BRIBE CHARGED BY JURY TO ALBERT THAYER

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Albert L. Thayer, prominent New Castle (Pa.) architect, designer of Stark county's new $1,000,000 tuberculosis hospital and a number of schoolhouses in Canton, was indicted today by the Stark county grand jury on a charge of soliciting a bribe.

NO CUT IN SALARY FOR STEEL WORKERS

Production Schedules Curtailed But Men Will Continue at Present Pay.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Setting at rest fears of steel workers, J. A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, announced today there will be no reduction in wages in that industry so far as can be foreseen at present.

There is a let-down, however, in operations in the industry, he said. During the summer production schedules were kept above the normal capacity of the plants, and mostly because of this fact the mills are now operating at not more than 55 per cent capacity. In the period of restricted production, Campbell said work will be divided among employes so that all may have a part of the earnings.

Mr. Campbell's announcement followed his return from a conference with business and industrial leaders in New York.

"We have found that fundamental conditions in the country are favorable for continued prosperity," he said. "It will take a little time for the country to adjust itself and during this period we can't hope for business to be as good as it was last winter, but the turn for the better is not far away."

Commenting on President Hoover's economic policies, Campbell called them "absolutely sound and constructive and for the best interests of the nation and should not be hampered by politicians."

The steel magnate said that in order to assist Youngstown banks in having funds to lend for constructive business he had increased his company's deposits in them.

HOUSTON COUNTY WINS SUIT AGAINST SURETY COMPANY

MACON, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Litigation brought in connection with the defalcation of S. P. Crowell, Houston county tax collector, was terminated here today when Judge Malcolm D. Jones, of the Macon circuit, signed a decree favoring Houston county for $8,300 against the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, surety for the officer.

Crowell was tax collector of Houston county during the four-year term of 1924-28, and had been re-elected for another four-year term when his accounts were discovered to be in default more than $16,000. He resigned immediately. Since the civil litigation has been pending, the former officer has entered a plea of guilty to a criminal charge of embezzlement and now is serving from two to three years in the penitentiary.

The National Surety Company, surety for Crowell during the term which began in 1929, paid $350 without litigation, it was said. The Maryland corporation, however, chose to litigate the matter. At times, it was said, the company has paid sums totaling $11,000. The decree of Judge Jones, to which all parties were said to be in agreement, was for the remaining part of the claim. The surety company had bonded Crowell for a total of $20,000. The total includes attorneys' fees, court costs, etc.

The law firm of Duncan & Nunn and C. E. Brunson, of Perry, represented the county of Houston, and the Fidelity company was represented here by former Governor John M. Slaton and Judge Arthur Powell, formerly of the Georgia court of appeals, and others of Atlanta.

GEORGIA SENATORS LEAVE CAPITAL AS SESSION ENDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Coincident with the adjournment of the special session of congress today Senator W. J. Harris departed for his home for a brief vacation.

Senator Walter F. George is planning to leave either Saturday or Sunday. Both Georgia senators will remain in the state until the regular session convenes December 2. The few members of the state delegation in the house who have been on hand are likewise planning to return. Not all of the latter group have been on hand because of the irregular meetings held by the lower chamber while waiting for the senate to dispose of the much controverted tariff bill, which was finally temporarily laid aside.

As one of his final acts before leaving Senator Harris introduced in the upper chamber today a bill requiring the postoffice department to provide substitute rural route mail carriers on legal holidays which occur on Saturdays or Mondays. The purpose of the measure, he explained, is to give residents of the rural sections of the country full delivery service regardless of these holidays.

YOUTH SLUGGED, ROBBED OF $43 ON MACON STREET

MACON, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Donald Sackmaker, 18, of Superior, Wis., slumped against the side of a downtown hotel tonight and was picked up unconscious. He revived in a hospital and said that he had been slugged and robbed by two men. He said he had saved $43 while working in Atlanta, and came here in search of more work before returning home for Christmas.

Pilot Lands Airplane Safely After Engine Is Torn From Fuselage

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Nov. 22.—(AP) Kenneth "Red" Hunter guided his airplane to a safe landing after the motor had been torn away by the slashing blade of a broken propeller today.

Hunter and three student passengers were unhurt.

The motor was ripped from its fastening when a blade of the propeller snapped and fell 1,500 feet near the airport, burying itself in the ground. Hunter called to the three students to lean forward in order that the ship would retain its balance, and he was able to bring the plane to the airport without further damage.

Hundreds Brave Downpour to Pay Honor To W. B. Cody, Veteran Chief of Fireman

Sorrowing throngs Friday paid their last respects to the late Chief William B. Cody, of the Atlanta fire department in a downpour of rain. The North Avenue Presbyterian church was crowded and scores stood outside in the rain, unable to gain admission into the building. At the top is seen a portion of the crowd just after the funeral services were concluded. The lower picture shows the flower-banked casket being borne to the hearse. Members of the honorary escort were lined on either side of the lane as the body was passed through the crowd.

While chilled winds howled and rains fell outside hundreds of Atlantans and visitors from all parts of the south Friday afternoon paid their final respects to all that was left on earth of Chief William B. Cody, veteran fire chief, who died Wednesday night at a local hospital following a stroke.

Simple but impressive services marked the closing of the last chapter in the long career of one of the most picturesque public figures ever to serve Atlanta.

The auditorium of the North Avenue Presbyterian church was taxed beyond capacity as thousands braved the winds and rain to attend the funeral.

Automobiles lined both sides of Peachtree street for two blocks and side streets were jammed with cars of mourners gathered in the church.

Chief Cody's flaming red car, draped in drab mourning, was parked directly in front of the church, but only the driver rode in it. The chief's seat was vacant for the first time.

Flags on the city hall flew at half mast and those at Five Points, the most historic point in Atlanta, were lowered. Never before in Atlanta's long history has any city official been accorded the marks of respect which were showered on Chief Cody.

Officials from every walk of life crowded the auditorium and long before the service started the building was so filled that it was impossible to gain an entrance.

Scores stood outside in the rain while the services were in progress; inside genuine sorrow pervaded the place.

Even the heavens seemed to mourn the passing from this earth of Chief Cody, affectionately known as "Bill," as rains poured virtually the entire day. Close friends wiped their eyes clear of the gathering tears as the last words of the impressive and eloquent sermon of Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor, ended.

Then was begun the trek of the procession to West View cemetery, where the interment took place.

Flowers Bank Casket.

Flowers were banked into every available spot around the altar and the casket itself was heaped high with offerings of love and esteem which admiring friends had sent as last messages of love.

Oldest residents declared that the tribute was the greatest accorded any man since the death of Alexander H. Stevens, who at the time was governor of Georgia.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the Fulton county commission, were respective leading representatives of the Atlanta city government and Fulton county.

But literally hundreds of employes jammed the building and stood on the outside while the services were in progress, and there was a feeling of genuine sincerity in the attitude.

Those present mourned "Bill" Cody's loss as that of their best friend, a man who gave his all in his 51 years in the Atlanta fire department.

Ostentation was forgotten as simple and impressive tributes were heaped on him for his conscientious service and his devotion to his calling.

The city hall and Fulton county courthouse were closed during the service in order that employees could attend.

As the procession moved out from the church a squad of motorcycle officers headed it, escorting it to the burial plot.

Visiting Chiefs Here.

Among the out-of-town fire chiefs who gathered to pay their respects to Atlanta's venerable chief were J. H. Williams, of Macon; John H. Monroe, Savannah; John Kennedy, Augusta; W. D. Bronsnan, Albany; H. A. Gilbert, Newnan, and Kimmy Cain, Gainesville.

All members of city council and Fulton county commissioners attended the service.

Members of the Atlanta board of firemasters who worked in harmony with the chief for many years paid him a special tribute attending in a body and being assigned to a special section in the auditorium.

Pallbearers were Edward H. Inman, A. J. Ryan, Charles F. Whitner, G. B. Carlton, Assistant Chief O. J. Parker, Assistant Chief William J. Butler, Barney Ehrlich and George Brown.

Included in the honorary escort were Fire Captains J. O. Hall, G. H. Dyer, J. D. Cottingham, Assistant Chief W. B. Fanning, Captains W. C. Dobbs, C. W. White, W. P. Barker, C. M. Thurman, S. G. Jordon, M. E. Benson, C. E. Pritchett, G. W. Tumlin, C. C. Styron, A. N. Dooly, L. C. Varnadoe, J. N. Largomarsino, J. N. Settles, Lieutenants J. L. Ivy, R. C. Magee, O. E. Drake, Jesse D. Lee and Fireman John S. White.

All Prosecution Witnesses In Rothstein Murder Trial Pay Tribute to McManus

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(United News.)—Alvin C. Thomas, who prefers to be known merely as "Titanic," but who recently has been dubbed "Titanic Thompson" by someone unknown to him, told his long-awaited story today in the trial of genial George McManus, accused of the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

But he may have to tell it all over again, along with the other witnesses who have testified thus far, for tonight a member of the jury was reported ill. Judge Charles Nott ordered that the juror take good care of himself over the week-end, and Monday he will be examined by physicians. On the outcome of the examination will depend whether the case goes on or whether a new juror will be selected from the special panel and the evidnce be started all over again.

More About Stud Poker.

In addition to Titanic today's witnesses were little Meyer Solomon, better known as Meyer Boston, betting commissioner, and Miss Marguerite Hubbell, a dainty, fair-skinned publicity agent from Montreal.

Boston, like Titanic, told about a card game at James Meehan's apartment a year ago last September which the state maintains was the starting point of the Rothstein murder. Miss Hubbell had occupied a room on the same floor of the Park Central hotel as the room in which the state maintains Rothstein was shot. She testified she had heard "an explosion," followed by a lot of loud talking, but she didn't know then, and still doesn't know, whether it was a gunshot or just an automobile backfiring. She had jumped when she heard it, she said, but told herself that she was silly to be frightened—so she went right on reading her newspaper and never investigated.

Is Good Golfer.

Titanic, to whom great interest has attached, proved a tall, slender fellow of the plainsman type, swarthy of skin, dark-eyed, and with a lot of black hair which needed trimming. He was dressed in brown. On the witness stand he was a dour-looking figure, his mouth drooping at the corners and his face masked with a look of exceeding sadness. He claimed Los Angeles as his home, but said of recent years he had divided his time among Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York and occasionally Milwaukee. He now runs a night club in New York, but up to six months ago had been a jewelry salesman at the race tracks, he said. Also he is a professional golfer, and he boasted that he "always was able to beat "Nigger Nate" Raymond at golf.

"You play him frequently?' an attorney asked.

"I've played him twice," said Titanic.

He told of having been at the half-million-dollar card game at Meehan's apartment.

"I won $20,000, about," he said. "Of that I got about $8,000 in cash and McManus paid me later in cash the remainder of what I won. I paid Rothstein about $10,000 that I owed him."

McManus, he said, lost about $50,000, but when pressed for more details admitted all he knew about what others won or lost was what he had read in the newspapers.

"I didn't keep track of what they all lost," he explained, and when he was shown a couple of sheets of figures, allegedly a record Rothstein had kept of the game, he said maybe Rothstein had kept an account, but he wasn't certain.

Game on Level.

"Was that game on the level"? Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora suddenly demanded to know.

Titanic became animated of a sudden.

"Yes," he exclaimed. "It certainly was. It couldn't be any other way, that betting on high cards. They just said 'I bet you he beats you,' or 'I bet you he beats that other fellow,' and then they deal the cards for stud poker and see who turns up the highest card in the hole. I don't see how that kind of a game could be crooked."

He didn't know the dealer, he said, but was sure the dealer was honest "because we had to show him how to deal the cards."

There has been some high financing in the settlement when the game broke up, Titanic revealed on cross-examination and again on re-direct. No one could make out just what had happened, not even Titanic, but it seemed that he had told George McManus to pay Rothstein for his account about $10,000 Titanic owed Rothstein and that McManus had done so.

Rothstein, Titanic revealed, always was lending people money or taking I. O. U.'s at card games. He charged a mere $100 per $1,000 for these short time loans. But Titanic hadn't much head for small figures and he couldn't remember details of his dealings in settlement of the game.

Titanic Disappoints.

"Why, people were all settling up," he said, "just like down at the race track, and I can't recall plainly all those things. I've won or lost $10,000 on a race horse lots of times and not even known what the horse's name was."

That was about all the evidence Titanic could give, and it was something of a disappointment in view of the fact that he had been heralded as a witness of an importance comparable to his name.

Chunky little Meyer Boston, however, had a better head for figures. He told how the card game had started with bridge, turned into stud poker at $5 or $10 a card; gone up to $100, $200, $500, and then $1,000 to $5,000 on a card; how that got too slow and how some of them began placing side bets of from $1,000 to $10,000 on high cards to liven things up.

The net result, aside from an entertaining picture of "big-time" gamblers busy at their work, seemed to have been a certificate of character as a blooded and honest sportsman for George McManus.

BC Relieves Sick Headaches in 3 minutes

When one of those sick, raging headaches come and you want three-minute relief, go to any drug store or soda fount and ask for a package or dose of "B-C" (10c and 25c packages) the wonderful new preparation of a North Carolina druggist that is guaranteed safe and speedy, without depression or bad after effects.

"B-C" relieves any kind of a headache, sciatic, neuralgic or female pain, because it contains five ingredients that function together for the relief of pain, regardless of its origin. The "B-C" formula is one of the most important medical discoveries of recent years, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

To avoid imitative substitutes, don't ask for a "headache powder," but specify and insist upon "B-C" and get the original and genuine that never fails to bring quick and comforting relief.

Grave in Native Iowa Soil Receives Secretary Good As Great and Humble Mourn

"Jim" Good Goes to Last Rest Beside Parents Near His Farm Birthplace.

BY THEODORE F. KOOP.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 22.—(AP)—James W. Good, late secretary of war, sleeps tonight beneath a blanket of flowers on an Iowa hillside. He was buried this noon with military honors befitting his rank.

Hundreds of sorrowing Iowans, who had known "Jim" Good while he was a Cedar Rapids attorney, united with officials of the state, the nation and the army in according him a last tribute. As taps were sounded by the 14th cavalry bugler the cabinet officer was laid to rest beside his parents only a few miles from the farm on which he was born 63 years ago.

His grave is but a few miles from the birthplace of President Hoover, West Branch, Iowa, whom Mr. Good served last year as western campaign manager before the election and afterward as a counsellor and secretary of war.

Although the ritual at the cemetery was essentially a military one, the funeral service at the First Presbyterian church this morning consisted of simple words of comfort and eulogy by Dr. Robert Little, the pastor, and Dr. Harry Morehouse Gage, president of Coe College, of which Mr. Good was a graduate and trustee.

Before a high bank of floral tributes from old friends, government dignitaries and foreign countries, they conducted the dignified service of the Presbyterian church. Two soldiers, their bayonets fixed, stood stiffly at attention before the flag-draped coffin.

Mourning in the church were Mrs. Good, her two sons, James and Robert; her father, C. J. Deacon, and a score of other relatives. They were seated in front pews beside a delegation from congress and the administration.

Crowds which could not be accommodated in the church stood in the cold along the route of the funeral cortege. The caisson on which the coffin rested was drawn by six horses and escorted by an honor guard. At the head of the coffin lay the personal wreath from President and Mrs. Hoover, a circle of palms.

As the cortege passed scenes familiar to Mr. Good's younger life flags were at half-staff, business houses were closed and the bell of the Immaculate Conception church tolled.

Decrease Shown In Marriages And Divorces

There were seven fewer marriages in Georgia during 1928 than in 1927, but there were also 56 fewer divorces. For every 15 marriages during last year there was one divorce.

Marriages in 1928 totaled 30,400, while the year previous 30,477 marched up to the altar. In 1928 only 2,174 went to the divorce courts as compared with 2,230 in 1927.

Most marriages and most divorces, figures just given out by the United States census bureau show, took place in Fulton county. There the state average for weddings and divorces was cut from 15 to 1 to 6 to 1.

Coffee county had the most marriages and the fewest divorces with a total of 295 marriages and only one divorce. Richmond county took the opposite record with a total of 235 divorces as compared with 327 marriages.

PROBE OF ALLEGED "CITY HALL GRAFT" CHARGES DELAYED

With Solicitor General John A. Boykin tied up on an important criminal case, trial of which is expected to run through Monday, no action has yet been taken toward the proposed grand jury investigation of alleged "graft charges" in connection with the electrical wiring for the new city hall.

Solicitor Boykin is expected to act early next week, following insistence upon the investigation voiced on the floor of council last Monday when Alderman Ben Huiet, of the third ward, reported that an unnamed man had told him $3,500 was to be spent in the aldermanic board to permit a change in wiring specifications.

After the storm caused by this statement had subsided, Alderman Huiet said he did not believe the charge, but had reported only that his colleagues might be defended against such a rumor.

All Ford Plants To Close For Fortnight To Rearrange Assembly Units, Officials Say

Ford, Himself, Denies Rumors of 'Seasonal' Shutdown; Will Build 12,000 Cars Daily in Short Time

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Readjustments that must be made in preparation for next year's production will bring about a shutdown of from 10 days to two weeks in each Ford assembly plant throughout the country, it was learned today at the executive offices of the Ford Motor Company.

Some of the plants already have closed and others will follow suit, as their stocks of materials are worked up, it was explained in emphasizing that the plants will not close simultaneously. All the material on hand in each assembly plant is to be worked up before that plant closes. Under this arrangement many of the assembly units with large stocks on hand may not close until after other plants have reopened.

A shutdown will not be necessary in the Detroit area, it was said, because the workers can be shifted from one line of work to another pending completion of the readjustment of plant equipment.

Not Seasonal Shutdown.

To rumors that only a skeleton organization was operating in the local area, one executive of the Ford company asserted that in the three major plants in the Detroit metropolitan district 99,169 workers were engaged yesterday.

"That doesn't sound as though we were on our 'uppers' as some people would have you believe, does it?" this official asked.

"This is not a shutdown for 'seasonal' reasons. There's nothing 'seasonal' about it. It is solely that readjustments may be made in all the plants for next year's business."

Yesterday's production in the local area was given as 4,000 units, despite the shifting of men incident to the plant readjustments. Before this reassignment of workmen began, a maximum daily output of over 7,000 units was reached.

How long it would require for all Ford assembly plants to clear their present stocks and complete the readjustments referred to in plant equipment could not be definitely stated. It was said, however, that a production schedule in excess of the maximum thus far this year will be in operation "long before the first of the year."

To Make 12,000 Daily.

From another source it was learned that a daily production schedule of 12,000 units is planned as soon as possible after all assembly plants have cleared their present stocks of materials.

Henry Ford returned from Washington today, but said there was nothing further to add at this time to the announcement he gave out at the capital regarding an increase in wages for Ford employes.

"I will go into conference with my son (Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company) as soon as he returns to Detroit within the next few days," Mr. Ford said.

"There is to be no cut in production and none is contemplated. The stock market situation has not affected our plans or policy in the least. We are going right ahead on the lines indicated in the views which I presented to the president's conference."

CHARGE OF MAILING OBSCENE MATTER QUASHED BY COURT

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP) Indictment charging L. A. Tatum and A. Pichard, Tallahassee businessmen, with using the mails to distribute obscene literature, was quashed by Judge William B. Shepherd in federal court here today. Action was taken on motion by attorneys for the two men.

The indictment was brought in connection with a campaign by Tatum and Pichard against allegedly immoral books which they said were on library shelves of the Florida State College for Women and the University of Florida. Tatum and Pichard sent through the mails a circular entitled "Psychoanalysis or Filthy Dreamers," which contained excerpts they said had been taken from books at the two colleges.

Attorneys for the two Tallahassee men sought quashing of the indictment on grounds that the matter sent out in the circular was intended as a "reformative move instead of having corruption of public morals as its aim."

The Florida legislature of 1927 called for an investigation of the libraries of state colleges and high schools as a result of the campaign conducted by Tatum and Pichard.

JURY DISAGREES ON MAN CHARGED WITH KILLING SON

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The jury deliberating the case of Frank E. Andrews, charged with first degree murder in the death of his infant son, Chester, 18 months old, was dismissed in common pleas court here late today when they had failed to reach a verdict after having the case for 30 hours.

The final ballot, the jurors indicated, was 7 for a verdict of guilty and 5 for acquittal.

Andrews was charged with first degree murder in the death of his child who was killed when the car in which Andrews, the infant and the wife were riding, plunged over a 50-foot embankment into Lake Erie last August. The state charged, on allegations of the wife, that Andrews deliberately sent the car over the cliff in an attempt to wipe out the family.

The wife, who has been granted a divorce since the tragedy, testified that Andrews directed the car toward the cliff at full speed and shouted "Here's where we three meet in eternity."

OFFICIAL URGES BUSINESS CENSUS FOR "SOBER FACTS"

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, told the national advisory committee on the census of manufacturers today that business executives "must be informed what is going on everywhere."

Nearly every business community within a radius of 100 miles of New York was represented among the 200 persons who attended the meeting. It was the first of a series of business conferences in which more than 15,000 industrial leaders throughout the nation will participate.

"It is time for us to get away from hunches and tips and get back to cold, sober facts," Dr. Klein said in discussing the recent slump in the stock market.

The census will start the first of next year and is scheduled to be completed in April.

AMELIA EARHART SETS SPEED MARK FOR AVIATRICES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Miss Amelia Earheart established a new women's aviation speed record record today, making an average of 184.17 miles an hour over a mile course in four laps. The fastest lap, clocked by Joe Nikrent for the American Aeronautical Association, was 197 miles an hour. The previous record, Nikrent said, was 156 miles an hour by Mrs. Louise Thaden, of Pittsburgh.

KENT STICKS TO GUNS ON STOCK DROP BLAME

Grilling Fails To Shake Banker Who Blamed Senate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Senators from the coalition tariff majority partially blamed for the stock market plunge by Fred I. Kent, New York banker, challenged his declaration through three hours' questioning today, but he stuck to his opinion.

Called by the lobby committee because of the attack on the democratic-republican independent group's actions, the banker maintained it had caused the senate "to cease to function." The tariff debaters demanded how he would write the contested bill, and he advised that all republicans should stay together and put through a bill supported by a majority of that party—regardless of individual or group opinions.

The independent-minded committee members were obviously astounded by this reasoning and two or three occasionally hurled questions at Kent simultaneously.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a leader of the republican independents, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, acting democratic leader, participated with Chairman Caraway in the severe examination.

Glass Inquires.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, a former democratic secretary of the treasury, joined the committee—although not as a member—to inquire into the banker's ideas on the stock market situation.

Standing and leaning over the committee table, Borah informed Kent the coalition had announced no program for downward revision of the industrial tariff rates.

"It was not announced," Kent insisted, "in a way that impressed people that way. I know that there was fear among industrialists as to how the tariff was going to develop."

Kent persisted that the public mind was "uncertain" because of the failure of the senate to pass the tariff bill and, asked whom he blamed for that, he named the republican independents. Asked how he would remedy the situation, he insisted that the independents should work with the republican majority and seek to convince its own party of its views and abide by the decision of the majority of the party.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, asked Kent if he thought the republican independents should have supported the tariff bill "regardless of their own views."

"They should have convinced a majority of their party that they were right," Kent replied.

"But they couldn't do that," Walsh reminded.

"Weren't Right."

"Then maybe they weren't right," Kent suggested.

Pressed to tell what he would have done if he had been a member of the senate opposed to the rates in the tariff bill, Kent said he would have tried to convince the other members of his party that he was right.

"If I were correct, I think I could convince the others," he observed.

"If you couldn't do that, then what would you do?" Walsh demanded.

"That would depend on what was said," Kent returned, adding that he would vote for what he believed to be for the "best interests of the United States."

After examination of Kent was completed, Chairman Caraway announced no hearings would be held next week while the senate was in recess.

The only other witness today was J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association, who told of attempts to organize the Western Tariff Association and the National Tariff Council in the west. The purpose of both associations, he explained, was to promote protective tariff sentiment.

Could Have Passed Bill.

At the outset of Kent's examination he explained that the action of the senate coalition was only one of the reasons he had given for the stock market disturbance. He said other reasons were that the capital gain tax had "resulted in an increase in the price of securities that was unnatural," the increase in the issuance of new securities and the gain in brokers' loans.

"Did you omit that 90 per cent of the transactions on the stock exchange were as much gambling as if one were to bet on the point of the arrow at the roulette table?" Senator Glass inquired.

"I didn't mention that," Kent said, "because that is only a matter of opinion that is very difficult to see through."

When Kent drew a distinction between gambling and stock speculation, remarking that gambling consisted of throwing the dice and other games of chance, Senator Glass observed that he had heard such a distinction drawn by the bishop of "my church."

"Do you think," asked Senator Borah, "that as a banker, a man who is supposed to deal in accuracies and with accurate figures, and conveying to the public accurate facts—do you think it is fair to say that a public institution is not functioning when you have not undertaken at all to advise yourself as to what it has done?"

"The detail of a matter of that sort might not necessarily have any influence on the situation as a whole," replied Kent.

"But, Mr. Kent, here were 21,000 items. If you suppose that there is any conscience behind the men who are dealing with that at all, and want to know anything about the facts and circumstances of each particular item, how are you going to determine what you should do as a senator until you familiarize yourself with the facts and pass upon it? How are you going to pass on 21,000 items in a week?"

"I would recognize that that would be quite impossible," said Kent.

"Yes," put in Borah.

"But unless I am mistaken," the witness continued, "there was a time when the majority senate committee had a bill ready to put in that could have been passed if the majority had all stood for the bill."

"That is your idea of legislation?" asked Senator Caraway.

"Exactly," continued Borah. "Now we understand you perfectly. Your idea was that when the finance committee had reported it out, although it was reported out by a bare majority of the committee, that what he senate should have done was to have moved to make it unanimous and pass it without consideration?"

Hits at Coalition.

"No, I would not say so," explained Kent. "I should say that those people who are in one party, if they were the minority in that party and could not convince the majority that they were right might have stopped to think that possibly they might have been wrong. It seems to me that the only way you can function in this country is to have men stand by their party in things that have to do with a number of principles."

"You are not related to Grundy, are you?" asked Borah.

"I never have met Mr. Grundy."

"You ought to do it," said Caraway, "because you are kindred spirits. Arnold would be a fine third party for you to take in."

Senator Borah continued: "Let us suppose you were a member of the senate and the tariff bill was before the senate; it does not make any difference which party you belong to. Would you not feel it your duty to advise yourself as to the wisdom or unwisdom of the different votes which you were to cast?"

"Yes, sir, but I am not sure that I would feel justified in trying to form a coalition that would try to force the majority to agree to something that they did not believe."

"But mind you," said Borah, "there has not been a single rate passed in the senate that did not pass by a majority. It is the majority doing business all the time. What you are trying to do is to make it appear that the tariff bill ought to be passed, regardless of its merits or demerits, if it has the approval of a majority of a certain party."

Groom's License Issued for Dog, Irate Bride Sues

PRESTONBURG, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A jury in Floyd circuit court today was unable to decide whether a would-be bridegroom would have to pay his intended bride $25,000 because their romance was wrecked after a practical joker bought the groom a dog's license instead of a marriage license.

A joker, Reed Frazure, started the controversy which now has raged in court twice and promises to rage again. Miss Kenova Damron, of Flemingsburg, Ky., and Wayne Hall, McDowell (Ky.) merchant, were to be married. The nuptial date was set for February 17, this year.

Mr. Frazure, entrusted with the duty of procuring the marriage license, returned with a dog license, which he presented to the prospective groom with due ceremony. Mr. Hall, however, could not see the joke, if any. He packed his grip and departed in high dudgeon, neglecting even to say good-by to his fiancee. Miss Damron retaliated by filing suit for damages against Hall, alleging that she had suffered a nervous breakdown following the estrangement and charging breach of marriage contract. She asks $25,000.

The first trial of the case was held in September. The jury could not agree. Today's trial again resulted in a hung jury. Attorneys for Miss Damron announced they will file suit once more.

CHARGE OF MURDER AFTERMATH OF PARTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(AP) Lawrence P. Tulloch, 38, program director for a local broadcasting station, who came here three weeks ago from New York, today faced a charge of murder as the result of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Gertrude Hawkins Lavine, 28, a divorcee, as the aftermath of a party in his apartment in the Latin quarter of San Francisco.

The murder charge was filed late last night after Tulloch, having been questioned for several hours, admitted firing the shot, although insisting it was accidental.

When Mrs. Lavine was found dying in the apartment yesterday Tulloch and William Whittle, who shared the apartment, told police she shot herself. Discrepancies in their story caused them to be held. Whittle was released when Tulloch admitted he had held the gun.

"I shot her," Tulloch admitted, "but it was an accident. We were talking about pistols and I went to the bureau and got one I had seen there. She reached to take it and somehow I pressed the trigger and she fell."

Mrs. Lavine, secretary for an automobile firm, died without regaining consciousness.

Following Tulloch's recital of the shooting, Coroner T. B. W. Leland and detectives said their examination of the wound indicated the pistol had been held less than an inch from Mrs. Lavine's head. This belief, they said, did not coincide with Tulloch's version of the shooting.

MUSCLE SHOALS OPERATION URGED BY U.S. LEAGUE

TUSCUMBIA, Ala., Nov. 22.—(AP) The Public Ownership League of America, sponsors in the United States and Canada of public ownership and operation of natural resources, today pledged its active support to the movement to bring about government operation of the power and nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals here.

The delegation pledged themselves to communicate with their congressmen by letter and resolutions urging support of enactment of legislation which will enable the supply to the southern states of "cheap power and nitrates to the nation's farmers at approximately half its present cost."

Adoption of a motion outlining the league's future policy in behalf of Muscle Shoals followed an address by Carl D. Thompson, of Chicago, secretary of the league, in which he assailed the idleness of the Muscle Shoals properties as a "crime against the government of the United States."

HOOVER TO NAME WAR SECRETARY AFTER 30 DAYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Hoover does not expect to name a secretary of war to succeed the late James W. Good until the 30-day period of mourning is over, and it may be a considerable time after that before the position is filled.

It was said at the White House today the war department was in good hands under the direction of Acting Secretary Hurley. It was emphasized that no appointment would be made until after the official period of mourning.

Acting Secretary Hurley has been mentioned as a possible successor to Good. Numerous other names have also been suggeseted.

ALCOHOL BREATH FROM MINCE PIE, JUDGE IS TOLD

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 22.—(AP)—There is no law against it, but Harry R. Grunke was arrested for eating mince pie.

Really, the charge was drunkenness and reckless driving; but the court decided it was mince pie.

"I had eaten two fine, big slabs of mince pie, your honor," explained Grunke. "The pie was highly flavored with wine. I like it that way. I never drink."

The arresting officer said that although Grunke's breath bespoke alcohol, Grunke appeared perfectly sober. The court held in favor of the pie.

ARKANSAS JUDGE BANS USE OF 'TORTURE CHAIR'

Barbaric Instrument Destroyed After Its Alleged Use on Prisoners.

HELENA, Ark., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Sheriff J. C. Barlow tonight had destroyed a makeshift "electric chair" he inherited from a long line of county sheriffs, carrying out an order of Circuit Judge W. D. Davenport, which resulted from disclosures at the trial today of a negro who allegedly had been several times an occupant of the chair for purposes of extorting a confession that he murdered his stepson.

The negro, James McCallister, 21, was convicted of the murder charge and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Judge Davenport ordered the chair brought into court and after it had been examined, declared its use was an "uncivilized" one and added: "If these people are going to be mobbed before coming up here, there is no use of having a court."

While testifying, the young negro squirmed in his chair in describing his experiences in the "electric chair." He said the chair was wired and that at intervals the current was turned on until he confessed to strangling his 6-year-old stepson, Joe Willie Hopkins. He said he confessed because the pain became so unbearable he could hold out no longer.

Sheriff Barlow admitted the chair had been used "several times," but denied McCallister was given the third degree.

McCallister's attorneys announced the alleged torture of their client would be the basis of an appeal to the supreme court.

DRY HEADS REJECT 'INFORMER' RULING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—James J. Britt, chief counsel for the prohibition bureau, expressed the opinion today that the government would not take advantage of a decision of Federal Judge Fitzhenry in Peoria, Ill., that any person who buys liquor and does not report it commits a felony.

During the early days of the nation, Britt said, laws that are still on the statute books were passed providing for punishment of persons who knew of commission of felonies and did not report them, but most of these laws had fallen into disuse.

The prohibition counsel said that while he felt there was an obligation resting upon a citizen to report commission of felonies, he did not believe the prohibition bureau would use the decision of Judge Fitzhenry against purchasers. He added, however, that was only his personal view.

Other officials of the prohibition unit would not discuss the case.

VOLSTEAD DENIES WORTH OF OPINION.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 22.—(United News.)—The law passed in 1790 making it a felony to fail to report a case of felony to proper authorities is "inapplicable" to prohibition law violations, Andrew J. Volstead, author of the national enforcement act, declared here today.

"The Jones law lists manufacture, exportation and conspiracy in liquor law violations as felonies," Volstead said. "It does not include possession or maintenance of a nuisance as such.

"Therefore, a man commits no felony in failing to report his neighbor for possessing liquor. It is unlikely the law will ever be used in this connection."

Volstead is legal adviser to the northwest federal prohibition enforcement department here.

FIRST GOBBLER FOR WHITE HOUSE WEIGHS 35 POUNDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A 35-pound turkey is waiting at the White House to grace the Thanksgiving Day dinner table of President Hoover.

The sturdy bird, first to arrive of the gobblers that annually are sent to the chief executive, was the gift of P. A. Bryant, of Stockton, Cal., and White House attaches immediately pronounced it fit to tempt the presidential palate.

In the same express wagon which delivered the turkey came two hunting dogs. They were sent to George Akerson, secretary to the president, by Harvey Couch, of Pine Bluff, Ark., and were turned over to Lawrence Richey, another of the president's secretaries, for use in coon hunting in the regions around the Rapidan river camp of Mr. Hoover.

WOMAN, LOVER HELD FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict holding Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien and Samuel Dorr, her paramour, responsible for the killing of Mrs. O'Brien's husband, William S. O'Brien.

O'Brien was shot Wednesday. He died last night. Dorr confessed firing the shots in the O'Brien home and Mrs. O'Brien confessed that she and Dorr plotted to kill their respective mates and flee with $5,000 insurance, which had been sold to O'Brien by Dorr.

MINNESOTA STEEL HEAD IS VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Samuel B. Sheldon, president of the Minnesota Steel Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, died unexpectedly at his home early today. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Sheldon succeeded the late E. H. Gary as president of the Minnesota Steel Company. Previously he had been vice president and general manager for ten years.

EX-SLAVES' GROUP WILL HOLD ANNUAL GATHERING DEC. 4

The Ex-Slave Association, sponsored by the colored citizens of Atlanta, will celebrate its twentieth anniversary December 24 with exercises featured by an annual sermon and addresses by noted colored speakers from all sections of the south.

The association will carry out its annual custom of giving Christmas presents to the ex-slaves and aged people of Fulton county who are unable to work and have no relatives to care for them.

Many of these old people will tell their experience of ante-bellum days. Negro spirituals and melodies will be rendered by a chorus of 50 voices.

Georgia Realtors To Meet At Columbus Next Year; New Officers Elected

MACON, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Following the second day session of the Georgia Real Estate Association at the Hotel Dempsey here today at which C. P. Rowland, Savannah, was elected president, members of the organization gathered in an annual banquet tonight at which they welcomed their newly elected officers and directors.

Columbus was selected as the place for holding the 1930 convention and the following officers will be at the head of the affairs of the organization: C. P. Rowland, Savannah, president; W. G. Morton, Columbus, vice president; I. L. Domingos, Macon, secretary; Washington Dessau, Macon, treasurer; Arthur Harris, Savannah, executive secretary. Ward Wight, Atlanta, is the retiring president.

Two new directors were elected, Hal Powell, Augusta, and John J. Thompson, Atlanta, who will serve with the directors who carried over: C. J. Hunter, Savannah; L. D. Hill, Columbus; Robert Tharpe, Macon; D. C. Huggins, Columbus.

The announcement of the formation of a real estate board at Brunswick was made during the closing session. The invitation of Savannah to meet there in 1930 was withdrawn in behalf of Columbus.

Dance Is Held.

Besides the entertainment program given at the banquet, a dance and bazar were held at the Idle Hour Club as concluding entertainment features of the convention. At the banquet announcement was made of Paul C. Maddox, Atlanta, as winner of the home town speaking contest and Osgood Clark, Macon, winner of the second place.

The winner of the Otis trophy, given to that board which made the greatest contribution to the state, its county and its city during the year, was announced as Savannah.

Ward Wight, Atlanta, was suggested as the member to succeed George A. Mercer, Savannah, on the real estate commission of the state in one resolution adopted.

The resolutions also asked that the census of the United States include data on home ownership and unemployment; that property owners in Georgia be requested to set aside from 80 to 100 feet adjacent to principal highways for the future development of highway boulevards.

Tax Position Reaffirmed.

With regard to taxation the board reaffirmed its position on tax problems which involves the following points: Every form of property should bear its just part of the tax burden; property should be classed and taxed at varying rates; the state should retire from the taxation of real estate and should receive its revenue from such taxes as income, sales, gasoline and tobacco; a credit or reduction from income should be given for all taxes paid on real estate; real estate should be taxed by local authorities only; city and county tax assessors should be combined in all leading counties; the principle of merging the city and county governments is sound; Georgia has too many counties and a great saving in taxes could be made by reduction of this number with the result that there would be more public improvements and less office holders; lost motion and waste "so prevalent in our local government" should be removed.

Orville A. Park Speaks.

Taxation occupied a prominent place on the program, not only in discussion from the floor but in one of the main speeches of the day. Orville A. Park, general counsel of the Georgia Bankers' Association, presented the results of his study of the situation.

"Georgia is cursed with the worst tax system in the world," said the attorney, "but the most hopeful sign is that study is being made of the situation and people are coming to see how inadequately it operates.

"The truth of the matter is that times have changed so much since the system was set up that it has been outgrown. There has been a tremendous growth in wealth yet the wealth of the state is in no way represented in taxation. I suspect that instead of one and a quarter billions in wealth we have two or three times that amount. The change in the character of this wealth is another feature of the injustice of the ad valorem tax.

"It is the most inadequate, most extravagant and most out of date system in the world. Georgia ought to reduce her counties at least one-half. Georgia has more counties than any other state in the union except Texas and it costs $22,000,000 a year to operate these 161 separate governments. It takes less than half that amount to operate the entire public school system.

"Georgia used to be called the Empire State but now she is at the bottom of the list, she was bankrupt at the last session of the legislature. When we get these questions before us and talk about them, there is hope for the future."

The day's program opened with breakfast conferences. These were held by C. P. Rowland, Savannah, on home builders and subdividers and by W. J. Hogan, Atlanta, on general renting problems.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Less than half way through its stupendous task of rewriting the house tariff bill, the senate today found itself unable to make any more headway with the troublesome issue and laid it away for settlement in the next session.

Hence, three sessions of congress will be required to dispose of a bill which some house leaders had predicted would be on the way to the White House within three months after its introduction in the special session.

Framed in the last session of the seventieth congress, the bill was passed by the house May 28. Through a hot summer the senate finance committee held hearings and the republicans on that committee rewrote the measure and reported it September 4. Five days later consideration began in the senate. When debate ended today without action on any rates during the two and a half hour session, committee amendments to nine of the fifteen rate sections of the bill had been acted upon since the bill reached the senate floor.

A start had been made on the wool schedule with adoption of the house increase from 31 to 34 cents a pound in the basic raw wool levy, but when a long discussion was in sight on the compensatory rates to be applied to woolen manufactures, the remainder of this schedule was put over. So was silk, for the same reason, although only two rate amendments to this section had been reported by the committee.

Many Lists Remain.

Besides the majority of the wool rates, the entire schedules relating to sugar, silk, rayon, papers and books, sundries, and the free list remain for action at the winter term beginning December 2. Individual amendments to all of the schedules also must be disposed of before the measure can be put to a final vote and sent to the house for adjustment of differences.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee announced he would bring the bill up again as soon as the Vare case is disposed of next month. Passage by Christmas is forecast by democratic leaders, though others feel it will be well into 1930 before the house will get another glimpse of its offspring.

When it does go back, it is certain the house will not recognize the tariff child it reared to the age of nearly five months. It has not only aged half a year, but its features have been so changed that some republican leaders feel the house should close the door in its face.

The coalition of democrats and western republican independents was responsible for most of the important changes made in the bill by the senate, although the finance committee republicans themselves reduced scores of house rates.

Higher Farm Schedule.

In addition to cutting down many of the house industrial rate increases and, with the assistance of administration leaders, raising the agricultural schedule to a level higher than that approved by the house, the coalition tacked on the debenture plan opposed by President Hoover and a big majority of the house, and restored to congress the power over rates now exercised by the executive in emergencies under the seven-year-old flexible clause.

President Hoover is vigorously opposed to both of these actions, but unless the house accepts both, senate coalition leaders assert, there will be no bill.

House democratic chieftains are not as insistent on retention of the debenture as they are for final enactment of the Simmons-Norris substitute for the flexible provisions. They see a way out of a possible deadlock if the house recedes in its opposition to the coalition flexible plan.

Under the substitute the tariff commission would report to congress instead of the president on petitions for changes in customs duties and, as a safeguard against frequent general revisions, congress would be limited in its action to approval or disapproval of duties recommended by the commission.

The fact-finding agency also would be empowered to propose transfer of articles to or from the free list, whereas under the existing flexible provision the president is restricted to changing rates to the extent of the 50 per cent up or down.

Important Changes.

Compared with rates in the house bill and those now in effect, the following are some of the important tariff changes approved by the senate to date:

Commodity.	Senate.	House.	Present.
Automobiles	10%	25%	25%

Drawing instruments	60%	40%	40%
Forks, hoes, rakes	free	30%	free
Cedar lumber	free	25%	free
Manganese, pound	1c	1c	1c

(The senate manganese rate is based on ore containing 10 per cent or more of metallic manganese. The other two are based on ore containing 30 per cent and over of metallic manganese.)

The bill also contains the first sliding scale tariff ever to be placed in such legislation. The scale would apply to imports of antimony with rates ranging from 1-2 a cent to 4 cents a pound, increasing as the New York market prices drop, and vice versa.

FIRST WHISKY LEGALLY MADE SINCE '17, IS RUN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP) The first whisky legally manufactured in the United States since September, 1917, was run into charred barrels here today.

While government officials looked on, 50 gallons of limpid, colorless fluid (which, if home made would be called white mule) dropped into a barrel which will, in the next four years, give it color, density and mellowness and make it suitable for sale for medicinal purposes.

The event took place at the local plant of the American Medicinal Spirits Company. The firm holds one of the recently issued permits to make liquor to replenish the medical supply. It is planned to make 13,000 barrels before stopping operations.

Men who had studied the distilling business when it was one of the biggest industries of the state, supervised the making of the whisky through the long process necessary before it is ready for barrels.

FLORIDIAN DIES

William Drew, Jacksonville Pioneer, Passes at Home.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—William B. Drew, 68, pioneer citizen of Jacksonville and president of the H. and W. B. Drew Company, stationers, printers and wholesalers, died at his home here today.

$4,000,000 Revenue Is Seen

:: NORMAN PLANNING TO COLLECT LEVY ::

Under Georgia Income Tax

R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, Friday revealed plans for collecting revenues under the Boykin income tax law on an overhead cost of less than three-quarters of one per cent.

In event the act, which is being contested in the courts, is held constitutional, blank forms will be mailed from the state tax office to taxpayers in the early part of 1930.

As far as possible collection of the tax will be handled from the state capitol. Men will be sent into the field to assist in collection only when it cannot be avoided.

Taxpayers will be instructed to fill out the blank form with a statement of their income, calculate the amount they are to pay, and mail the filled out form together with a check to the office of the tax commissioner.

The statements and the payments will then be audited, and the taxpayers advised if there has been an error.

Mr. Norman stated that the forms would be patterned on those required by the federal government in the collection of its income tax, and that no trouble in filling out the blanks should be experienced.

Arrangements have not yet been completed to obtain a mailing list of those who should make a statement of their income, Mr. Norman stated. It is thought, however, that this can be done through co-operation of federal authorities.

There are about 45,000 individuals and concerns in Georgia which make a statement of their incomes to the federal government, Mr. Norman stated, and about 30,000 which actually pay a tax.

An appropriation of $30,000 for collection of the tax was made by the legislature at the time the income tax law was adopted. This amount, he said, cannot be exceeded in collection of the tax.

A minimum return of $4,000,000 is expected from the tax. On this basis, the tax will be collected at an overhead cost of three-fourths of one per cent or less.

Although the federal government has formerly used men in various parts of the state to assist in the preparation of income reports, it is now getting away from this practice, it was said at Mr. Norman's office. The state will follow the same practice.

The suit to restrain enforcement of the Boykin income tax law is set for hearing in the Fulton superior court December 9. An effort probably will be made at the time of the hearing to hasten the case through the courts, in order that a final decision may be given the latter part of December or early in January.

Great Warehouse To Make Atlanta Storage Center

Plans for the United States Warehouse Company's business here, as divulged by E. M. Dodds, its vice president and general manager, presage a new era in the commercial advantages offered by the city by giving Atlanta unequalled storage facilities.

The building to be erected by his company, which will contain office, warehouse and cold storage space, will be the largest of its kind south of Cincinnati. In the south it will have but one competitor, the Santa Fe Terminal building of Dallas, Texas, which, although offering the same facilities, is not so large.

The warehouse space and cold storage equipment of the new building will be capable of handling annually from 5,000 to 6,000 carloads of commodities. Plans of the new company are based upon an estimate of an annual volume of business that large.

The company will act almost exclusively as a warehouse company. It will not own the products stored by it, but will offer its facilities to provision, fruit and other dealers who are in need of a distribution point in the southeast.

Warehouse receipts will be issued for commodities in storage, and ownership of the commodities will pass with the receipt, in much the same manner as cotton warehouses operate.

Occasionally, Mr. Dodds said, the company will act as a banker, advancing a portion of its value upon the goods in storage.

Mr. Dodds stated that he is now negotiating with several companies interested in warehouse and cold storage space in Atlanta. To such companies his company offers warehouse, cold storage and office space in close proximity to each other.

It is his plan, he said, to make the building a distribution center for the southeast.

The products, not only of Georgia, but of the surrounding states, will be gathered, brought to Atlanta and stored pending their distribution to all parts of the United States. In the same way products of other sections will be brought to Atlanta for storage for distribution throughout the south.

Mr. Dodds expressed particular interest in the peanut industry. Chicago, he said, was now the market center for peanuts. Tariff revisions which would permit a through rate, in conjunction with storage provisions in Atlanta, he said, would tend to shift the market for this commodity to Atlanta.

Peaches, apples, pears and other fruit from Georgia and Florida will be stored in the building pending distribution to all parts of the country. Celery, grapes, packing house products, butter, eggs, cheese, en route to or from this section of the country, will be given storage.

The new plant will give Atlanta storage facilities unexcelled by any city of the south, he declared.

22-STORY WAREHOUSE LEASE IS APPROVED

cember 27, 1969, and from the state of Georgia for thirty additional years, or from the period between 1969 and December 27, 1999.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad will receive $1,000,000 in monthly installments during the forty years of its contract with the warehouse company. Their monthly rentals will be $2,083.33.

The state of Georgia will receive $1,050,000 in monthly installments during the thirty years of its contract. Its monthly rental receipts will be $2,925.

Tax Exemption.

Clauses which will be included in the contract of lease will exempt the property from ad valorem taxes. The arrangement, it was said, will be the same as that given the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. Additional clauses will provide for insurance of the building, and that in the event of default the title and the right to possession of the property will return to the state.

Although for all practical purposes the agreement was concluded Friday, the final lease will not be signed until January 20, when the commission will again meet. At the present the agreement is in writing, but the contract has not yet been put in its final form.

Plans are for a thoroughly modern building in which the utility required of a warehouse structure will be blended with convenience and beauty necessary in an office building.

For a building devoted to its purposes the situation chosen is unique. Full advantage will be taken of the railroad facilities available in the design of the ground floor.

Present plans call for a great tunnel beneath the building, through which six tracks will pass. A platform affording adequate working space for handling freight will be provided.

Seven Elevators.

Space at either end of the platform will be given to the temporary storage of commodities. Four elevators will connect the platform with the warehouse above.

The dimensions of the Dixie Terminal building at its base will be 176 feet 6 inches on Pryor street, 362 feet 9 inches on Wall street, 156 feet 11 inches on Central avenue and 340 feet across the fourth side.

The first floor, which will be on the level of the viaduct, will be the main floor of the building.

Entrance will be through a lobby in the center of the Pryor street side. At the rear of the lobby three sets of passenger elevators leading to the office floors above will be provided.

There will be space for six stores facing Pryor street, 13 facing Wall street, and seven facing Central avenue.

Warehouse Space.

A huge space in the center of the building will contain the warehouse space. It will be more than 100 feet wide and 250 feet long. The cold storage space will be in the rear of this.

On the second floor the warehouse space will be even larger. It will project above the stores on Wall street and Central avenue, covering the entire building with the exception of the space above the floors fronting on Pryor street.

The Pryor street side of the building, which will rise far above the rear warehouse and be topped by the 22-story central tower, will be devoted exclusively to offices.

The same arrangement as the second floor will be carried out in the succeeding floors, until the height of the warehouse, which is planned to be about six stories, has been passed.

On each floor there will be 12 double offices, each with a receiving room, two triple offices, with individual receiving rooms, and nine single offices.

VAUGHAN RITES TO BE HELD TODAY IN LAWRENCEVILLE

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22. (Special.)—Funeral services for Mrs. Andrew J. Vaughan, 74, who died at the residence, 214 Poplar circle, N. E., Atlanta, Thursday night, will be held at the residence of Major W. E. Simmons this morning at 11 o'clock and interment will be in the old cemetery.

Mrs. Vaughan before her marriage to Andrew J. Vaughan, December 12, 1876, was Miss Sallie Ambrose, and a lifelong resident of Lawrenceville, until their removal to Atlanta about 18 years ago. Besides her husband she is survived by three children, Mrs. E. L. Cain, Miss Louise Vaughan and Mr. H. G. Vaughn, of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Simmons, of Lawrenceville, and Mrs. W. L. Burchael, of Canton, Ohio, and several nieces and nephews.

Railroad Executives Assure Hoover of Continuation Of Huge Building Program

Meet in Chicago as Builders Confer With President — Optimism Pervades Conferences.

BY JAMES L. WEST,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The volume of reassuring reports on business which has been compiled at the presidential conferences here was increased today by a further survey of the railroad and general building needs for the coming year.

Executives of practically all the carriers telegraphed from their meeting at Chicago that their requirements in construction expansion, freight cars and steel rails would equal if not exceed those for this year, and that a movement even to increase these is being actively pressed.

"This program will assure larger employment in the railway equipment industry next year than in 1929 and a very substantial addition to the railway demands for steel," President Hoover said, in making public the telegram from R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association.

More Highways.

From a group of representatives of the building industries who gathered with him at the White House, the president received a report that highway construction alone in the coming year could be stepped up to a total of $1,100,000,000, an increase of 10 per cent over that for this year.

Adding to this the amounts that might be spent for street paving and improvements in cities and county highways, it was estimated that the total of road construction would exceed $2,000,000,000 in 1930, dependent on ability of municipalities and counties to obtain attractive prices for road and pavement bonds.

With money rates decreasing and a large volume of capital made available through the diminishing of the volume of speculation in the stock market, it was believed that ample funds would be available for increases in all construction works all along the line.

Frank H. Smith, president of the Portland Cement Manufacturing Association, one of more than a dozen men at the White House conference, said the president seemed to have a definite idea in mind as to how to promote business progress in the face of declining stock prices.

"That is to stimulate construction generally," he said. "This applies both as to apartments, office buildings and homes, road building and municipal improvements, state building and that sort of thing."

Ready to Co-operate.

Smith said the building trades' representatives had agreed to name a committee to co-operate with committees of other industries so that there will be full co-ordination of activities, both private and governmental.

Announcement was made at the White House that the representatives of the electric light and power, street railway and gas associations of the country would meet at New York Tuesday to survey their industries as the railway men have done and report to the president what expansions may be made.

Representatives of the electric light and power and gas associations attended the industrial conference at the White House yesterday and they will acquaint their fellows in the public utilities organizations with the president's program.

There will be no White House conference tomorrow and the series will be concluded Monday with the visit here of the representatives of the farm organizations. The public utilities conference here has been called off because of the meeting in New York Tuesday.

Roads to Spend 600 Millions.

The program of the nation's railroads for carrying forward their part of general business progress was summarized in this telegram from Mr. Aishton:

"The railway executives who were called into conference by you at Washington last Tuesday have, as you requested, communicated to their associate executives at the meeting held today in Chicago, the views you expressed to them in respect to maintaining stability and promoting prosperity in business and I am authorized to give you the assurance of their very sincere and earnest spirit of co-operation in the work you have undertaken.

"These executives in their associations represent approximately 97 per cent of the total operating revenues and approximately 91 per cent of the total railway mileage of the United States. They realize the national importance to the social and economic well being of the country of business stability and prosperity and their duty to so discharge their transportation responsibilities as to make their service harmonize with the wisest and most intelligent judgment and plans for the public welfare.

"The program of capital expenditures already arranged for is impressive, amounting up to October 1 of this year to $1,247,792,000 for class 1 railways, of which $673,972,000 remained on that date to be expended. This figure of $1,247,792,000 compares with a capital program of $902,307,000 for the same period of 1928, an increase of over 38 per cent.

No Curtailment in Work.

"The number of freight cars on order on October 1, was 29,481, a greater figure than on the corresponding date in any year since 1924, and this number has been increased as of November 1 to 33,642, which is an increase of 27,561, compared with the same date a year ago. On October 1, there were 354 locomotives on order, as compared with 113 on the same date in 1928 and 134 in 1927. There are also now on order approximately one and one-half million tons of steel rails for delivery beginning early in 1930. It is estimated that this will be increased by orders for approximately one million additional tons which would make the railroad deliveries in 1930 approximately 2,500,000 tons and substantially in excess of last year.

"Not believing that there is anything in existing conditions to require it the executives have no purpose whatever to reduce or abandon any part of this program. They are proceeding with confidence in the future business prosperity of the country and in reliance upon the full co-operation of industry in all its branches equally interested under these circumstances.

"It is their hope and expectation to proceed on at least a normal basis in their future capital and maintenance expenditures. A movement to increase them, however, has been started and is being actively and intelligently pressed forward.

"In respect to your desire to organize a committee of contact for the various industries and with a view of harmonizing and stimulating constructive work, resolutions were adopted at this meeting designating me as chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Railway Executives, to act for the railways as a means of keeping them in touch with other industrial groups and with developments as they occur; and I was requested to assure you of the willingness of the executives to assemble and make serviceable, through competent agencies, current figures with respect to capital expenditures and other available information that may be desired."

190 EXECUTIVES INDORSE HOOVER VIEWS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The railway industry started today to fulfill the promise its leaders gave President Hoover three days ago—that everything possible would be done to keep the nation's business on a normal level.

One hundred ninety executives, representing most of the large railroads in the country, conferred for several hours, discussed the condition of industry as a whole, compared budgets and drew up a lengthy report that was telegraphed to the president.

The rail heads declined to divulge the contents of their report to President Hoover, saying any such statement must come from the White House. They reiterated, however, their indorsement of the president's views.

Statements by individual executives indicated the industry would be able to carry out the billion-dollar expansion program outlined to President Hoover.

C. E. Johnston, president of the Kansas City Southern, said, "Our 1930 budget will provide for capital expenditures a little higher than this year or last. There is nothing I can see in the outlook for the next year to indicate a decreased volume of traffic."

Capital expenditures for this year were estimated at $800,000,000, in a statement prepared by the bureau of railway economics.

Alfred T. Thom, of Washington, was re-elected general counsel of the executives' association and the executive committee, headed by R. R. Aishton, also was re-elected. W. G. Bierd, receiver of the Chicago and Alton railroad, was added to the executive committee.

Among the executives present were John J. Bernet, Chesapeake & Ohio, A. C. Needle, Norfolk & Western.

FERGUSON NAMED LAVONIA MAYOR OVER M. SEWELL

LAVONIA, Ga., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Clarence Ferguson was re-elected mayor of Lavonia in a municipal election here today. Ferguson received 224 votes, while Marvin Sewell, his opponent, got 92. L. O. Maudlin and O. D. Cannon were re-elected councilmen.

MACON A. M. E. CHURCH SESSION TO CLOSE SUNDAY

EATONTON, Ga., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Addresses on educational and missionary work in foreign fields featured the third day's session of the Macon conference of the A. M. E. church here today.

Among the principal speakers were E. S. Kyles, president of the conference branch missionary; J. S. Williams, state missionary president, and J. A. Fountain, general superintendent of missionary work in Georgia, each of whom discussed in a thorough manner the work now being carried on by the A. M. E. missionaries in the home and foreign fields.

Reports from various committees took up a large part of today's session. Rev. G. H. Dunn, conference treasurer of the Children's Day funds, and W. Boyd Lawrence, conference treasurer of the Easter funds, submitted statements.

The conference will be brought to a close here Sunday morning, with announcement of appointments by Bishop W. A. Fountain.

not regarded as grave, however, until Friday morning.

Morphine and camphorol were administered. The 88-year-old "Tiger" spent the night alternately trying to rest and pacing the floor when the pain became unbearable.

Wants Simple Funeral.

Former President Alexandre Millerand visited the patient briefly, and a representative of President Gaston Doumergue called at the flat. But soon Clemenceau's condition precluded callers.

He protested constantly that he was in pain, and groaned continually. Asked by Dr. Laubry whether his suffering was intense, he replied, "I should say so."

Weaker and weaker grew the "Tiger." By mid-afternoon he had difficulty opening his eyes. He indicated by whispers that he wanted his chauffeur and valet to hold his hands. He insisted weakly that he wanted no fuss, no national funeral if he died.

SIXTY DREDGEMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE IN TANKER CRASH

WILMINGTON, Va., Nov. 22.—(AP) Sixty men aboard the United States army dredge Manhattan narrowly escaped with their lives early today when the oil tanker Bessemer collided with the dredge in the Delaware river near the mouth of the Christiana river.

The tanker was inbound from Texas City with a cargo of petroleum for the Atlantic Refining Company, Philadelphia. The tanker stood by until daylight and rescued all the men who were sleeping on the dredge, which sank in about five minutes. Reports to the army engineer's office was to the effect that so far as known no men were missing.

The collision occurred near Edgemoor, Del., off where the Manhattan had been engaged in improving the Delaware river channel.

The dredge sank in 40 feet of water and today only her smoke stack and pilot house could be seen. Divers were sent down to determine the extent of the damage to the dredge with a view of salvaging her.

Catarrh is Terrible Drain on Vitality

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that Catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by Nose and Throat Specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective and agreeable are those contained in the preparation, known to your druggist as Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, Runion's White Wonder Salve gives quick and most delightful relief from the irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, Runion's Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art.—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

DEFENDING THE WATERWAYS.

The disposition of the railway managers of the nation to set up vigorous and concerted opposition to the federal improvement of the waterways of the country is being considered by the interstate commerce commission. That body very properly assumes that its function is to regulate any form of interstate transportation and especially those methods of it which belong entirely to the jurisdiction of the national government.

The navigable streams of the country are, by the constitution itself, put under the jurisdiction of the congress, and congress and the federal courts have uniformly held them immune from any interference by the states with their regulation and freedom of use. And if the states themselves are prohibited from restricting their freedom of use, certainly corporations chartered by the states and subject to the interstate commerce control of the congress should not be allowed to do so.

The commission has taken notice of the action of railroad managers who have sought to undercut barge rates upon government authorized barge lines and thereby make them unprofitable, and so destroy their competition. Such underbidding by the railroads has been suspended by the commission, with the recommendation that the operators of the roads and the barge lines agree upon freight tariffs that will permit both to bid for freight tonnage upon reasonable and equal terms.

Rightly enough the commission has no desire or purpose to deprive the roads of any supporting patronage they can fairly obtain, but it just as rightly does not desire to see the barge lines driven off the waterways and those natural servants of the people—the rivers and canals—denuded of craft and abandoned.

The nation, indeed, is near to the "saturation point" so far as railroad building is to feature in our future internal commerce. Waterways extended and improved and express routes for trucks over hard paved roads will make new railroads of rare demand. The protection and prosperity of the railroads are hereafter to be found in better competitive service, in expedited schedules and rates more reasonably adjusted to investment, costs of operation and fair returns.

A HIGHWAY TO PEACE.

The big navy advocates are pressing hard upon the president to name an expert naval officer as one of the negotiators in the naval limitation conference of the five major powers at London late in January. The president does not seem inclined to have that conference become a contest of naval wits to put the navies of the powers into conditions of fighting parity.

It is President Hoover's idea that this highly important conference should become the longest and strongest step ever made to put the dominant powers of the globe into a program of pacific sea-police in so far as their uses of navies are concerned. It is a great and momentous concept and is not so chimerical as war-minded persons might claim. There seems a reasonably strong possibility to realize it, if wisdom, experience and humane philosophies control the minds of the delegates who will sit in the London conference.

No one acquainted with international affairs imagines that all navies can be summarily abolished. The strong nations must always have in reserve means of protection from raids upon their littorals and attacks upon their commerce on the high seas by some irresponsible nation suddenly inflamed to violate any protocol of world peace.

Even in this twentieth century such open and free seas as obtained three centuries ago would invite again the piracies of a Kidd and the bucaneering of a Morgan. The present-day hijackers of the land would be rivaled by the same order of hijackers on the seven seas.

But with the League of Nations operating and the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact signed and sealed between them, the people generally will wonder why there should be much wrangle and jangle at the conference over how many and what size warships this and that power shall maintain.

What mankind wants is in agreement of fact and honor that there must be no more wars between the nations; that arbitration shall be the universal international resort; and the right of any people to association with the civilized powers shall depend upon its adherence to the common law of peaceful intercourse and adjustments.

REFORMED TEACHING TEXTS.

Educational inspectors have been reviewing recently the textbooks used in the schools of the country to ascertain their values for the instruction of the minds of children. It is an important line of investigation and has uncovered some defects that can be easily detoured by competent boards of education that have the responsibility of setting up study and reading courses in the schools under their management.

In the first place is the need for a drastic reduction of the number of study texts. There is too widespread a passion to cram and crowd the minds of the pupils in elementary and secondary schools. Such children, not having reached the right and safety of choice, are subjects of teaching coercion. They must of necessity receive and study and read the books imposed upon them. That proper fact imposes upon school boards and teachers the reciprocal duty of wisely and humanely adapting the texts to the average capacities of the pupils.

The teaching profession is among the most essential and influential of those that affect the direction and character of our national life. For that reason professional educators and teachers should not be suffered to go "hog-wild" after every fad and trial-balloon fancy of experimental psychologists and pedagogs. Altogether too long now have the people allowed their children to be mentally vivisected by ambitious innovators upon the older systems, time-tried and product-proved, that developed the child mind consistently and progressively. Those systems stuck to a limited list of really educative studies and produced men and women with balanced minds who made the nation great and powerful.

In a recent number of the Christian Index, of this city, W. W. Gaines, former chairman and now the dean of our city board of education, wrote:

"In my youth, on a farm in Kentucky, I did not have access to many books. The books that probably influenced me most were McGuffey's Sixth Reader and the fables in the back of Webster's Blue Back Speller. I have a somewhat wider knowledge of books now, but I have come to conclude that the small list I had, which seems ridiculously small, was a first rate list after all. McGuffey's Reader was the most popular reader in all the history of our country and contained many of the finest short classics in poetry and prose; and I love to refer to this day to the things I got out of the Blue Back Speller. So my boyhood books represented quality and not quantity."

There are many thousands of potential men and women yet living in the nation who can echo that experience. The rosters of our public life in all vocations abundantly corroborate the value of such simple and effective absorptions of assimilable teaching.

A graduate student, Samuel Tille, of the school of education of the College of the City of New York, has made a careful study of four representative textbooks now in general use. He finds them written in language the average pupil cannot understand. The failure of textbook writers to use words suitable to the powers of the young students and readers has had some startling results. Mr. Tille found one child who thought "senate chamber" meant a "bedroom," and some who defined the "banks of Newfoundland" as "places where people put money."

Those are typical examples and emphasize the general need to reduce school studies and reading texts to the levels of mind capacity of the pupils in each grade. Parents should be mobilized in every community to demand the sane and sound teaching of their children.

Health Talks

HEALTH IS NOT A THING OF GENDER.

Hygeia, daughter of Aesculapius the mythical god of medicine, was a lady, yet a myth just the same, and so was her old man. Probably the ancients had their reasons for assuming that the goddess of health was feminine while her pop was of the other sex. Whatever reasons they may have had, the whole myth business ended with the dawn of the Christian era. Yet the other night I heard a successor of mine who is now working for a man who sternly disapproved of my teachings about the care of the teeth, telling his radio audience about the number of decayed male and female teeth found in some survey. My successor urged everybody to brush the teeth freely and fluently, and regretted that it isn't practical for one to carry a brush in the waistcoat pocket and use it every few minutes in the day. You understand why some people do not wear waistcoats some days. Sentiments like these ought to please some of the best customers.

Waiting in the barber shop I was unable to find a copy of the Police Gazette or even Smutty Stories, so I had to while away the interval with a copy of License or something like that. First risque thing that caught my eye was—oh, shucks, this is a decent family newspaper and so we'll just say it was a full page of hooey about "feminine hygiene."

In every instance where that idea is exploited in a selling argument the thing offered is a humbug, in my opinion.

As a teacher of hygiene I protest against the nasty way these slick nostrum makers paw over the matter. What they assure the unsophisticated public is "feminine hygiene" is in reality either morbid and harmful mischief or just a wasteful and useless attempt to substitute medicaments of one kind or another for simple cleanliness.

The shrewd gentlemen who engage in this contemptible business know how to word their subtle appeals so as to get the illicit suggestion over to the unsophisticated or even the otherwise well educated woman, yet avoid clashing with the law. More than that, if you take one of them to task for the obvious trickery in the firm's appeal, he can generally take refuge in the vague assertion that the firm has "medical authority" for its teachings. Of course the "medical authority" prefers to remain anonymous, in view of the delicacy of the question, and all that sort of thing.

Hygiene is in no respect different for the sexes. A normal woman never requires any kind of medicament, either externally or otherwise. If a woman is not normal, then she is foolish indeed to resort to any treatment except that which her physician prescribes for her individually. Simple cleanliness, such as one gets by ordinary bathing and frequent change of clothing, is all that hygiene requires of man or woman.

This "feminine hygiene" racket is to my mind worse than the now nearly extinct "female weakness" hokum, for the old hokum caught only the most ignorant class, while the present line appeals to the credulity of all members of the trusting sex who have never been properly exposed to physiology and hygiene in school. Proper instruction in physiology and hygiene is given in darn few schools, and then only through the autonomous enthusiasm of an exceptional teacher.

Sermons To Live By

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY.

Text: "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only." James 1:22. "The crown of all faculties is common sense."

By eminence in this virtue, the Epistle from which we take our text has been called by the distinguished Dr. Charles Force Deems, "The Gospel of Common Sense."

And it is quite interesting to observe that the writer of this gospel of common sense was none other than James, the brother of Jesus the Christ.

We might say that this little Epistle, for it contains only five brief chapters, is from the element of common sense which so distinguishes it, also the "Book of Proverbs" of the New Testament, even as the Old Testament as its well known Book of Proverbs.

Something of the same sagacity, the same "lying-level" with everyday life is characteristic of the sententious style of each of these precious volumes of moral and spiritual wisdom.

Just as truly, however, we will find that James is inspired in all his common sense by the lofty idealism of the purest Christianity.

Long ago that common-sense Roman, Seneca, uttered these words which are very much in harmony with the tone of thought prevailing in the Epistle of James, "I will govern my life, and my thoughts, as if the whole world were to see the one and to read the other; for what does it signify to make anything a secret to my neighbor when, to God (who is the searcher of our hearts), all our privancies are open?"

The heathen could have the vision of this common sense life, but he did not possess the power that enabled him to live it.

That power is none other than love. As St. Augustine says, "It is love that asks, that seeks, that knocks, that finds, and that is faithful to what it finds."

"If joy and hope must die,
Still can I upward fly!
Love lifts my spirit to the sky.
(Theodore Winthrop.)

Common sense is valuable, but love is invaluable.

FOUR ARE HURT DURING RIOTING IN TRUCK STRIKE

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Four men were injured today in riots between striking truck drivers and men employed by commission merchants to move produce valued at $1,000,000 which had piled up in railroad yards.

Three New Yorkers were hurt in a fight which was broken up by a detail of 30 policemen who answered the police riot call. The injured were Al Little, Abe Gold and Alfred Kirso, all of 211 Third avenue, New York.

The men were employed as truck trailers by a produce merchant and were following a load of produce in another car when they were set upon by a large crowd of strikers.

YEOMANS RE-ELECTED

State Entomologist Is Given High Praise.

Manning S. Yeomans was re-elected state entomologist by the state board of entomology at the annual meeting Friday.

His re-election followed high praise for his work as chief of the department. Mr. Yeomans announced that there would be no changes in the personnel of his office.

The board also confirmed the action of Mr. Yeomans in suspending Georgia's quarantine against Florida citrus fruits to conform with recent changes in the federal quarantine.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad To a Flapper Daughter

By Robert Quillen

My Dear Louise:

This morning some trifle displeased you. Instead of dismissing it from your mind as a matter of no consequence, you kept on thinking about it and began to look for other displeasing things in the hope of finding enough to justify a grouch.

Evidently you succeeded, for thirty minutes later, when I called cheerfully through a closed door—being wholly unaware of your mental state—you answered in a tone of voice that said: "Well, darn it, what do you want?"

Right then you needed spanking. Instead you got a gentle rebuke that made you feel ashamed, and then your customary good nature and common sense reasserted themselves and the sun came out again.

It was a trivial incident but I want to analyze the cause of it for the good of your soul.

There is a contrary streak in most of us that makes us want to be what we aren't. The fat wish to be lean and the thin fat; the young wish to be old and the old young; the poor long for riches and the rich talk about the blessings of poverty. And, incredible as it seems to anybody of sound mind, while the miserable are longing to be happy, the happy often enjoy making themselves miserable.

Perhaps the explanation is that they are bored by want of variety. But whatever the cause, they do deliberately magnify trifles and manufacture imaginary grievances to work up an abused feeling and generate a grouch.

They say the gorilla beats itself on the chest to work up a rage. I don't know how true that is, but I do know that such monkey business has that kind of result.

Because certain emotions prompt us to act in certain ways, we can "go through the motions" and generate the feeling that naturally causes them. Thus a little girl can pretend to weep until she weeps in fact, and a man can strike blows in play and quickly develop anger.

That's the way we humans function, and that's the reason you can pretend to be vexed or abused and develop a feeling of resentment that will endure long after the cause is forgotten.

Most everybody does it more or less, but it's a dangerous business. It develops the habit of insincerity, and the first thing you know you are play-acting half the time and couldn't tell to save your neck whether you really are mad or just kidding yourself.

Dont do it, Honey. When you find yourself acting or speaking like a bear with a sore head, look in the mirror and say to yourself: "Am I really consumed with wrath and a desire to bite nails, or have I 'put on' until I've got myself fooled?"

Fooling other people is low-down, but anybody who gets the habit of fooling himself is a goner.

Love,
DAD.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 22.—Now that Olive Borden and George O'Brien have stopped denying that they are looking for a house "suitable for two," the village is acting what finally decided them to get married.

This has been Hollywood's romance of several years' standing, with ups and downs for both persons. Chiefly for Olive Borden. George O'Brien has managed pretty well, and his first venture into talking fields will be on the 70-millimeter screen.

There's always a story in back of a story. Here's the background of the sudden activity on the part of George and Olive. It has long been George's plan, when making pictures, to center his interest on the leading lady for some time previous to the actual shooting of the picture—in fact from the very moment he knows she is to be the lead—George O'Brien gallantly sends the lady flowers, takes her buggy-riding and seeks generally in his charming way to establish a little light romancing for the good of the celluloid.

Through the ups and downs of her career Olive Borden has watched these little professional romancings on the part of her boy friend, and has taken them for what they were worth. What's a friendship for if not to provide a few good snappy fights? And what's a fight for if not to provide some memorable makings-up?

Now the leading lady this last time was none other than the lovely little dark-eyed Sue Carol, fiancee of Nicky Stewart. George brought the famous O'Brien technique to play on his new lead, with surprisingly gratifying results. Two interested watchers regarded the situation from the sidelines. Olive Borden and Nicky Stewart!

At present Olive Borden is doing the best work of her career. Her come-back is so firmly established that she has more fire in her eyes and more spring in her step than ever. The girl who "just laughed" at a $2,500-a-week contract has had some wry smiles in the year that intervened as she fought to get back her prestige and opportunities.

Nicky Stewart ventures a few lover-like objections. And to meet these came the amazing theory that Sue Carol wanted to test herself—to see if she really loved him. A diplomatic interval was suggested: They were both to go out with others and take stock of their emotional reactions.

Her fiance gallantly admitted that Sue might do that if she wished. As for him—there was only one girl in the world. And he'd wait for that girl to come to her senses.

Olive Borden's technique was slightly different. She snapped the whip. With a sudden final snap. With a fiery gesture she put a period on Hollywood's chronic romance.

George O'Brien suddenly discovered that not only could he not abide the thought of life without her, but he couldn't abide the idea of a leisurely continuance of the engagement. He wanted to sign a life option before the temperamental lady changed her mind again.

The end of the story? Of course Nick Stewart and Sue Carol are inseparable as ever. It was one of those emotional intervals. They occur outside of professional life. Less often before marriage than after. They are a frequent phenomena then. And one may thank the emotional interval for "my lovely trip east this autumn," or "that unforgettable spring in Paris."

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Trenton, N. J.

Upon what grounds do you base your recent statement that "if God is the father of men, the church is their mother"?

I never attend church and I advise others not to do so. It's a worn-out institution.

What are the reasons for your statement?

The statement you quote was not coined by me. It was originally made by one of the mightiest and wisest minds of the race—St. Augustine, the illustrious Bishop of Hippo, the saint, philosopher, theologian and statesman of God, who transformed western civilization. I believe St. Augustine was right, for the following reasons:

The church brings an authentic message concerning God, which leads to the secret of all worthwhile living. It recognizes the universal hunger for God and the possibility of communion with Him. It reveals God as a living, personal force and offers a partnership with Him in the completion of the task of perfecting the world.

The church confers acquaintanceship with the great spirits of the past. In the lives of prophets and heroes and in the life of Jesus Christ the church holds up the ideals by which character and achievement may be measured. In the call to build the kingdom of God on earth, the church presents the basic purpose which gives deeper meaning to everything men do. It releases through human lives the transforming power of God. It gives men a long and balanced perspective of life—from the great civilizations of the past to the great eternities beyond.

The church creates a fellowship with the great host of believers throughout the world, thus affording it an opportunity to work with other men for the cultivation of the spiritual life and for increasing the stock of goodness in the world through membership in an organization which thinks in terms of world relations. It is the oldest and most honorable institution in existence. There is no government, business, society or alliance of interests that touches so many people in so many ways as organized religion.

In spite of its acknowledged weaknesses the church is the noblest institution that has ever been founded upon this earth for the promulgation of spiritual ideals and their application to life. No other institution of any character whatsoever can compete with it in the earnest and inspiring loyalty it has created and sustained in its members.

The church produces a comradeship of worshipers. While it urges private devotion, it brings men together so that they may receive the inspiration which comes from their united petitions, and to this end it provides a vast storehouse of aids, so that they may "practice the presence of God". This comradeship is the most universal brotherhood in existence. It embraces all classes of men, from the humblest penitent to the most gifted saint, and includes all humanity, regardless of rank, creed, color or economic condition.

The church gives to men the most inspiring task in the world, by placing before them a view of life which lifts them out of themselves and relates them to vast purposes, based on a world-wide program of social adjustment, sanctioned and empowered by religion. It offers modern men a fighting chance in the great struggle to improve the conditions of life here on earth, and urges them to devote their best talents, keenest wisdom and highest genius to making this world what it ought to be. The church thus offers the greatest moral adventure in human experience, because it gives men a program for personal living, a social passion that will build a new social order, a vital contact with the inspiring elements of culture, a faith that destroys all fear, a source of power unparalleled, a place of leadership for every man who possesses real ability and an assurance of ultimate victory.

The church is the medium of fellowship with Christ in all the affairs of life, giving men a clearer understanding of His mind, for it is through Christ that they come to know God, and by her discipline become more like Him.

The church offers to men a solution of the problem of sin and gives comfort and strength when trials come and sorrows weigh upon the heart, an enlargement of life's meaning and guidance in life's endeavors. The message of courage and hope, the gift of wisdom in times of perplexity, the promise of spiritual peace and of emancipation from ignorance through the truth which makes all men free, are the blessings she confers upon the righteous.

$35,000 TO AID NATIONAL FIGHT ON ILLITERACY

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Dr. John H. Finley, president of the National Illiterary Crusade, today announced that the organization has received $35,000 from the Julius Rosenwald Fund to aid in its campaign against illiteracy in the United States, particularly in the south.

Dr. John H. Finley explained that the Rosenwald grant would make possible the expansion of the program carried on for some years teaching adults to read and write. The 1920 census revelled 5,000,000 persons, over 10 years of age, in the United States who were illiterate and every effort is to be made during the five months remaining before the 1930 census is taken in May to make the record of the new census as good as possible.

CHECK-UP PLACES TOLL OF TIDAL WAVE AT 29

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Stories of heroism, stark terror and panic emerged today from Burin peninsula, where devastation and death followed Monday's earthquake and tidal wave.

At least one woman sacrificed her life to save her children from a waterlogged home. Hardy residents shouted that the land was sinking. Some fled to the hills in temporary insanity.

Today various agencies attempted to carry relief to a 60-mile stretch hardest hit by the tidal wave. Shattered houses, wharves and fishing boats lined the coast.

The death toll, as reported by a United News motorboat returning from Burin, was placed at 29.

It will be days before the distress of the homeless can be relieved. All means of communication are paralyzed. Homeless and without fuel, many villagers are even without means of communication by boat, hundreds of dories and skiffs having been swept away.

Residents of Burin, a town of 2,500, said the entire peninsula was rocked by the earthquake at 5:30 p. m. Monday. For two minutes the tremor lasted, with a rumble as of distant thunder. Household crockery, glass and pictures were broken; walls were cracked.

It was at 7 p. m., while most of the villagers were seated at their meal, that the tidal wave struck Burin. The first warning was a roar of breaking seas mounting the cliffs guarding the city at its little inlet. Again the frightened villagers ran from their homes. In the darkness they saw a wall of water advancing on them like a moving mountain, while foam dashed across the headlands breaking over the adjacent shore.

Many were paralyzed by fear and could not move to higher ground. Children became lost and were trapped in their homes as the water crushed the small frame dwellings and carried them back into the sea.

So fast did the wave sweep over the shore that many of those fleeing to safety from some villages were overtaken and carried out to sea. Men risked their lives to rescue women and children clinging to wreckage. Electric transmission was broken off by the first onslaught of the wave, so that the rescuers had to work in pitch darkness.

Yells of half-crazed men and screams of women mingled. Some cried that the land was sinking. There were reports that some had become bereft of reason and were found hours later wandering helpless in the hills.

SOLONS CONTINUE TARIFF ARGUMENT

democrats and western republican independents, which has control of the bill, believe it can be disposed of before the first of the year. They intend to continue the elimination of proposed industrial rate increases and confine the measure to higher duties for agricultural products.

Inform Hoover.

Leaders of the senate and house buried their differences over the tariff long enough to go together to President Hoover and inform him that his special meeting was adjourned. He told them he had nothing more for this session.

Senator Jones, of Washington, acting republican leader, said the congressional committee had told the president that congress had completed its work "in so far as possible." Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the house republican leader, later said to newspapermen that the representatives of the house "didn't have their tongues in their cheeks" when they reported to the president.

"How about the senators?" he was asked.

"Oh, they had on their best poker faces," he replied.

Senators Jones and Walsh, of Montana, acting democratic leader, and Representatives Tilson and Garner, of Texas, democratic leader of the house, comprised the congressional committee.

In the 50-minute concluding session of the house the senate tariff situation came up for discussion again. Representative Crowther, republican, New York, said the people would blame the democrats and "so-called republicans" in the senate for not getting the tariff enacted during the special session. Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, replied with an attack upon the bill, insisting it could not help the farmers.

No Quorum Present.

After several quorum calls were necessary in the senate to get the tired members to work on the bill, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, remarked that "everybody seems to be loafing on the job." Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, packed up his tariff books and walked out. Thereupon the senate recessed until just before the adjournment hour.

It is the first rest of any kind afforded the 19 members of the finance committee since last May when the tariff bill came over from the house. These senators particularly were eager to get out and attend to some private business long pending.

Apparently most of congress will take next week off. The senate lobby committee had considered going ahead but even that program was abandoned and it adjourned today subject to the call of Chairman Caraway.

Preparatory to the regular session program, the senate today adopted a resolution by Senator Sackett, republican, Kentucky, calling for a report on the radio situation from the radio commission. The question extending the life of the radio commission comes up next session.

LAW OFFICERS AWAY, ROBBERS HOLD UP BANK

STINNETT, Texas, Nov. 22.—(AP) Two men held up the First State Bank of Stinnett today and escaped with approximately $3,000 in the first major crime committed in Hutchinson county since the recent lifting of martial law.

The robbery occurred while Sheriff C. C. Moore and Deputy Sheriff Red Burton were absent from the city.

Leo Franks, assistant cashier, was alone in the bank when the robbers entered and overpowered him.

MASTER OF SHIP IN LAKE CRASH HELD TO BLAME

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Captain W. F. Armsbary, master of the ore carrier Marquette which collided with the freighter Senator which sank off Port Washington, October 31, was blamed today for the loss of lives of 10 members of the crew. He was cited to appear before the United States district attorney here December 10 to show cause why he should not be prosecuted criminally.

Twelve Persons Are Hurt In Auto Accident Series

Due in part to the cold, drizzling rain, the wet pavements and weather that would numb the hands of any gloveless driver, 12 accidents were reported Friday, a gain of nine over Thursday.

In these 12 accidents there were seven people hurt, and two of them were policemen. Three arrests were made in connection with the crashes.

In contrast with Thursday's report of 22 traffic cases made, Friday added only 18 cases, which is just three more than the number docketed on Wednesday. Friday the list read: Illegal parking, 6; reckless driving, 6; driving while intoxicated, 3; failure to stop at a red traffic signal light, 2, and driving without proper lights, 1.

Shortly before 8 o'clock Friday night J. Andy Brown, of 1201 Climax street, was driving west on Bass street and at the intersection of Bass and Formwalt street his car skidded upon a curve and struck a light and power post. The post was knocked down, causing the lights in that immediate section to wink out for a few minutes. Aubrey Sikes, 709 Killian street, who was with Brown at the time, was severely cut about the head and face, necessitating treatment at Grady hospital.

Brown was arrested and faced with charges of driving while intoxicated. He denies driving the car, but Sikes asserts that he was, according to Call Officers R. E. Floyd and R. L. Mosley, who made the case.

Mrs. W. Underwood, 60, of 322 1-2 Whitehall street, was slightly injured on Whitehall street near Windsor. She was struck by a car driven by W. L. Reeves, of Union City. Mrs. Underwood was examined by a Grady hospital ambulance physician. No case was made against Reeves at the request of Mrs. Underwood. He told Call Officers John Bowman and C. P. Whaley that he was blinded by the rain.

Wet pavements and skidding tires caused an accident that injured Motorcycle Patrolman D. L. Taylor. He was walking across Flat Shoals avenue after his hours on duty and was struck down by a car driven by Hubert Finley, of a Flat Shoals avenue address. His car struck a wagon driven by John McCrary, colored, and in applying his brakes skidded. The car turned over and Officer Taylor was hurt but not seriously.

In an accident that grew out of an accident, a second officer, Patrolman W. D. McMichen suffered cuts about the head and face and a serious injury to his left leg. Accompanied by Patrolman B. J. Covington he was investigating a wreck on Pryor street. McMichen was directing a wrecker car when he was hit by an automobile driven by J. P. Jones, of 16 Elsworth drive. Jones was arrested for reckless driving.

John Steinnichen, of 4 Polar Lock road, was struck by a car said to have been driven by E. A. Morgan, of Trinity apartments. Mrs. Steinnichen, who was in the car with her husband was cut about the face and head. It is alleged that Morgan was driving on the wrong side of the street, and a case of driving while intoxicated has been docketed against him.

J. R. Germany, 220 Elizabeth street, was knocked to the pavement and slightly hurt while walking across the intersection of Peachtree and Ellis streets, when struck by a car driven by Charles M. Seward, 985 Howell place. Rain blinded the driver and no case was made, according to the report of Patrolman R. P. McCarley.

All of the above accidents occurred after dark Friday, but one was reported as occurring earlier in the day. The driver of the car that figured in the affair reported the case himself. C. L. Sims, R. F. D. No. 6, stated that he was driving south on Pryor street and that directly in front of the Austin Dillon undertaking parlors a small girl, name and address unknown, stepped in from the curb and directly in the path of his car. He took her to a private hospital and it was ascertained that she was not seriously hurt.

One accident which was not listed with the Friday accidents as it occurred Thursday, but was reported on Friday morning, occurred in East Point. U. O. McConnell, 83, of 511 Central avenue, Hapeville, received a fractured leg when struck by an automobile. His condition was said to be serious at Grady hospital, due to his advanced age.

	1925	1930
Superior court clerk	$10,250.00	$11,225.00
Sheriff	8,600.00	9,150.00
Solicitor-general	3,010.00	4,324.97
Ordinary	2,850.00	2,825.00
Criminal court solicitor	2,741.66	3,316.65
Tax collector	4,871.65	5,608.32
Tax receiver	2,550.00	4,250.00

The only increase in the budgets during 1930 will be one of $200 a month in the office of the tax receiver for employment of an operator for a complicated bookkeeping machine which is to be used in making out tax returns. Employment of this operator at a salary of $200 a month was authorized recently.

Oppose Reductions.

Letters from the heads of each of the former fee ofices were read to the commission, supplemented by short talks by the officers. The consensus of the officials' appeal for maintaining the county wage scale included the plea that the majority of the county employes accepted their posts at certain salaries, making obligations accordingly, and that if the salaries were cut, distress would result, bringing about dissatisfaction and lessening the efficiency of the offices and the service to the public.

Edwin F. Johnson, tax receiver, drew attention to two headlines on Friday's front page of The Constitution, one declaring that employers and labor had agreed to maintain the American wage scale at a high level during the coming year, and the other showing that Fulton county had the largest increase of all counties of the state in creating new taxable values.

Solicitor John S. McClelland, of criminal court of Atlanta, said that he was in sympathy with a movement for economy, but that he considers the salaries paid now only fair. His office paid in to the county treasurer during this year more than $40,000 in excess of operating expenses, he said.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, of the superior court, said that the majority of the work in his department is of a legal nature and is done by lawyers of experience, that his office handles more than 2,000 cases a year in two divisions of superior court, and that he and his assistants have to cope with the outstanding lawyers of the Atlanta bar. Mr. Boykin declared that he knew of no way to reorganize his office or lessen expenses without serious impairment of the service to the county.

Says Business Has Doubled.

Sheriff James I. Lowry pointed out that the business of his office has more than doubled within the past few years, and that there has been no criticism of the way his men have handled legal services. All of his men have made obligations based on the salaries they are now receiving, he declared.

Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries said that he has sought by every means possible to give efficient service, and that his office is run now with the same number of helpers he had on January 1, 1925, while the budget of his office dropped from $34,150 in 1925 to $33,900 this year. Revenue above expenses of his office have increased approximately three times above the 1925 figure, he said.

Ordinary Jeffries declared that he does not believe the present salaries to be extravagant or expensive, and said that the people of the county are receiving value far in excess of the salaries paid. Mr. Jeffries pointed out that Patrick Calhoun, of his office, has been with the county 48 years with little increase in salary, and that his other employes have been with the county as follows: Arthur Marbut, 18 years; Wallace Rhodes, 15 years; Claude C. Mason, 14 years; Mrs. Batterson, 13 years; Mrs. Portwood, 7 years, and Mrs. Brown, 6 years. He has been elected ordinary four times without opposition, seemingly indicating that the people are satisfied with his services, Mr. Jeffries said.

Favors Civil Service.

T. C. Miller, clerk of court, said that he has already reduced his force to the minimum for efficiency by eliminating three salaries which totaled $4,500 a year. Mr. Miller said that he recommends placing his employes on civil service so as to eliminate attendant chaos of reorganization if a new clerk is elected.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that work of his office has increased 100 per cent in 10 years, that the revenue has increased on a similar scale, and that operating expenses have not increased anywhere near in proportion. This year alone his office placed $180,000 in increased net income on the county's books, without increasing expenses, he said.

Private companies think nothing of hiring a $20,000-a-year man if he can give the service required, and private companies do not reduce salaries when their income is increased, Mr. Johnson pointed out. "Is it sound business policy to reduce the salaries of those who have increased the county's revenue?" he asked.

Takes Away Incentive.

"I will assume full responsibility before the people if you leave the same salaries in force," Mr. Johnson told the board. "If you reduce these salaries, you will take away incentive, lessen ambition and diminish service, which will be infinitely more expensive to the county. The human element enters into this thing. The employes have incurred obligations on the expectation of receiving certain salaries, and if those salaries are cut they will undergo serious hardships.

"Fulton county is the greatest and richest in the southeast. We have the lowest tax rate, assessments are fair and not objected to, and we have not one dollar of bonded indebtedness, in spite of political tricks to make the people believe you have broken the county financially. This county has grown from nothing 65 years ago to its present pre-eminence through a policy of progression."

Tax Collector W. S. Richardson pointed out that his office has collected 99 1-2 per cent of the digest each year of his administration, deducting errors and releases, and that he has the same number of employes now he had in 1925.

On the motion of Commisisoner Stewart, the board authorized the public works department to build a temporary bridge on Bohler road over Peachtree creek.

THREE CANDIDATES INDORSED AT RALLY OF THIRD WARDERS

E. Stevens, candidate for city council from the newly created 13th ward; Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., a candidate for the aldermanic post, and Ivan Cochran, aspirant for the position of school commissioner, were indorsed unanimously by a group of citizens from the North Boulevard Park and Morningside sections at a meeting held Friday night at the clubhouse at Piedmont park.

The session was held under the auspices of the Boulevard Park Woman's Club, and many spoke praising those whom they favored in the races.

Speakers declared that voters of the 13th ward favor these three candidates and that citizens of Atlanta should be told of that choice in order that they might co-operate with 13th warders in selecting representatives acceptable to them.

No one was indorsed for the second councilmanic post. Among those who spoke at the meeting were D. M. Berry, president of the North Boulevard Park Civic League; Dr. H. L. Parks, Walter N. Gallaher, president of the Fourth Ward Civic Association; W. H. Harrison, secretary of a group of civic organizations in the northern section of Atlanta, and Lever Richardson.

Both Mr. Stevens and Mr. Cochran attended the meeting.

WIFE LEFT HIM BECAUSE HE'S COP, WANTS DIVORCE

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Where Mrs. Lovina Williamson made her mistake was in believing that "copper" meant what Webster says it does.

Before Mrs. Williamson became Mrs. Williamson she inquired of Virgil R. Williamson how he made his money. It was fair enough inquiry, for he had asked her hand in marriage.

And so they were married, January 6, 1926.

Mrs. Williamson's lawyer explained that she had left her husband because she found out that "copper" did not refer to the stock market.

STRAIN OF CORN RESISTING BORER IS DEVELOPED

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Development of a strain of corn which resists the ravages of the European corn borer has been announced by A. R. Marston, superintendent of the Michigan corn borer experimental station at Monroe, Mich.

In an address before the Entomological Society of Ontario yesterday Mr. Marston said Maize Amargo, a South American strain, had been cross bred with Duncan, Golden Glow and red cob ensilage strains and then inbred to produce a corn which was immune to the corn borer.

After three years experimenting, he said, the strain had proved 100 per cent resistant when planted with alternate rows of corn infested with the parasite.

Five years would be required, he said before the new strain would be available for general planting.

NEW KELVINATOR LINE ANNOUNCED

Ice-O-Thermic Tube Controls Automatic Action.

The Kelvinator Corporation, Detroit, announces a new line of domestic electric refrigerators. The line consists of 12 self-contained models in sizes and capacities to meet the needs of every modern home. There are five de luxe, four standard and three utility models. All of the new models will be equipped with the new ice-o-thermic tubes.

These tubes are an exclusive Kelvinator feature, fully protected by pending application for patents. The super-automatic ice-o-thermic tube is a simple device which automatically changes the load as it rises up and down inside the refrigerator. It is really a governor, and is to the Kelvinator what the governor is to a steam engine.

Officials of the company state, "When you slip a tray of water into the sleeve with ice-o-thermic tubes, the whole Kelvinator mechanism goes into operation and concentrates its effort on the one job of freezing that tray of water or dessert, without in the least affecting the temperature of the other compartments in the Kelvinator. When the ice cubes or desserts are frozen, automatic Kelvinator stops running. All the while there is the normal freezing of ice cubes in the remaining trays. Also, the maintenance of cold storage temperature, below freezing, in the cold storage department, and the 40 or 50-degree temperature throughout the food chambrs."

All of the cabinets of the de luxe, standard and utility models are of new design, and are of massive, sturdy appearance with heavy door construction, artistically designed hardware in modernistic style. The cabinets are beautifully proportioned, and are at a low convenient height to give the maximum degree of accessibility and convenience. All porcelain panels are separated by rubber trim strips, which not only blend harmoniously with the design, but protect the porcelain. Latches are of the trigger type, closing with the slightest touch. Provision is made for lock if desired. The rubber ice trays which proved so popular in the past, will be retained in the new line. A glass defrosting tray at the bottom of the freezing compartment is standard on all models.

SOUTH CAROLINA TO ISSUE $10,000,000 IN HIGHWAY BONDS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 22.—Decision to issue $10,000,000 state bonds as quickly as possible as a part of the $65,000,000 highway bond issue authorized by the last legislature, was reached at a conference of highway officials at the governor's office today. Bids on the issue are to be opened December 17.

Following the sale of the bonds the highway program as set out in the act will be pushed forward.

ATLANTA TO PLAY HOST TO OREGON FOOTBALL TEAM

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and the city of Atlanta will be official hosts December 3 to the Oregon football team, which will arrive here that day en route to Miami to play the University of Florida December 7.

John J. McEwan, coach, notified Mr. Ragsdale that the group would arrive at 7 o'clock in the morning and plans to spend the entire day here.

Miss Stegall Elected Queen Of 122d Ball

In addition to being official sponsor of the 122d Georgia National Guard at its benefit show, ball and sham battle, to be presented at the city auditorium Wednesday night, Miss Thelma Stegall will be queen of the ball, it was announced Friday.

Plans contemplate the most elaborate effort ever made by the 122d to acquaint the public with its activities, and every one of the 13 companies will vie for honors in a competitive drill and for the handsome silver loving cup offered as a prize to the best drilled company.

Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe, commander, and a special committee of officers are in direct charge of the affair and will leave no stone unturned to assure presentation of an excellent entertainment.

Students of the Boyd School of Dancing will offer several new military steps to patrons of the performance. There also will be a special chorus of young girls in a burlesque act on the offering of the dancers.

CREDIT MEN PLAN DECEMBER DRIVE FOR LOCAL QUOTA

Credit crooks and fences are closely watching the campaign of the National Association of Credit Men to raise the new $1,750,000 credit protection fund, P. M. Millians, president of the Atlanta association, declared Friday at a meeting of the local preliminary subscriptions committee. The following members of this committee were present: H. E. Choate, F. B. Ramey, H. B. Collinsworth, J. H. Sutton, W. C. Lovejoy, H. D. Carter, J. F. Meador, F. R. Mitcherr, J. T. Laseter, W. R. DeLoach and P. M. Millians.

The intensive period of the campaign in the southeast will begin around December 4 under the direction of P. M. Millians. The local credit men are organizing to raise the Atlanta quota of $25,000 during the early part of December.

VETERAN OF '65, MISSING 52 YEARS, SOUGHT IN SOUTH

A Confederate veteran, missing from his home at Lexington, N. C., for 52 years, is being sought by his daughter, after she was approached by a man who stated that he knew her father and asked her to sign a paper. She refused, but the search was resumed for her father, John D. Swing.

For a long while the search was kept alive for the missing man, but in later years hope faded and the hunt was abandoned in the belief that Mr. Swing was dead. However, hope has now been revived by the approach of the stranger, who though giving no definite information, stated that the veteran was still alive. Newspapers over the south have been asked to help locate the man.

Col. Caello To Represent Cuban President on Tour

Colonel Julio Morales Coello, naval aide to General Jaredo Machado, president of the Cuban republic, Friday was named by the executive as his personal representative on the Cuban good-will tour to Atlanta in December, Harry O. Mitchell, district manager of the department of commerce, was advised by cable early Friday night.

It also was learned that the youngest daughter of General Machado, Senora Rafael Jorge Sanchez expects to join the party here December 5. Her husband is now in New York city.

The president, who is unable to accompany the delegation, has named Senor Rafael Martinez Ybor, consul-general of the republic, as official representative of the Cuban government, Mr. Mitchell was informed. Senor Ybor will visit the Cuban consulates in Miami, Jacksonville and Atlanta during the trip.

Entertainment Plans.

Tentative arrangements for the entertainment of the party, which will include some of Cuba's distinguished political, diplomatic and commercial figures, went rapidly ahead Friday with a harmonious meeting of the executive committee, composed of the chairmen of the various committees engaged in arranging a typical southern welcome.

Among some of the more distinguished leaders who are coming in the party are Colonel Eugenio Silva, one of Havana's leading sportsmen, with Senora Silva and daughters; Dr. Juan Luis Rodriguez, sports committee chairman of the Havana Yacht Club; Captain Adalberto Gimenez, aide to the chief of staff of the army, and Senora Giminez; Dr. Gustavo Tomeu, president of the Havana Yacht Club; Senor Julio Forcade, prominent broker, and his wife; Ramon Crusellas, president of the National Perfume Company; Emetrio Lorilla, president Polar Brewery Company, and Wifredo H. Brito, a leading Havana barrister. The last three are members of the Havana city council.

Representatives of all Havana newspapers, athletic teams from the Cuban Athletic Club and the Havana Yacht Club, 40 cadets from the Cuban "West Point" and 10 beautiful senoritas will also accompany the party here.

Carry News Over Radio.

Messages from Havana Friday to the Atlanta committee announced that radios of the Plaza hotel and of the Cuban Telephone Company are broadcasting announcements about the good-will tour each night, keeping Atlanta before the Cuban public.

Reception of the distinguished party will begin with its arrival at Macon, where a special committee, composed of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, B. S. Barker, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Frank Reynolds, prominent hotel man, will meet the party and relieve it of all details concerning baggage and hotel accommodations.

Arriving in Atlanta, this special committee will be augmented by other high state and city officials and an honorary guard of 300 Georgia Military academy cadets in full dress uniform. The academy is the original sponsor of the athletic meets to be held between its teams and Cuban athletic teams.

Apart from athletics, a round of receptions, dances, teas, theater parties and sight-seeing trips has been planned for the visitors under direction of Mrs. John M. Slaton, wife of a former governor of Georgia. She has enlisted the aid of a number of Atlanta debutantes in carrying out this social program.

The committee announced Friday that Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, will act as toastmaster at the banquet to be tendered the visitors on the night of December 5. Publication of a souvenir program, to contain pictures of high Cuban and Georgia officials, is planned, it was added.

ALLEGED LIQUOR CAR PILOT GIVEN TERM FOR THEFT

Convicted of larceny of an automobile, Cecil Stroud Friday received a sentence of from two and a half to five years, in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court. The car is said to have been stolen from Mrs. Mary B. Murray. Testimony was that Stroud was arrested while using the stolen car as a pilot automobile for a whisky runner.

ALLEGED DRIVER IN FATAL CRASH INDICTED BY JURY

Robert Marable was indicted Friday by the Fulton grand jury for involuntary manslaughter in the death of A. C. McClain who was killed by an automobile at Washington and Richardson streets on November 18. Marable also was indicted on misdemeanor charges of leaving the scene of an accident without giving his name and address, and driving a car without a license.

Better Than Whiskey For Bad Colds

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold remedy they have ever tried.

To get rid of that cold, step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspironal, the liquid cold remedy, and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite and expect you to try it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest, most effective, easiest to take and the most agreeable cold remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. All druggists carry and guarantee Aspironal, the largest selling liquid cold remedy in the world. (adv.)

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Wheat somersaulted backward in price today, reversing a lively upward jump earlier. It was surmised by some observers that heavy selling which broke out here and at Liverpool toward the last was due to letting go of large speculative holdings, advantage being taken of persistent unfavorable crop advices both from Argentina and Australia. Besides, North American wheat export business today was uninspiring, the purchases for trans-Atlantic shipment totaling but 700,000 bushels.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1c to 1 1-2c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to 1-2c off, oats 1-4c to 3-8@1-2c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

At first the Chicago wheat market was dominated by early steep upturns of values at Liverpool that gave emphasis to reports of radically adverse crop conditions in the leading countries south of the equator. According to some dispatches, black rust was extending into Buenos Aires province, a section of Argentina which until now had escaped. Word from Australia was to the effect that the new crop exportable surplus there promised to be hardly half the amount which the previous crop had afforded. There also were reports that United States wheat at the Gulf of Mexico was commanding the highest premium yet on the 1929 crop.

All of a sudden, however, the tenor of much of the news began to change, and something of a rush of selling of wheat future deliveries set in here after announcement that the Liverpool market had undergone a break during the final trading there which practically wiped out gains. Simultaneously came assertions of a British trade authority that Argentina might still produce an average of 13 bushels per acre. Talk was heard, too, that Liverpool's failure to hold price advances today was due to heavy selling done there under orders from Chicago, possibly to close out so-called spreading operations with Winnipeg or this city. In any event, the net result was that final transactions here were almost the day's bottom level.

Corn gave evidence of weakness apart from the effect of wheat market downturns. The action of corn was largely ascribed to selling from western sources and to widespread cold, clear weather favorable for shelling operations and to an increased movement of the corn crop. Oats weakened with corn.

Provisions tended upward, responsive to higher prices on hogs.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Raw sugar was firmer today with prices advancing 1-16c to the basis of 3.77 for spots duty paid, sales confirmed included 30,000 bags of uncontrolled Cuban late yesterday at 3.71 and 30,000 bags of Porto Rican and 25,000 bags of Cuban today at 3.77, all to local refiners.

The co-operative agency in Cuba received bids of 3.77 from United States buyers for about 100,000 bags of Cuban for November-December shipment and of 3.76 up to 1.80 f. o. b. Cuba from European buyers for about 170,000 tons for January to March shipment, but all were refused, with no sales reported.

Active covering in advance of first December notice day on Monday was responsible for the firmer ruling of raw futures and although full advances were not maintained, the market closed with net gains of 3 to 4 points. The market opened unchanged to 1 point higher and at one time was 3 to 5 points above the previous close with considerable buying by houses with trade and Cuban connections, as well as covering influenced by the steadier tone to the spot market. Offerings increased on the upturn, however, and partial reactions followed near the close. Trading was quite active but most of it was in the way of covering in advance of first December notice day and exchanging from the near to the more distant position. Approximate sales 41,800 tons. December closed 2.01, January 2.05, March 2.08, May 2.13, July 2.23 and September 2.28.

Refined was unchanged at 5.00 for fine granulated with demand again light and of a hand-to-mouth character.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The New York Stock Exchange, Curb Exchange and other leading security markets of the country will be closed tomorrow to permit completion of the work resulting from the heavy trading of two weeks ago.

The number of business failures in the United States this week totaled 472, compared with 406 last week and 476 for the corresponding period last year, R. G. Dun Co. reports. It was explained that the number of insolvencies usually has an upward trend toward the close of the year.

The United States & International Securities Corporation has notified holders of its first preferred stock allotment certificates that the payment of the third instalment of 25 per cent of the allotment price has been postponed to March 1, 1930. The payment was due December 2.

Plans to expand the company's operations in the orient were given as the reason for increasing the capitalization of the Texas Company of China from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. The company, a subsidiary of the Texas Company, was formed only a few months ago.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed easy, 15 points down, at 16.90.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—An opening decline in cotton today was followed by a recovery on reports of unfavorable southern weather, but prices weakened again under renewed liquidation coupled with some southern and local selling. January contracts declined from 17.65 to 17.48 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 14 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 5 to 10 points under a resumption of yesterday's selling movement and liquidation or local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. These early offerings were readily absorbed by covering and trade buying, and some local buying on reports of unfavorable weather for saving late cotton in the south. December sold up from 17.37 to 17.52 while May advanced from 18.11 to 18.20 with active months generally selling back to about yesterday's closing quotations. The demand appeared to have been fairly well supplied at these figures, however, and the market eased off later under renewed realizing or liquidation combined with more southern selling. December declined to 17.32 and May to 18.00 with the active months generally showing net losses of 14 to 21 points and closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest.

Much of the day's business was again connected with the evening-up of December contracts in anticipation of notices next Monday. Spot house brokers continued to be buyers of December, partly against sales of later months, and there was considerable switching from December to later deliveries without much change in differences between months, although at the close December was 81 points under July compared with a difference of 77 points at the close of the previous day.

Reports of rather a reactionary tone in the grain and stock markets and the failure of the unfavorable weathers news to stimulate a more general demand were probably factors on the afternoon decline. Liverpool cables said continental buying had been supplied by liquidation and American selling in that market. Exports for the day 23,735, making 3,029,912 so far this season. Port receipts 45,360. United States port stocks 2,496,476.

NEW ORLEANS LOSES 19 TO 24.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Cotton prices worked about $1 lower a bale today in sluggish trading restricted mainly to liquidation of the December position in advance of Monday, first notice day for that month. Prices were on the downgrade for practically the entire session despite rather bullish weekly statistics. January contracts declined to 17.43 and closed at that figure for a net loss of 20 points. The general market closed steady at net declines of 19 to 24 points.

Liverpool cables were six points lower than due, but initial transactions here showed declines of only 1 to 3 points, the market being sustained by the unfavorable weather in the belt. Offerings increased after the start, however, due to December liquidation and at noon that month traded at 17.43, January 17.55, and March 17.83, or 8 points down from yesterday's close.

Following a slight rally on the bullishly constructed weekly statistics, the market weakened again under renewed liquidation and continued to ease off for the remainder of the session. The lows of the day were reached in final trading and last prices were a point or two above the lowest with December at 17.29, and March at 17.71, or 19 to 21 points net lower.

Receipts 62,480; for week 283,057; for year 5,350,212; last year 5,389,615; exports 14,372; for week 256,648; for year 2,942,454; last year 3,218,657. Stocks 2,530,999; last year 2,260,962. Brisk Trading Sees Gains Outnumbered by Declines

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Erratic price movements characterized today's curb market as a result of the heavy week-end readjustment of speculative accounts. Final quotations were decidedly irregular, with losses outnumbering declines in the active issues. Trading was moderately heavy in volume.

The curb exchange decided to follow the action of the "big board" in resuming five-hour sessions for the first half of next week, and declaring a holiday for the last half.

In the public utility group, American Light & Traction jumped 10 1-2 points on a few sales and Northern States Power "A," Duke Power, and Nevada California Electric moved up 3 to 4 points, while American Gas & Electric dropped 5 and Allied Power, Dixie Gas, Italian Superpower, Long Island Lighting, and Standard Power & Light yielded 1 to 4 points. Electric Bond & Share closed fractionally lower after moving within a range of 4 1-2 points Cities Service showed a small fractional gain.

New York Investors and Niagara Shares each advanced more than 3 points but other investment trust and trading corporation issues such as Blue Ridge preferred, Insull Utilities Investors, Lehman Corporation and Sisto Financial lost a point or more, Graymur yielded only fractionally on the publication of a report showing a sharp depreciation in liquidating value.

Oils moved irregularly higher. Cosden rallied 4 points and Plymouth 1 3-8. Humble slipped back a point, Standard Oil of Kentucky failed to make any response to the declaration of an extra dividend of 40 cents.

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea jumped 35 points on a few sales. Daniel Reeves was marked up 3 1-4 points on a small turnover. Newmont Mining and Pender Grocery "B" each fell about 5 points.

"DIVORCONS" PROVED AMBITIOUS UNDERTAKING FOR CAST

By Mme. Pompon.

CYPRIENNE DES PRUNELLES, as played Thursday evening by Miss Ernestine Hornady, was a very capricious young lady as naive as ingenuous and as changeable as possible and so pretty (especially in her pink shawl fringed negligee) that the audience was more than content to watch her performance without the least disposition to criticize—if there had been any occasion to do this—and with but inclination to leave when the show was over. The night was cold. The floor of the auditorium of the Atlanta Civic theater is of brick which happens to be the latest thing in New York for English basement houses—especially among the very swagger who live on Sutton place and thereabouts. Though stylish the brick floor grew chilly as the evening progressed. Parts of the audience gathered to toast their toes at the beaming gas radiator between acts. It was all as intimate and cosy as possible—a congenial group, a sort of artistic play-loving and play-producing family informally gathered together among most picturesque surroundings and united by a sincere interest in the true drama in any and all of its forms.

"DIVORCONS," a three-act comedy by Victorien Sardou and Emile de Najac, was an ambitious undertaking for the cast of the Civic theater of Atlanta. It is one of those old plays that can never be anything but new, since the situations used are those constantly recurring in human life. Cyprienne was an imaginative young woman who found husbands very dull and lovers very entertaining, who wanted a divorce and who, when one was handed to her on a silver platter, didn't want one at all.

Pendleton Mitchell, as Henri des Prunelles, became more and more convincing as the play progressed. Ashton Chapman, as the cynical Clavignac, gave great satisfaction, and the roles of Madame de Brionne, Mademoiselle de Lusignan and of Madame de Valfontaine played respectively by Ethel Neel Shiflet, Dorothy Moran and Elinor Hillyer, were all delightfully amusing and, as presented, not lacking in stagecraft. The performance swept along in the gayest tempo. The White Barn is a small theater, but, in its way, a complete one. The stage is larger than that used by the Studio Club. The seating capacity by no means so extensive.

IT WAS interesting to observe with what ingenuity the stage dressing rooms (as minute as possible) had been cut off, one on one side and one on the other, from the small area that had to accommodate everything behind the scenes; how (even more cleverly) the scenery had been adapted to afford entrances and exits at different points where there was no space to exit into, only the merest squeezing corners in which to stand until another cue came along. The scenery and stage settings by Eugene Jones were decidedly good. But how (one could but wonder) and where did Mr. Jones so mysteriously secrete the sofas and chairs and other things that had to come on and off the stage when apparently there was no place anywhere to secrete them in? Little details of this kind, however, are mere bagatelles to the producer who really loves his work, merely a part of a delightful game, however baffling they may appear to others. Thursday evening witnesses the third and last performance of "Divorcons." Other plays will be presented by the Civic theater of Atlanta at the White Barn playhouse as the season progresses.

VISITORS, BRIDES-ELECT, DEBS, SUB-DEBS TO BE HONORED

Today's Calendar Brimming With Many Social Affairs

Today's calendar is brimming with important social gaieties featuring luncheons, dinners, dances, birthday celebrations, teas and other informal affairs honoring visitors, debutantes and brides-elect. Miss Florence Hoffecker, of Richmond, Va., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Candler at their Lullwater road home in Druid Hills will be central figure at the supper party given by her hosts, and Mrs. Samuel F. Boykin has chosen to honor a trio of debutantes, Misses Sara Law, Myra Boynton and Susette Heath, at a buffet luncheon given at her West Andrews drive residence, while another group of debs, Misses Boyce Lokey, Leila Mason and Myra Boynton, share honors at Miss Mary Phillips Orme's seated tea given at the Piedmont Driving Club. Mr. and Mrs. Marcus M. Emmert have planned their dinner party at the Driving Club around that little blonde debutante, Miss Peggy Poindexter, inviting 35 or 40 belles and beaux to meet the guest of honor. Two attractive and popular sub-debs, Misses Margaret McCarty and Jule McClatchey, will be central figures at the dancing party given at the Club de Vingt on Peachtree street this evening by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rucker McCarty and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McClatchey, who have invited quite a number of the younger set of society to meet their schoolgirl daughters.

Older members of Atlanta society will motor to Stone Mountain to partake of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Priestley Orme at "Mont Rest," their home nestled at the foot of this famous monolith, where an oyster roast will be staged in celebration of Mr. Orme's birthday anniversary. Misses Martha Hamilton, Thomasine Vickers, Louise Bedell, Laurie Cone, Margaret Bostwick and Ruth Crane, a sextette of brides-elect, will be complimented at luncheon and teas given by Misses Louise Seaborn, Sue Perry, Mrs. Charles Cone, Cleo Bradley, Frances Johnson and Frances Smith. The fashionables will not lack in affairs of cultural and literary nature, as the Every Saturday Club, one of the oldest and most outstanding organizations in Atlanta, will be entertained by Mrs. John M. Slaton at "Wingfield," her Peachtree road estate. Listed on the club roster are the following names of notable and prominent women, including Mesdames Joseph R. Lamar, Price Gilbert, Elizabeth T. Winship, the president; George E. Blake, Francis C. Block, W. W. Brooks, Henry Davis, H. M. Fairley, J. J. Gonzales, James H. Hamilton, Frank M. Inman, Charles J. Haden, Samuel B. Lumpkin, Barbour Thompson, T. C. Whitner, John M. Slaton and Samuel Sibley, of Marietta.

Mrs. Tye Entertains Service Star Legion.

Service Star Legion of Atlanta and Fulton county met with Mrs. John L. Tye last Tuesday and Mrs. Marcus Beck reported on the special patriotic occasions in which the members had recently participated; the meeting with National Disabled American Veterans Commander Murphy and his party at the memorial at Pershing Point, where he spoke of the debt owed the boys who went over. He placed a beautiful wreath at the foot of the monument. Dr. High Moor led in prayer followed by "taps" played by a D. A. V. bugler.

At the Armistice gathering on Armistice Day at Pershing Point the Service Star Legion was joined by the commander of the American Legion and each member placed flowers in remembrance after which they proceeded to the Peachtree Christian church and listened to an Armistice Day sermon by Dr. L. O. Bricker. The chapter co-operated with the American Legion Armistice Day and voted an Armistice Day contribution to the national organization. Mesdames George Sciple and George Camp will offer prizes to the schools for Flag Day essays, a custom instituted by the beloved Mrs. Sam Jones, who died while president of the Service Star Legion. Mrs. L. P. Rosser reported on the condition of D. A. V.'s that were sent from Hospital 48 to Lake City. Each Georgia boy will be remembered at Christmas by the chapter and money is also sent each month for comforts. It was voted that the chapter care for three needy families this month. Mrs. H. G. Hastings has been made director of all the southern states at the national convention. Mrs. Hastings, as president of the chapter, reported the national convention held in Pittsburgh in October. Mrs. Hastings talked over the radio from KDKA during the convention, representing all southern chapters.

Story Division Holds Meeting.

The short story division of the Atlanta Writers' Club meets with Mrs. G. L. Washington, 47 Peachtree place, N. E., at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 24. There will be an open discussion of the modern short story form with particular reference to work already accomplished by the members, and their plans for the future. Members of the Atlanta Writers' Club interested in the short story are invited.

Pi Omicron Holds Meeting.

Alpha Chapter of the Pi Omicron Society met in the Pine room of the Ansley hotel Wednesday evening. Mrs. Bertie Robinson, acting as chairman, in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. M. Johnson, presided. Those taking part in the interesting program were Misses Mary R. Allen, Adella Bellah, Martha Burns, Marianne McClellan, Eva Brinkley, Etta Rhamstine, Mary Sitton, Mesdames Mable W. Mizell, Katherine Massey, Anne W. Richards, and Richard Battle.

The Pi Omicron, which was recently organized in Atlanta, is an outgrowth of the adult educational movement and is in cellebration with the University Guild. It numbers among its membership some of the outstanding women of the city who realize the need of cultural study and who appreciate the advantage of sorority associations. The next program, which is scheduled for December 21, will be selections from the leading short story writers and the most impressive facts about their lives.

Red Cross Classes Begin December 2.

New classes in home hygiene and care of the sick will begin at the Red Cross headquarters, 289 Peachtree street, Monday morning, December 2, and there will be 15 hour lessons in the course. The classes are open to all women in the city limits free of charge, and registration can be made by calling Walnut 9212. Miss Gail McDonald, well-known Red Cross nurse, will teach the classes.

Mrs. E. T. Winship Honors Mrs. Caldwell.

Mrs. E. T. Winship was hostess at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, honoring Mrs. Bernard Caldwell, of Knoxville, Tenn., the guest of Mrs. J. J. Hooper.

Benefit Bridge To Be Given.

For the purpose of aiding the World War Disabled Veterans, a benefit bridge will be given by the Young Matrons' Service Star Legion Monday evening, November 25, at the Atlanta Biltmore at 8 o'clock. Specialty dances will be given by Madam La Fontaine's dancing pupils, and attractive gifts will be awarded. For reservations phone Mrs. Bernard Neal, president, Hemlock 7771-W.

Miss Ruth Brooke To Be Presented At E. Rivers School

Miss Ruth Brooke will be presented in a dance-recital by the fine arts department of the E. Rivers school auditorium on Peachtree road Tuesday evening, November 26, at 8 o'clock. Miss Brooke is the teacher of dancing and comedias in the fine arts department of the E. Rivers school. A most interesting demonstration of the work will be held following a beautiful program of dancing and other musical numbers. Atlanta's youthful virtuoso violinist, James Dela Fuente, from the class of Charles Frye, of the Atlanta conservatory, will honor the occasion by playing four of his most popular numbers, "Barcarolle," by Francis McMillan; "Rofanza Andiluza," by Sarasate; "Romance" and "Polonaise," by Winiawski. James Fuente won the first prize in the city-state-southeastern contest held by the Georgia Federation Music Club.

Mrs. Laura Lombard, accompanied by Mrs. Helene Vaughn, will sing a group of songs, the numbers to be announced later. Mrs. Lombard has lately moved to Atlanta from Memphis and her fine soprano voice adds another artist to Atlanta's musical circles. The "minuet" will be read and interpreted in a dance by Miss Brooke dressed in an elegant silk cape, a part of her great-grandmother's trousseau. Other interpretations of the dance by Miss Brooke in costume will be "A La Bien-Aimee," by Shutt, a Grecian dance; "The Magic Song," by Meyer-Helmund, a tap dance to popular music, and two Spanish numbers, "La Spagnola," by Chirra, and "El Choclo," by Villoldo. She will be accompanied by Miss Ione Cail, a pupil of Charles Beaton, of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music.

Miss Brooke received diplomas from the Sea Pines School of Personality in Massachusetts, and from Perry-Mansfield Professional School of Dancing and Dramatics in Colorado. The types of dancing being featured by Miss Brooke are the new German technique, plastiques, toe, tap, ballet, dance pantomime, ballroom dance steps and national and character dances.

Miss Davison Is Honored.

Mrs. George Walter Rowbotham and her debutante daughter, Miss Ruth Rowbotham, were hostesses at a buffet luncheon yesterday at their home on Brookhaven drive, in compliment to Miss Betty Davison, charming debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont Davison. Mrs. Rowbotham and Miss Rowbotham were assisted in receiving by Miss Davison and Mrs. Charles G. Evans, Mrs. J. Thompson Williams and Mrs. William L. Percy.

Invited to meet Miss Davison were Misses Catherine Norcross, Martha Worth Rogers, Sally Pearson, Frances Barnett, Augusta Porter, Phoebe Ellis, Marion Wolff, Boyce Lokey, Helena Callaway, Betty Davison, Myra Boynton, Frances Spalding, Sara Law, Katherine Howell, Susette Heath, Grace Powell, Jane Dillon, Ruth Rowbotham, Eugenia Morris, of New York; Peggy Poindexter, Adeline Winston, Boots Walker, Leila Mason, Elizabeth Branch, Helen Beasley, Lena Knox, Frances Howard, Mary Dodd, Elizabeth Dodd, Adair McCarley, Margaret Kelley, Littell Funkhouser and Vinita Anderson, of Nelson, Ga.

Rhododendron Club Holds Meeting.

The Rhododendron Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cleve Webb, 1235 Albermarle avenue, N. E. Mrs. Webb and Miss Mary Kent were hostesses.

The program featured literature, this being National Book Week. Mrs. Lamont Myers, chairman, introduced Mrs. C. W. McClure, president of the Alpha Omega Delphian chapter, who spoke on literature. Others on the programe with Mrs. McClure were Mrs. W. O. Slate, Mrs. M. L. Holmes and Mrs. Lamont Myers. Mrs. S. R. Ward became affiliated with the Rhododendron Club at this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Stokes Mark Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Stokes will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with an "open house" from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at their home, 851 Oak street. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes have made their home in Atlanta for a number of years and are well known here to a wide circle of friends.

Assembling with Mr. and Mrs. Stokes Sunday will be their sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Harrison, of Rockmart; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harrison, of Cedartown; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morgan, Mrs. A. H. Miss Russell Weds Eustis Stewart At Quiet Home Marriage Rites

The marriage of Miss Pauline Russell, of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Eustis C. Stewart, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rainey Williams, on Golf circle, Rev. Richard Orme Flinn performing the ceremony in the presence of a small group of relatives and friends.

The home was artistically decorated with quantities of ferns, palms, chrysanthemums and roses. The ceremony was performed in the living room before the mantel, which was decorated in ferns and seven-branched cathedral candelabra holding white tapers and alternating with wicker baskets filled with white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Williams acted as her sister's matron of honor and wore orange-covered chiffon fashioned with uneven hemline. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and valley lilies. Eliott Stewart acted as his brother's best man.

The bride entered with her father, Clarence Harvey Russell, of Oklahoma City, by whom she was given in marriage. She was gowned in a smart model of blonde satin, the waist being finished with a bertha lined with brown chiffon and the ankle length skirt fashioned with uneven hemline. Her hat was a felt model to match, and she carried a bouquet of orchids, showered with valley lilies.

Mrs. Russell, mother of the bride, was gowned in black satin trimmed with real lace, and her corsage was of roses and valley lilies.

The wedding cake was arranged as the central decoration on the table in the dining room and was placed on a mound of roses and valley lilies. Encircling this were tall pink tapers in silver candlesticks. Mrs. William Huntt was in charge of the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left on a motor trip and upon their return will be at home temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Williams until they take possession of their apartment.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell and possesses charming personality and beauty. She finished her education at Ferry's school in Chicago, and since then has traveled extensively.

Mr. Stewart is a native of Gadsden, Ala., and for the past several years has made his home in Atlanta. He attended Washington and Lee University, where he was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He is associated in business with the American Bakeries Company.

GEORGE MUSE CLOTHING CO.

THAN SOUTHERN FRUIT CAKE

IT CERTAINLY solves a lot of problems on your Christmas list to give your friends and family Southern Fruit Cakes. Give one to Aunt Sue, who disapproves of perfume; to Cousin Jane, who is such an expert at cookery herself and will especially appreciate the virtue of this cake. Or to those inconvenient men who don't smoke.

You can buy them in sizes from one pound up to five pounds, and the larger ones come in wonderful tins. And you may be certain it soon will be all eaten up. For never was there a cake so popular.

Into it go the finest ingredients the world affords. Citron from Italy and spices from far-off tropic lands. Marvelous cherries from the finest orchards of France. Pineapple from Hawaii. And, in the light fruit cake, quantities of our own southern pecans.

Truly you could find no more welcome gift. Nor one more certain to please anyone to whom you give it. You can buy Southern Fruit Cake, either light or dark, at nearly any grocer's.

Dr. W. D. Furry Will Address Founders' Meeting

Dr. W. D. Furry, president of Shorter College, Rome, will address the annual luncheon meeting of the Shorter College Alumnae, of Atlanta, to be held at 12:30 o'clock today at the Atlanta Athletic Club as a feature of Founders' Day. Prominent women from alumnae organizations throughout the state will attend. Talks will also be made by Miss Mildred Mell, dean of the college; Governor Hardman, president of the board of trustees; Mrs. Luke McDonald, of Rome, president of the Alumnae Association; Miss Louise Bennett, field secretary.

Founders' Day marks the birthday of Alfred Shorter, who made the original gift of the college to the women of this section in the year 1877. The observance this year will be more general than ever before, hundreds of alumnae paying tribute. At 3:30 o'clock the half-hour radio program will begin and at that hour meetings of branches will be held wherever organized, and in other localities alumnae will assemble in small groups to listen in.

Miss Hanna Cohen Weds Mr. Cheretan.

The marriage of Miss Hannah Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Cohen, to Avery Burt Cheretan, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Cheretan, of Saginaw, Mich., was solemnized Saturday, November 17, at the home of the bride's parents, 481 Washington street. Rabbis Harry Epstein, T. Geffen and Cantor A. Lipitz performed the ceremony in the presence of friends and relatives.

The improvised altar in the music room, where the ceremony was performed, was banked with palms, luxuriant greenery against which stood tall baskets of white chrysanthemums, flanked with seven-branched candelabra which shed a soft glow over the scene. Preceding the ceremony an appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Louis Rittenbaum, accompanied by Louis Rittenbaum.

The lovely bride, who descended the stairs, to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march was accompanied by her parents who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white wedding ring velvet, her bridal bouquet was composed of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Rose Isenberg, of Macon, Ga., was maid of honor, and only attendant of the bride, and wore a gown of coral chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses, and little Miss Gertrude Cohen, sister of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a pale green chiffon, over pink. Harry Cheretan, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony dinner was served and the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. Cheretan, Saginaw, Mich.; Mrs. M. Goodman, Detroit, Mich.; Harry Cheretan, Miss Florence Cheretan, also of Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. S. Isenberg, of Gordon, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Fogel, Macon; Miss Rose Isenberg, Macon; Mr. and Mrs. A. Levy, of Lithonia, Ga.; Miss Miriam Smith, New York; Joe Isenberg, Knoxville, Tenn.; William G. Smith, Birmingham, Ala., and A. Smith, Spartanburg, S. C.

Writers' Club Holds Meeting.

The dinner program of the Atlanta Writers' Club last Thursday evening assembled a number of Atlanta writers, as well as distinguished visitors. Miss Agnes Kendrick Gray, vice president of the club, presided in the absence of Daniel Whitehead Hicky, the president. C. L. Styles by Annette Paris—New York

SLEEK SIMPLICITY.

It's quite possible to dress well even on a modest budget by choosing the correct styles and fabrics. For instance here is a dress of black sheer velvet with new chic femininity noted in Alencon ecru lace scarf collar and cuffs in deep ecru shade.

It's lines are unusually smart, with extremely snug hipline achieved through shaped yoke. Graceful swing to silhouette is created by circular skirt fitted through upper part with fluttering fulness at hem.

It's easily made at a moderate cost. It's a dress that can be worn to town, for luncheon, tea, bridge or Sunday evenings.

Style No. 397 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It is made with 3 1-4 yards of 40-inch material with 1-2 yard of 36-inch contrasting in the medium size.

Black wool crepe with collar and tie which by the way cut all in one, made of white crepe satin which is also used for cuffs, is exclusive for all-day wear.

Address orders to Annette Fashion Dept., care The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

The Blackfriars To Present Play.

The dramatic club of Agnes Scott College, "The Blackfriars," will present Rachel Crother's "Expressing Willie," at 8 o'clock this evening, in the college auditorium. This comedy will be the first number on their winter season of well known Broadway favorites. "The Blackfriars" are well known among college dramatic circles for their character studies as well as for the presentation of their original plays. They have achieved national fame through contesting for the Belasco prize in New York and are ably directed by Miss Frances K. Gooch, professor of English at the college. The cast includes Misses Mildred McCalip, Julia Thompson, Belle Ward Stowe, Augusta Dunbar, Mary Louise Thames, Shirley McPhaul, Carrington Owen, Weesa Chandler, Margaret Ogden and Marguerite Gerard.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

It may be but the merest glance
That finds for you the needed chance.
—Unc' Billy Possum.

Farmer Brown's Boy had caught Unc' Billy Possum. Now that he had him, he was undecided what to do with him. Of course, you know just as well as I do that Farmer Brown's Boy had no intention of hurting Unc' Billy. He thinks too much of his little friends in feathers and fur to want to hurt them in the least. He is their friend, just as I hope that you will always be their friend.

"Well, Unc' Billy," said Farmer Brown's Boy, "you are pretty good. Yes, sir, you are pretty good. If I didn't know you of old, I would think that you actually are dead. I suspect Flip thinks you are. I know Bowser doesn't. You and Bowser have met before and Bowser isn't one to have the same trick played on him twice. You haven't fooled Bowser a bit. I wonder how long you will keep it up. If it were not that I have to go to feed the hens, I would sit right down here and watch. But the hens are hungry. So am I. So I think we'll take you along with us and try our little experiment by and by."

Carrying Unc' Billy Possum by the tail, Farmer Brown's Boy started back for the barn to get some grain for the hens. Bowser trotted at his heels and Flip danced and pranced and jumped about him barking, for he was very much excited. So it was that they reached the barn. Farmer Brown's Boy looked around for a box into which to put Unc' Billy. A box was on top of a barrel. Farmer Brown's Boy laid Unc' Billy Possum on the head of another barrel standing alongside. Unc' Billy lay there perfectly limp. He certainly did look dead. Farmer Brown's Boy lifted the box down. As he did so, Unc' Billy seemed to just slip over back of the two barrels. Farmer Brown's Boy was so intent on his box that he didn't notice what Unc' Billy had done. When he turned to look for Unc' Billy he wasn't there.

Farmer Brown's Boy hastily looked around. Unc' Billy wasn't to be seen. Meanwhile Flip was barking excitedly and trying to force his way behind the two barrels. That told Farmer Brown's Boy what he wanted to know. "So that's where you've gone!" he exclaimed. "Well, we'll soon get you out of there."

He took hold of one of the barrels and rolled it to one side. There was no Unc' Billy to be seen. But there was a hole in the floor. Farmer Brown's Boy remembered then that that hole behind the two barrels had been there for some time. He had intended to fix it long ago. Unc' Billy Possum had just slipped through that hole and down under the barn. Farmer Brown's Boy ran out the backway and called Flip. There was an opening under the barn there. He sent Flip in to drive Unc' Billy Possum out. He could hear Flip barking excitedly underneath, but Unc' Billy didn't come out.

It was getting late and Farmer Brown's Boy had to go to feed the hens. Then he had to go in to breakfast. Flip was still under the barn, so Farmer Brown's Boy knew that Unc' Billy Possum was also still under the barn. When he came out after breakfast he could hear the muffled barking of Flip. If he could have seen underneath there, he would have discovered that Unc' Billy had climbed up on a beam, beyond the reach of Flip, and there was making himself very comfortable while he grinned down at Flip.

He had been very cunning. Yes sir, he had been very cunning, had Unc' Billy Possum. He had watched for his chance and he had taken it. He wasn't out of his troubles yet, but he wasn't a prisoner, and that was something.

Dr. Fraser has held some of the most important charges in the North Georgia conference and is regarded as one of its outstanding members. Among his assignments have been pastorates at Wesley Memorial Methodist, St. Paul and St. James in Augusta.

He will speak at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and again at 7:30 o'clock at night.

ORPHANAGE DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Thanksgiving Day is Orphanage Day for Atlanta Presbyterians with interest centering around Thornwell Orphanage of which Dr. L. R. Lynn is superintendent. Thornwell Orphanage, the oldest institution of its type in the Southern Presbyterian church, was founded by Dr. W. P. Jacobs, father of Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, and Dr. W. S. Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Houston, Texas.

An appeal is being made for the liquidation of the orphanage debt of $31,000. This institution, located at Clinton, S. C., is controlled by the synods of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. All pastors in these three states have received letters of appeal sent out by Dr. J. W. Caldwell, pastor the Westminster Presbyterian church, and Dr. J. G. Patton, College Park, Ga. These appeals set forth the wide scope of the work of Thornwell, showing how the institution develops the three-fold purpose of the home, school and the church.

THOS. MOONEY'S FATE LEFT TO PAROLE BOARD

California Governor Unable To Decide Guilt in 1916 'Frisco Bombing.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The fate of Thomas J. Mooney, who for years has protested from a prison cell that he is innocent of the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco which killed ten persons and injured many others, rested almost entirely today in the hands of the state parole board.

Governor C. C. Young indicated he would let the decision of the parole board be the final word in the case when he requested yesterday that it investigate and recommend action on Mooney's pardon appeal.

Governor Young said he had been blocked in a personal investigation by the unwillingness of witnesses to give information and also said he had been unable to form an opinion after months of study.

While the state supreme court considers the case of Warren K. Billings, convicted with Mooney for the bomb blast, the pardon board, consisting of Attorney-General U. J. Webb, Lieutenant-Governor H. L. Carnahan, James Johnson, director of the department of penology, and Wardens Court Smith, of Folsom prison, and James Holohan, of San Quentin prison, will be studying the Mooney case.

Billings has asked the supreme court for permission to appeal to the governor for a pardon.

Governor Young has expressed satisfaction in the turn of affairs brought about by Billings' move. He has felt that the Billings and Mooney cases were parallel and he has studied together the transcripts of the cases. They dovetail in many instances, he said.

The governor said the supreme court and pardon board would be able to make headway where he had failed because they could issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents.

Meanwhile, he will continue his own studies and investigations.

ATLANTA MAN KILLED BY AUTO IN SNOWSTORM

EL DORADO, Ark., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified man thought to be S. A. Crawley was found today in a snowdrift across the highway from where Luther Monday, of Atlanta, 35, was fatally injured last night during a snowstorm. The body bore evidence of injuries received when struck by an automobile, Sherriff J. A. Harman said, probably the same automobile which struck Monday.

P. Slack, admittedly the driver of the automobile which struck Monday, was notified and was on his way here to aid officers in establishing the cause of the second man's death.

Monday, a gasoline filling station operator, was filling the gasoline tank of an automobile identified as Crawley's when he was struck by Slack's car. Slack took Monday to a hospital here, but said over telephone today he did not know of the presence of any other person at the filling station.

A coroner's inquest will be held later today.

WEALTHY PLANTER GUILTY OF KILLING WIDOWED TENANT

HERNANDO, Miss., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Lloyd Morgan, 30, wealthy planter, was found guilty of first-degree murder with a recommendation for mercy by a jury here tonight. He was charged with killing Mrs. Mattie Sowell, widowed tenant on his plantation, over a debt of $1.53.

Sentence was not passed, but the court announced it would rule on a motion for a new trial at 10 a. m. tomorrow. If a new trial is denied, Morgan will be sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury deliberated only two hours, getting the case at 5:45 and returning the verdict at 7:50.

VISITORS BARRED AT 'HEALING TOMB' OF CATHOLIC PRIEST

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—William Cardinal O'Connell, of the Boston arch-diocese, announced today that the Holy Cross cemetery at Malden would be closed to all but funerals beginning Monday. The cemetery has been visited by thousands during the past few weeks following reports of miraculous cures at the grave of Rev. Patrick J. Power.

In a brief announcement the cardinal said that the cemetery would be closed until a thorough investigation had been made of the situation which has arisen as a result of the reported cures.

He added that he hoped the public would abstain from visiting the cemetery tomorrow and Sunday "so as to avoid the great inconvenience arising from such numerous crowds as have been gathering there lately, especially on Sundays and holy days."

President Proclaims Fifteenth Census; Asks Co-operation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Hoover issued a proclamation today for the fifteenth decennial census to begin next April first and called upon the country to give prompt and accurate responses to all inquiries in order to make "this great and necessary public undertaking a success."

The president said there need be no fear on the part of any citizen that there will be any disclosure of information divulged to census takers, pointing out that employes are under heavy penalty for permitting any information given them to become known.

ONE THANKSGIVING SERVICE BY GRACE SUNDAY CLASSES

All classes of the adult department of Grace Methodist church Sunday school will unite in special Thanksgiving services in the main church auditorium at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, it was announced Saturday by J. V. Wellborn, general superintendent.

The Rev. R. Z. Tyler, pastor, will speak on "Thanksgiving;" Former Mayor James L. Key, teacher of the Key Bible class, will lead in prayer. Special musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Tom Suttles and Mrs. J. C. King, of Grace choir. The Sunday school orchestra will play. Following the special service, each class will be conducted separately by its own teacher.

REV. W. H. MOON TO PREACH SUNDAY AT S. BOULEVARD

Rev. W. H. Moon, who recently was accepted into the Christian ministry, will preach at the South Boulevard Christian church at the morning service Sunday. His subject will be "Christian Motherhood." H. H. Campbell will deliver an address on "Why I Am a Christian Only," at the evening worship.

DEATHS IN CAPITAL EXPLOSION REACH SIX, OTHERS NEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The death list in the explosion under a 5 and 10-cent store yesterday rose to six today with the death of Mrs. Florence Darlington, aged 50, who succumbed to internal injuries.

Five others died within a few hours after the explosion and several other victims are believed by physicians to be near death.

HARD WORKING TIMBER MAN

Hopkinsville, Ky.—"I have been a user of Black-Draught for about twenty-four years, and it is about the only medicine I take at all," says Mr. Edgar Gamble, of 114 Fowler Avenue, this city.

"If I have the headache or feel the need of a purgative, I take Black-Draught. It is easy to take and quick to relieve.

"I used to have dull headaches. My eyes would burn and when I would stoop over I seemed to turn blind. This isn't much of a good feeling when one has to work, and I have to work hard in my time, being a timber man. This work takes me from home a good deal and one never likes to get sick, especially away from home. I found the best way to avoid this was to take an occasional dose of Black-Draught, and keep the system cleansed.

"I tell all it is a splendid, reliable medicine."

Thousands of others have written to tell how many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, have gone away after they had taken Thedford's Black-Draught.

THE NEW SUPER-AUTOMATIC KELVINATOR

On display Saturday

as low as $185 F. O. B. Detroit

Nothing to Regulate—100% Automatic in operation.

Kelvinator, never deviating from its path of making electric refrigeration even more trouble-free, more convenient and more economical, has designed its newest product to be 100% automatic

There is nothing to regulate—whether you want speedy freezing of ice cubes and desserts or delicate foods kept at their palatable best for hours and days at a time.

Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—A Startling Advance In Electric Refrigeration

A new Kelvinator discovery—Ice-O-Thermic Tubes—Makes possible far faster freezing of ice cubes. For example, the mere placing of a tray of water in a special ice compartment concentrates intense freezing power in this direction. Ice is ready in a remarkably short time. Desserts in a correspondingly brief period. Yet food compartments remain always at the same safe temperature—between 40 and 50 degrees—neither too warm nor too cold.

Not content with bringing you the finest automatic care of food and far faster freezing of ice cubes, Kelvinator surrounds this more efficient service with fresh beauty and sterling quality in cabinet construction.

New Metal Cabinets—Will Last a Life-time

Each new Kelvinator—and they are priced as low as $185, f. o. b. Detroit—is of rugged metal construction, porcelain-lined throughout to permit easy cleaning. Massive chromium-plated hardware in dull finish adds both to the attractive appearance and durability of these models. Larger models are equipped with separate cold storage chambers and are electrically lighted.

To know how much more value your refrigerating dollar now commands, see the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators on display at our showrooms. You will be surprised to learn how easily you may enjoy Kelvinator's many new conveniences immediately under the Kelvinator ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

Features Which Place Kelvinator Years Ahead in Modern Refrigeration—

2 Balanced Refrigeration—separate temperatures for food preservation, cold storage and ice freezing.

3 The Cold-Keeper—Holds cold over longer periods—thus reducing operating periods of mechanical unit.

4 Greater Economy—Less current consumed, because of infrequent starting and stopping.

5 Abundant Ice Supply—Capacities up to 35 pounds of ice at a single freezing. New flexible rubber ice tray.

PETRELS BATTLE BEARS HERE TODAY

WAYWARD BOYE BOSWELLED BY Ed Danforth

Wayward's crisp summary of the situation follows:

"If Oglethorpe defeats Mercer, the Petrels can claim the championship of the state provided Tech does not defeat Georgia December 7. If such an upset should occur the Petrels would be forced to challenge Tech to a post-season game as a preliminary to the all-star conference civil war which is scheduled for Grant field January 1.

"In any event, Oglethorpe now holds a leg on the championship of the Big Three, for Georgia, previously defeated by the Petrels, defeated Yale. In the event Yale defeats Harvard Saturday, the Petrels' Big Three championship will be clinched.

"In the event Mercer defeats Oglethorpe, the Bears will accede to all the emoluments the Petrels would have held and would have the opportunity to challenge Tech for a post-season game. The Yellow Jackets would be forced to default, as they already have played the Bears once in California.

"If Oglethorpe beats Mercer and Georgia beats Tech, no post-season game will be necessary. The Petrels will have won the state championship and in addition will have a clear claim to the North Carolina state title, owing to Georgia's defeat of the Tarheels."

THE BIRMINGHAM ROW.

Wayward scanned the weather reports and scenting rain in Birmingham tomorrow selected Birmingham-Southern, a Baptist institution, to win the annual wrangle with Howard.

The Immersionists should find the going to their liking, Wayward declares, but he points out that the game will not be decided until the last Howard cheer leader has been taken to the hospital.

He advises that all the steel plants be locked up and barbed wire entanglements erected downtown. Often it is a civic calamity for either team to win.

LONG SHOTS.

Wayward's long shot specials for Saturday are Chicago to beat Washington, Harvard to beat Yale and Fordham to beat Bucknell.

Last week-end Wayward missed only two Southern conference games and called the Alabama-Tech, the Tennessee-Vanderbilt, the Kentucky-V. M. I. and the L. S. U.-Mississippi arguments when many were losing the weekly pools by picking opposite him.

Wayward's season record is 303-73—.805. Three more big days and the mad-house will be locked up for the winter.

L. S. U. Student Strike Averted

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 22.—(AP)—T. W. Atkinson, president of Louisiana State University, tonight stepped into a breach between the L. S. U. student body and the University Athletic Council, which for a time threatened a campus strike, and a mass meeting called to crystallize a student revolt against a special charge for the Thanksgiving Day gridiron feature was turned into a "dress rehearsal" for the cheering sections.

The students, following the lead of the student council, had protested against an "extra dollar" to be required for the L. S. U.-Tulane game next Thursday in addition to the season pass books, and it was hinted that the group would either refrain from attending the game in a body or decide to "crash the gate" if the levy was not revoked.

President Atkinson, acting as mediator, appeared before the mass meeting tonight to rule on the matter and declared that while the athletic council charge was well founded in practice as regards the Thanksgiving game, the rules for season fees in the university catalog made no mention of the special charge, and therefore it should not be collected.

Devos Defeats Harry Ebbetts

The fight had been advertised as one to decide the next opponent for Middleweight Champion Mickey Walker, but it failed to develop a real contender for Walker's title. The bout was slow and unexciting.

Devos won because of his superior boxing and in fighting ability, but failed to impress the 10,000 fans, who believe he has gone back considerably.

Ebbets tried hard for a knockout, but was able to hit the elusive Belgian only occasionally. Ebbets won only two rounds, taking the first through his aggressiveness and staging a desperate rally to take the tenth. Devos won six of remaining rounds with the third and fifth being even.

Vols Double Efforts For Intersectional Foe

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The University of Tennessee athletic council today increased its efforts to obtain an intersectional football game next year by deciding it will not insist that any eastern opponent scheduled promise to play here in 1931.

Professor N. W. Dougherty, faculty advisor, said after an executive session that the council still desired a two-year, reciprocal contract, but no longer would make such a contract an absolute requisite to the near-champion Volunteers journeying eastward next fall.

"With all this year's backfield returning, the university has in prospect the best team in its history and the council has been urged by alumni to go outside the conference for at least one major engagement. Of several schools approached, Princeton has declined and a number of others, unnamed by the council, have not sent published replies."

The schedule with Southern conference teams has not been completed, and may not be before the conference meeting in December, he said. It is generally accepted that Alabama, Florida, Kentucky and Vanderbilt will play the Vols, and a report, neither confirmed nor denied, has it that North Carolina will be on the list.

By Roy White.

Boys' High was crowned city prep football champion Friday afternoon in a muddy struggle on Spiller field by virtue of an 18-to-6 victory over Hech High, ancient rival. The game was witnessed by more than 6,000 spectators who braved the rain and bitter cold, to be well repaid for their suffering with one of the best prep football games of the year.

Tech High was heavily outweighed, both in the line and in the backfield, and there was considerable more experience in the Boys' High line than in the Smithy forward wall. All of the Tech High linemen were either reserves from last year or from the freshman ranks, while Boys' High had several regulars in its starting lineup. Tech High's young sophomore and junior line was never outfought by the heavy Boys' High line.

BEST PLAYERS.

"Booty" McCalley, giant Boys' High fullback, and Captain Elliott were the outstanding players in the Hurricane backfield. Their work was well-nigh perfect and they were greatly aided by Davis, Turman, Howard, Donehoo and Bothwell.

It was Captain Elliott's excellent kicking that gave Boys' High a decided advantage in the first half of the game. His short boot on the third down early in the first quarter that was recovered by a Boys' High lineman paved the way for Boys' High's first touchdown.

Due to the rain throughout the game and the heavy, muddy field, there were frequent fumbles on both sides, but none of the breaks of the game resulted from recovered fumbles. The breaks were in favor of Boys' High, due to the Hurricane playing a game that forced the breaks to come its way.

LINE SHINES.

To single out any particular stars in the Boys' High line would be doing the others an injustice. Every player on the Hurricane line held up his part of the burden and did it well. Katz, at end, played a great game. He was down under every punt and there were plenty. He was hard for the Tech High ends to get out of play and it was due to his great defensive play that the fleet Smithy backs were stopped around his end. Couch and Gardner played exceptionally good at tackles and the work of Preston at guard was all that could be asked.

As was expected, the game produced two excellent punters, and several college coaches on hand praised the kicking of Captain Elliott, of Boys' High, and Heavy Hammond, of Tech High. Elliott's 13 punts averaged slightly more than 31 yards per boot—good punting for high school stars, especially in the rain and mud. Hammond's punts averaged 30 yards per kick, including one that was blocked by Nash for no gain.

WIDE OPEN.

Both teams played a wide open game, despite the wet ball. Boys' High threw two passes for 20 yards and failed to make three other attempts good. Tech High completed four passes for 75 yards and a touchdown and failed to make 12 others good, but the majority of the incompleted passes were attempted in the closing moments of the game. Boys' High and Tech High made eight first downs each.

Boys' High began its march late in the first quarter. After several exchanges of punts Boys' High received the ball on its 45-yard line. McCalley rammed the Smithy line for 8 yards. Davis followed with a plunge over right tackle for 15 yards and a first down. McCalley added 9 more and then lost 2 when Hinson broke through and threw him.

It was at this point of the game that the break came. Captain Elliott punted 33 yards and the ball hit Hadley on the shoulder and bounded into Katz's hands on Tech High's 18-yard line. Three line plays failed to gain but 2 yards. A pass, McCalley to Elliott, netted 10 yards and first down. McCalley rammed the line for 4 yards. He followed with another at left tackle and then rolled around left tackle for another yard and a touchdown. Elliott's place kick fell under the bars.

HAMPERED BY MUD.

In the second quarter both teams made desperate attempts to run ends, but the mud didn't help the footing any and the punting was a last resort. Toward the close of the half, Tech High rallied with a pass attack that netted a touchdown. Tech High received a punt on its own 33-yard line. Bullington lost 7 yards when he slipped down. Hutt failed to gain and Hammond then threw a 43-yard pass to Hutt, placing the ball on Boys' High 10-yard line. Another pass, Hammond to Hutt, netted 5 yards. Boyd

Inman Park Cardinals Honored by Legion

Inman Park Cardinals, the sandlot baseball team which went to the semi-finals in the eastern division of the American Legion junior baseball tournament last summer, were honored at the Atlanta Legion post luncheon yesterday. Dan Sowers, central figure in the photograph above, national chairman of Americanism for the legion, presented each member of the team with a certificate of good sportsmanship. KENTUCKY TEAM WORKS IN SNOW

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 22.—Practicing on a dry field is one thing and practicing on one covered with two inches of snow is quite another, the University of Kentucky Wildcats found out to their amazement this afternoon.

Coach Harry Gammage intimated at noon that he might not hold a practice in the snow, but along about 3 o'clock he changed his mind and, ordering the managers to procure a whole flock of white gloves, informed the Wildcats that they would have to forestall the pink tea party which they had hoped for when they awoke this morning to find snow covering the earth.

LIKED IDEA.

The men of Gammage seemed to like the idea, however, and they went about their work in the snow like seasoned Eskimoes and those who weren't in the scrimmage—for that is what was held—were practicing to go into the thick of it.

Probably Gammage became imbued with the idea that the game with the Tennessee Volunteers may be played on just such a day next Thursday.

Running through the first string freshman team for six touchdowns in 40 minutes of playing time, the varsity gave indication that it is at least snapping out of the lethargy which has held it since the third quarter of the Alabama game three weeks ago. Whether it was the intense cold or the fact that the Tennessee game is just around the corner, your correspondent was unable to learn, for the fact remains that the boys showed just a little more pep than has been the case in quite a few practice sessions, and Harry Gammage was smiling. He cast from his face the gloom which has enveloped him for the past few days.

Sandlotters Honored By American Legion

Inman Park Cardinals Presented With Certificates of Award by National Officer.

By Ralph McGill.

They die hard, these sandlot baseball teams. Here in the middle of winter, with a cold, winter rain pelting down and threatening to turn into snow any minute, up bob the Inman Park Cardinals, that irrepressible baseball team which caught the fancy of the city last summer.

The Cardinals almost reached the pinnacle they set out for early in the spring—the national junior baseball title. They went all the way to Washington to compete in the eastern finals. They won their first game and almost won the second, a fly ball being caught to eliminate them one August afternoon as dusk was creeping slowly over Griffith stadium.

THEIR DREAM.

They were dreaming a dream even then—Moe Kunsberg pitching and winning seven games in nine days and others playing without relief. The Atlanta Legion post gave them new uniforms.

The state finals were at Albany and thence they went, taking with them the mascot that was to be the most famous mascot the city has seen—Joe Gershon, a diminutive youngster with an engaging smile and a tremendous faith in his own ability to jinx the other side.

Joe Gershon was to look with staring eyes at a president of the United States with all his glittering and solemn retirue but he didn't even guess that at Albany.

CARDS WIN.

The Cardinals won there and returned to startle three old ladies nearly to death in the Pullman car that night. They hadn't pajamas and it was Joe Gershon, stripped to the waist, who carried water to the stifling hot berths.

The regional finals were at Meridian, Miss., and they won that.

TRAVEL HARD.

They traveled hard, did the Cardinals. The legion gave them Pullman accommodations but they removed the screens the better to stick out a head at all stops. They whooped, and slept but little.

Washington and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and all the silent rows of marble at Arlington, where sleeps the nation's dead, silenced them for a time.

The legion was seeking to impress the boys with the spirit of their nation, to make them realize their oneness with the nation and their claim on it and its claim on them. They did that day as the teams stood before that mysterious tomb that represents every soldier who was buried in an unknown grave.

CLIMB MONUMENT.

Later they were to skylark over the place. Taxi drivers came to mourn at the sight of them. The taxis permitted all to ride for the price of one and the Cardinals stuffed a cab full and rode to the capitol and to the Washington monument for about a dime each.

The monument may have wrought their downfall. The morning before they played in the afternoon about a third of the team slipped away to the monument. It towers there near a thousand feet in the air and they climbed it, every step. Why bother with elevators when there are steps and young legs?

The sectional spirit flamed fiercely within their hearts and none sought to remove it. Any such effort

Bush Anticipates Meeting Art Shires

Owen Bush, new manager of the White Sox, is looking forward with pleasure to managing the team and Art Shires. He says:

"I never had any trouble with ballplayers who worked for me. I anticipate none with Shires. There is a way to handle him and get good results and I expect to find that way. He is too good a ballplayer to be idle and I expect him to play regularly for me."

Time: 2 o'clock.
Place: Hermance field, Oglethorpe.

By Ed Danforth.

Oglethorpe's black-clad eleven that launches its plays from that spectacular military shift swings into action this afternoon on Hermance field at 2 o'clock against the old enemy, Mercer University.

The Petrels will be making their last stand of the year in Atlanta; the greatest team Oglethorpe has developed in years will be making its farewell bow to a home audience, and football fans will miss something if they fail to glimpse this Black and Gold machine in full tilt.

No championship issue is needed to flavor the game. The history of Oglethorpe-Mercer football games bristles with brave deeds and spectacular dashes. In other days the turf of Spiller field and of the Macon stadium has been dislodged by the heavy tread of the old rivals. This time Oglethorpe is playing on its own field in front of its own grandstand and in the shadow of its own buildings.

It will be the final collegiate game here for Cy Bell, the elusive halfback, who has scored touchdowns to beat both Tech and Georgia in his day. Bell is crippled but hopes to get into the Mercer game for just one sprint. The game also will mark the farewell of Jeff Burford, whom many critics call the best center in the south; of Hoke Bell, the guard that Georgia players say is the toughest proposition they have ever faced in a rush line, and of Asa Wall, the big tackle who moves with the speed of a runaway boxcar and stands with the rigidity of a bridge pillar.

Coach Harry Robertson has drilled this Oglethorpe eleven to perfection. The Petrels snap their plays with authority and power. Oglethorpe uses the same wheeling huddle-shift that New York University employs; it is exciting to watch.

Coach Lake Russell, of the Bears, reports two of his best men—Lane, center, and Nightingale, tackle—out of the game with injuries but has primed the survivors for a hard game. The star of the Mercer eleven is Lynwood Mallard, rated a fine end.

'GATORS, DEVILS FAVORED TODAY

Bad Weather To Greet Dixie Football Fans This Afternoon.

Bad weather seems in store for most of the southern football teams which will see action today in the lightest Saturday of the season so far.

Florida was a decided favorite to trim South Carolina in the one conference game on the board and Villanova's crack eleven had a big advantage over North Carolina State in the lone intersectional duel in which a Dixie team figures.

With most of the other conference teams continuing their preparations for important Thanksgiving Day games, two went outside the conference for opponents. Duke was given an edge over Wake Forest at Durham, N. C., but the skidding Clemson Tigers looked for one of their hardest games of the season from the fast-stepping Citadel Bulldogs at Clemson College.

Two games stood out on the program in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Oglethorpe, which looms as the most dangerous menace to Chattanooga's hopes for its second straight championship, plays Mercer here and Howard and Birmingham-Southern, two old rivals, square off against each other at Birmingham. Both these elevens are out of the S. I. A. A. race. Nevertheless, their meeting today is expected to produce one of the hardest-fought games in the south.

Centenary, which has not yet played a conference opponent, gets it first and only test within the association against Louisiana Poly at Shreveport. Southern and Rollins play at Winter Park, Georgetown of Kentucky rules a favorite over Louisville at Louisville and Millsaps and Southwestern Louisiana are scheduled at LaFayette, La. Transylvania steps outside to take on the Eastern Kentucky Teachers at Richmond, Ky.; Spring Hill is in for a hard afternoon with Loyola at New Orleans, the Western Kentucky Teachers play Evansville at Bowling Green, Ky.

Tech Freshmen Meet Gamecocks.

Tech followers who are wondering what there is to expect from the freshman football team will gather at Grant field this afternoon at 2 o'clock to see the yearlings clash with the South Carolina freshmen.

The game takes on added interest in that South Carolina opens the Tech varsity schedule next October on Grant field and several of the Gamecock stars will return to the Flats.

"Buck" Parrott, younger brother of "Buck" Flowers, Tech's star halfback of other days, is the backfield star of the South Carolinians.

Colored Teams Mix at Spiller's.

Another game of interest to fans is the clash at Spiller field between Clark university and South Carolina State college. These are two of the most powerful colored elevens in the southeast.

The game will have all the exciting musical and cheering effects that always mark these contests.

Tickets are on sale at the Atlanta Athletic Club, Five Points Cigar Store, Jacobs' main store and other convenient points.

Close Work.

Tech To Play Penn, Philadelphia Reports

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Negotiations for a two-year contract for football games between the University of Pennsylvania and the Georgia School of Technology have been completed, it was learned here late tonight.

Georgia Tech will play Penn here in Philadelphia next year on November 17, according to present plans.

Neither Chip Robert or A. H. Armstrong, of the Georgia Tech Athletic Association, could be reached late last night to confirm the report from Philadelphia that Tech had signed a two-year football contract with Penn.

The addition of Penn would give Tech two intersectional games with strong eastern teams, the school having recently signed a two-year agreement with Carnegie Tech, playing in Pittsburgh next year.

Tech now has games with South Carolina, Carnegie Tech, the University of North Carolina, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Florida and Georgia. No announcement has been made of agreements being renewed with Alabama and Auburn for 1930.

Games Slated For Today Promise Fans Spectacular Battles

Cards, Golden Bear In Bitter Battle

The colorful background of a 54-year-old rivalry, the glamorous presence of the sophomore spark plugs—Albie Booth, of Yale, and Barry Wood, of Harvard—and the sheer might of two of the most powerful teams in the east make this the game of games. It will attract a capacity crowd of 58,000 to the Harvard stadium.

Two other games—Notre Dame-Northwestern at Evanston, and California-Stanford at Palo Alto—stand out in bold relief, and more than a score of others are fraught with interest and importance to their immediate partisans.

CAUTION GONE.

So when Harvard meets Yale, caution flies out of the window. Anything may be expected, as Johnny and Eli clash. Yale has the better record, for the Blue lost only to Georgia and suffered a tie with Maryland, while Harvard was stopped in its tracks by Dartmouth, later a Yale victim, and Michigan. Harvard, too, was tied by Army.

Notre Dame, with its great coach, Knute Rockne, left behind on a sick bed, may be expected to win from Northwestern because it always has, but seldom have the Ramblers been able to vanquish the Wildcats without a stern struggle.

TITLE GAME.

California is shooting at a championship when it plays Pop Warner's burly Stanford outfit. Victory will give Nibs Price and his undefeated cohorts a clear title to the laurel wreath or crown to be bestowed by the Pacific Coast conference, and with it an invitation to defend the honor of the west against the east in a post-season game at Pasadena New Year's Day.

Other championship hopes and fears will know the best or the worst tomorrow. The Kansas Aggies will meet their great chance with only Nebraska blocking the path to a Big Six championship, a long but pleasing journey for Bo McMillan's outfit. Nebraska, however, may require a great deal of stopping.

FLU VICTIMS.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs, beset by influenza germs, must defend a clean score sheet against a wounded and snarling Baylor Bear. If they can dispose of this adversary they have nothing to do for the rest of the season but rope the Mustangs of Southern Methodist University.

Some private quarrels of the day include Colorado College against the University of Colorado at Boulder; Oklahoma and the Oklahoma Aggies at Norman, Missouri vs. Kansas at Lawrence, and Boston College and Boston University at Boston.

The intersectional warfare is led by a band of big huskies from the University of Washington, invading Chicago to meet Alonzo Stagg's tricky Chicago Maroons. Another western threat is carried by the Oregon Aggies against the high powered University of Detroit in the Michigan metropolis.

LESS TRAVELING.

Other intersectional games involving less traveling include North Carolina State against Villanova and Drake against Temple at Philadelphia and the colorful Indians at Pittsburgh to meet Duquesne, coached by Elmer Layden, one-fourth of Rockne's famous four horsemen. Oregon, where J. J. McEwan has just resigned as head coach, entertains the Cosmopolitan Hawaii team at Portland.

The Harvard-Yale game is not the only big traditional game of the east. Lafayette and Lehigh have more scores to count than their brethren to the east and may have just as tense a struggle.

The undefeated Fordham team meets one of its most severe tests in a fast Bucknell aggregation and New York University, finally in its stride, takes on a fighting Rutgers team.

BIG 10 INTEREST.

Although the Western conference championship has been clinched by Purdue, the Big Ten still is playing its schedule and some interesting if not conclusive games are on tap for tomorrow. Illinois and Ohio State may decide who shall be the runner-up in a game at Columbus. Iowa and Michigan will have a battle at Ann Arbor and consolation honors are involved when Minnesota meets Wisconsin. Purdue will ring down the curtain for the season against Indiana at Bloomington, where tons of whiskers were sacrificed by members of the No Shave Club when Indiana defeated Northwestern last Saturday.

The two service teams are engaged with Methodist teams, Army playing Ohio Wesleyan while Navy meets West Virginia Wesleyan. Both Cadets and Midshipmen must keep something in reserve for next Saturday when the former meets Notre Dame and the latter tackles Dartmouth. Army may be more extended tomorrow.

Only one Southern conference game appears on tomorrow's card, Florida making its first trip to Columbia in several years to play the University of South Carolina.

Golden Bears Meet Stanford

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—(AP) On the green-turfed Stanford stadium field tomorrow will be written the last chapter of a football drama whose climax will unveil either a new champion of the Pacific Coast conference or a situation involving many teams whose records include one defeat.

Before a capacity throng of 89,000 California's undefeated Bears will stake their championship hopes against their eldest college rival, Stanford's Cardinals. In a season of thrill-packed victories and reversals, the Bears have fought to within sight of the finish line—only a traditional gridiron enemy blocks the way to the first clean-cut championship since 1923.

Every member of the California squad knows that all the gridiron prowess that has brought the Blue and Gold to the top will be needed to vanquish a foe of 37 years' standing. In all these years the annual "big game" has been the most stubbornly contested of all. California's record has been brilliant; Stanford's disastrous, but despite this variance they will face each other on practically even terms.

A California victory will give it the conference title. A defeat will muddle the situation to the extent of having one defeat charged to California, Stanford, Southern California and Oregon.

The Round-Up.

HARVARD-YALE—At Boston. Any one who happens to be in a guessing mood is entitled to take a running jump and reach in the air for a winning selection in this next Harvard-Yale conclave. As far as past performances for the season go, Yale lays over Harvard after the manner of a circus tent hoisted above the center ring. Dartmouth beat Harvard, 34 to 7, and Yale beat Dartmouth, 16 to 12. Harvard had a desperate time tieing up the Army and Yale beat the Army, 21 to 13. Harvard failed to win a game from Army, Dartmouth and Michigan—her three big contests. Yale beat Brown, Army, Dartmouth and Princeton. Harvard has no back as dangerous as Albie Booth. But for all that Harvard has a better football team than the season's count has shown. Few teams anywhere have such a collection of backs as Wood, Mays, Harper, Putnam, Deven, Potter, Gilligan and others. The Crimson can keep feeding in first-class backs all the afternoon. Yale has played the better football to date. But for the greater part this only happened when Booth was in action. If Booth is in good condition and he isn't hurt, Yale ought to win. He has an extremely useful aid in Don McLennan, a fast, hard running, shifty back who knows his stuff. The Yale line has outplayed the Harvard line to date, but there is still power in that Harvard line when Ben Ticknor is around. Yale has no passer to match Barry Wood, but a dependable ball carrier is more useful than a brilliant passer, game in and game out. This should be one of the best of all the Harvard-Yale meetings, because the two teams are better matched and they have a better class of football talent meeting on the field. Yale must be given the shade through everything that has happened up to date, even conceding the possibilities of this Harvard team when and if it hits its top form. But the shade is nothing like as vivid as comparative scores would indicate.

NOTRE DAME-NORTHWESTERN—At Evanston. This game may worry Notre Dame as much as any game the South Bend delegation has yet faced. In spite of the quality and quantity of Notre Dame reserves the long season is about ready to collect its toll at any given moment. Notre Dame had a close call last Saturday, winning by only a point, and that Southern California argument must have taken something away. There are no supermen around and when any football team has won seven straight games there is always danger of the edge wearing away. The Northwestern team that faced Ohio States would have practically an even chance to win. Northwestern slipped badly last Saturday against Indiana, but that may even work as an aid in today's battle.

Dick Hanley has a good line ready and some good backs—at least one or two. It is a better football team than many have credited it with being. Notre Dame ought to win through a faster line, through faster backs and especially through a far greater reserve power, which is often the telling factor. To say nothing of a young man by the name of Frank Carrideo. Twenty-five or thirty good football players can usually trim twelve or fifteen good football players under modern conditions of continued pressure and continued speed. Notre Dame should be made favorite, but a Northwestern victory would be no astounding upset. This game will decide whether or not Notre Dame will come unbeaten to the Army game, which again will be no soft and mellow tea party. Notre Dame is picked today, despite the possibilities of a late season slump.

CALIFORNIA-STANFORD—At Palo Alto. This is the Far Western football classic that for color, crowds and action, stands unsurpassed. It is the game that will decide California's place in the football sun for 1929. California has gone unbeaten with victories over Penn, Southern California and Washington. Her main achievement was the decisive defeat of Southern California in the latter's own gridiron bailiwick—one of the most impressive football jobs of the year. California has four of the best in the game this season with Lom, Eisan, Schwartz and Norton. Lom has been an outstanding back—a star who can kick, pass, run, hit the line and tackle with any one who happens to be around. On all the dope California ought to win. Pop Warner may get Stanford clicking and the margin either way will be extremely close. But Stanford has shown no back to compare with Lom—a big, rangy, hard-running, side-stepping star who can handle any job that comes his way.

PURDUE-INDIANA—At Bloomington. The moonlight should be fair tonight along the Wabash again. If it isn't they will be dragging the Wabash for George Ade's body. And John McCutcheon may be right with him. This is Purdue's last start after the greatest season in her history, a season that will bring the Western conference championship her way, unless something out of the ordinary happens. Purdue has a much better football team than Indiana can send to the field. But any team that has won every game up to its last stand is always liable to pay the penalty of nerve wear and tear and nerve depletion. Still, with such stars as Welch, Yunevitch, Harmison, Red Sleight and others, it would be a true upset if Indiana won, taking into consideration the fact that Indiana was good enough last Saturday to beat Northwestern, the team that beat Illinois.

FORDHAM-BUCKNELL—At New York. Major Frank Cavanaugh has brought his Fordham team unbeaten through a tough schedule, but today he is face to face with his main trouble of the year. Bucknell has been coming like a streak, while Fordham is due to show the result of a long, hard season that began with preparations to beat N. Y. U. early in October. Fordham has a high-class football team, but the odds today are slightly in favor of Bucknell. But this will be a contest to the final play between two hard scrapping outfits. It will be largely a question as to whether Fordham has enough fire left after two months of hard play.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY-RUTGERS—At New York. While New York University ought to get by in this meeting, the Violet will have to keep a close eye on Jack Grossman, a 200-pound ripping, shifty back. Rutgers has been coming at a fast clip lately and will be dangerous all the way. If Grossman plays his game he should be one of the big stars of the day. New York University has shown a decided improvement in the last two games, with victories over Georgia and Missouri, two first-class teams. There is a good chance now that the Violet will finish the season unbeaten, although Rutgers and Carnegie Tech will not provide an easy afternoon.

GREAT FIELD RACES TODAY

By Orlo L. Robertson,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The handicap championship of American turf swayed in the balance tonight as 20 classy thoroughbreds awaited the running of the $30,000 added southern Maryland handicap over the picturesque mile and sixteenth Bowie course tomorrow.

With the possible exception of Hawthorne gold cup, the greatest field of older horses to face the barrier this year will answer the bulgle call for the rich event.

Sun Beau, generally acclaimed the ranking handicap horse of the year, will pack the top weight of 127 pounds, five more than has been allotted to Victorian, which is staging a comeback for the Warm stable. Misstep, the pride of the middle west, gets in with one pound less while Petee-Wrack, the fourth of the quartet of high weights shipped to Bowie principally for the Southern Maryland, battles for the purse with 122 pounds in the saddle.

Bateau, the giant daughter of Man o' War, will be the principal contender of her sex present and she is well treated with 113 pounds. E. R. Bradley has a promising candidate in Buddy Bauer while T. J. Healy will saddle the veteran Display, Dr. Freeland and African for the Wilson-Salmon interests. The Audley farm also has entered three, Princes Tina, Easter Stockings and Bobashela.

The field had an unusually good day at the Maryland track today, putting over two winners and a third. King Bird won the second to pay $12.80 while Empletee accounted for the last race and paid $23.30.

would have met with an immediate repulse.

Dan Sowers, the legion officer in charge of the national organization, was with them in Washington. Yesterday he met them at the legion's weekly meeting and presented them with certificates which bespoke them as good sportsmen and excellent players who had gone to the semi-finals in the eastern championship.

The Cardinals were there almost to a man. Three of their number were absent, but they were out of the city. The list of certificates presented yesterday were: Tom Harper, Moe Kunsberg, Sid Scarborough, Bill Good, Jr., Alvin Leary, Forrest Humphries, Jack Hutchinson, Carey McQueen, Jerome Yarter, Whistle Roberts, Alf Anderson and Marvin Partie. Wop Lyle, manager and coach, and Joe Gershon, mascot, were introduced and complimented for their work.

LaGrange Defeats Piedmont College

LAGRANGE, GA., Nov. 22. LaGrange High used every player on the squad to defeat Piedmont Junior college, of Wadley, Alabama, 27 to 0 here Friday afternoon. The game was played in the steady rain and fumbles were frequent.

The locals scored shortly after the game got under way when Emory Payne intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. A blocked punt in the second period paved the down, Keeble bucking it over.

In the last half Coach Johnson used every man on the LaGrange squad, but even then the visitors could not withstand the attack and two touchdowns were scored.

Keeble, Wright, E. Whitten, Harman R. Mann were outstanding in the LaGrange lineup, while Leverette was easily the outstanding star in the Piedmont lineup.

Title Encounter Is Passed Up

MANHATTAN, Kn., Nov. 21.—(AP) A Big Six football title may be decided here Saturday when Nebraska plays the Kansas Aggies, but because the Aggies are a dark horse championship candidate the title game will be far outclassed in popularity by another game a hundred miles away.

Schedules of the traditional Kansas-Missouri game at Lawrence on the same day will drastically curtail the Aggie-Nebraska attendance, and authorities do not expect to fill the Manhattan stadium, which will seat 16,500. More than 20,000 are expected at Lawrence. Little expectation of a title game here when fans were purchasing tickets early in the season caused many to buy Kansas-Missouri tickets in preference to those of the Aggie-Nebraska tilt.

Midget Eleven Is After Game

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The "Fives," an outstanding midget football team in the south, is bidding for national championship honors in the 100-pound class. This eleven of Charlottesville boys, sponsored by the University of Virginia, is ready to take on all comers in its weight class.

Challenge was issued tonight by R. S. Osborne, their coach, to the winner of the game between the Kent Bearcats and the Holy Name eleven of Columbus, Ohio, to be played tomorrow as a preliminary to the Ohio State-Illinois contest.

Final Drill.

Chi Stadium Head Selected

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Sheldon Clark, vice president and general manager of the Sinclair Refining Company, today accepted the presidency of the Chicago Stadium Corporation, succeeding Paddy Harmon, builder of the $7,000,000 sports arena.

Clark, nationally known sportsman, accepted because he said he considered it more or less of a civic duty, and with the provision that he might serve without financial remuneration of any kind.

The new president indicated he would appoint a general manager to assume the actual task of directing the stadium's activities; also that his term of office would be temporary, pending selection of a suitable official to devote his entire time to the athletic and exhibition building.

Jacket Frosh Meets Strong South Carolina Team at Flats Today

TECH YEARLINGS MUST HUSTLE TO WIN GAME

Biddies Have Strong, Heavy Line and Speedy Backfield.

By Herb Clark.

Taking a day of rest sponsored by the vagaries of the weather man, Georgia Tech's freshman grid squad closed their preparations in very easy style Friday afternoon. The Junior Jackets face the yearling eleven of the University of South Carolina on Grant field this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Junior Jackets have not played since Armistice Day, when they journeyed to Auburn to be defeated in the rain, and since that time they have spent almost all of their practice time in scrimmaging, both among themselves and against the varsity and Grey Devil teams. Defensive work hampered the progress of the yearlings at the start of the season, but the coaches have drilled long and earnestly in an effort to teach their charges the accepted and effective style of stopping the opposition. The mentors believe that they have accomplished their purpose, and look for a much better showing this afternoon.

JACKETS STRONG.

If the young Jackets can show the attack of the Biddies, which is reputed to be strong and to have fully found itself in the last game—they have a good chance at the laurels. A fast, powerful and shifty backfield containing plenty of talent has shown a tendency to gain ground often in previous games, and the versatility of the assault is expected to worry South Carolina no little. Cain, smashing fullback; Bone, deceptive quarterback; MacArthur, strong runner and passer; Cherry and Slaton, hammering halfbacks, form a nucleus of a bone-crushing, ground-gaining crew which is counted on to blaze a path to victory this afternoon.

They have all shown an ability to tackle in previous tests, but have not yet learned just how to come up and make absolutely sure of their man. It is this phase of their play which has been stressed in recent practices and which, if bettered, may provide a margin of longed-for victory.

The line is also well fortified with capable performers, strong young huskies who can hold their own in nearly any company. They have taken the short end in scrimmages against the varsity but have not yet been outplayed by other opponents. Neblett, at center; Corn and Bennett, tackles, and Heath, end, are outstanding players in the yearling forward wall, though they are pushed for honors by their mates.

FINE FOE.

These freshmen will meet what is touted as one of the strongest yearling crews turned out at the Gamecock school in years. Two early defeats mar what was expected to be a fine record, but a speedy backfield was unable to function in backing up a line which fought as hard as it might. Last Saturday the Biddies were in better form and trimmed the Furman frosh Hurricane by a 12 to 7 score. They will be out this afternoon in a drive to bring their percentage to the .500 mark, and stand a good chance of doing that. The only basis of comparison between the two squads shows that each holds a one-touchdown margin over the Furman rats, the Tech frosh winning at 21-13.

LEHIGH WORKS HARD.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Lehigh held a 15-minute scrimmage today and a blackboard drill for the Lafayette game Saturday. The playing of Gromley again featured the work-out and he will probably see service Saturday for the first time.

Manager Dobbs Meets Director Jones

Johnny Dobbs, new manager of the Atlanta Crackers, was in Atlanta Thursday to formally assume control of the Atlanta baseball club. While here he met Bobby Jones, open golf champion and one of the club directors, for the first time. Dobbs declared it to be his opinion that Jones was the greatest competitive athlete whose career he had followed. The club was recently bought by a group of Atlanta business men. Photo by J. T. A. A. A. Sanctions Speedway Races

Opening automobile races on the new half-mile circular track on Pace's Ferry road, Thanksgiving afternoon, will be held under the rules and regulations of the American Automobile Association, it was announced Thursday by George Hamilton, race manager.

The same rules which govern the annual 500-mile speedway races at Indianapolis, Ind., the Altoona races, the Ascott, Allentown, Pa., and other prominent events over the country will be in force during all the races on the new track, it was stated.

Work on the new track is practically complete, due to the three days of clear weather this week and the surfacing material will be spread over the track early next week. The track needs several days of "seasoning" and with clear weather early next week it will be in excellent condition for the opening events Thursday afternoon.

There will be plenty of free parking space for more than 1,000 automobiles and the parking lot will be just back of the race track.

All of the drivers in the opening races have been approved by the American Automobile Association and are recognized as capable pilots. A large majority of them have won success on the dirt tracks this fall and all of the cars have been reconditioned since the last race.

Johnny Glad Bobby Has Entered Baseball

By Ralph McGill.

"Well, I've always wanted to meet Bobby Jones," said Johnny Dobbs, the new manager of the Atlanta Crackers, as he and the national open golf champion met Thursday afternoon at the Cracker ball park.

"I suppose I have read every word that has been written about you in spite of the fact that I am not a golf player. It is an extreme pleasure to meet you and be associated with you," he concluded.

Jones is evidently pleased at being connected with the baseball venture which he and his friends have undertaken in their ownership of the Crackers.

Speaking later of Jones, Dobbs declared that he believed the open champion to be one of the finest champions that sport has produced.

"He is a fine competitive man," said Dobbs. "I can tell that from reading about him. I always got excited following his various competitions.

FINE FOR GAME.

"I think it will be a fine thing for baseball to have a man like Jones connected with the game. I am also glad that Mr. Robert and the others have come in. I have heard of them. All baseball will benefit by their coming in. Atlanta should be glad to support them and the club we have and I am sure the fans will. We are all going to give our best to put a good club on the field. We can't promise a pennant winner in one year but we will have a good club."

Dobbs left yesterday morning with R. J. Spiller, former owner and now vice president and business manager, for Brunswick and Dover Hall, a hunting lodge where they will remain until next week.

AT CHATTANOOGA.

Dobbs will return to Chattanooga next Wednesday and remain there through the December meeting of the National Baseball Association which is simply the meeting of the minor leagues. This meeting is early in the week and following that he plans to jump to Waynesboro for the Georgia field trials there.

Dobbs was the honor guest at a dinner given Thursday night by Chip Robert at the Capital City Club. It was largely attended by the leading citizens of Atlanta, all of whom pledged support to Dobbs and the new baseball owners.

HAMILTON BUYS BEARS, REPORT

By Ralph McGill.

Jimmy Hamilton has purchased a controlling interest in the stock of the Mobile Baseball Club and formal announcement will be made within the next few days, according to Chick Roos, former official at Mobile and now secretary of the Atlanta Baseball Company.

Hamilton is said to have purchased 51 per cent of the stock for a price unannounced. It was reported, however, that the price was a very modest one, the lowest price paid for a franchise since baseball has developed into big business.

Hamilton, a former manager and part owner of the Nashville Ball Club, is reported to have the backing of Nashville capitalists who also aided in financing the present owners of the Vols.

FOUR YEARS WITH VOLS.

The new owner of the Mobile Club spent four years at Nashville while J. A. G. Sloan and Tom Goodall owned the club. They sold to Jack Whaley, Stanley Horn and Rogers Caldwell, and Hamilton went in with the new owners as part-owner. He failed to get going and incurred the enmity of the fans.

Last spring he was assigned to Canton in the Central League, a club owned by the Nashville Club and used as a farm. Canton won the pennant but Hamilton was dissatisfied and wanted back in the Southern League.

As soon as the Mobile Club was announced for sale, Hamilton announced as a prospective purchaser. His first effort met with failure. Roos, who was in Atlanta yesterday for a conference with the new executive officers of the Atlanta Crackers, said that the deal had been completed with Hamilton as the owner.

FACE HARD GOING.

Hamilton will meet with adverse conditions at Mobile. The team played there last summer to as few as 20 paid customers. It was finally found necessary to put the team on the road for the remainder of its games. Rudy Hulswitt, the manager, failed to interest the fans. His club never got going.

It is estimated that it will require about $30,000 to put a club in Mobile that will bring out the fans. Hamilton will get backing for that amount.

Jimmy Hamilton is one of baseball's stormy petrels. He can get ball players when no one else can. Then he cannot keep them. One of the popular stories with regard to Hamilton is that he always has three teams, one playing, one going, one coming. He can always dig up a ball player and some pretty fair ones at that.

VERY POPULAR.

In his past connections at Nashville he was never very popular with his men. He is a hard loser and the loss of two games in a row depresses him tremendously. He knows baseball and is a capable director of play.

He was a star third baseman in the old Central League and had a trial with the Red Sox some years ago. He has been in baseball for about 23 years and has won pennants at Peoria, Charlotte and Canton.

His effort to revive baseball interest at Mobile will be watched with interest. If he should succeed he will have made a profitable financial arrangement as Mobile is a good baseball town given a winning team.

Raleigh Rejoins Piedmont League

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Raleigh, which dropped out of the Piedmont League in favor of Henderson last year, is back in the league and will have a club in the field next baseball season. Raleigh was tendered and accepted the franchise given up by Salisbury at a meeting of the league directors today. The other five clubs in the league last season retained their franchises.

America, Europe Split in Zones

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(United News.) Plans were completed today to divide America and Europe each into north and south zones for Davis cup competition by a commission appointed in London last July.

The American zone is likely to be divided by the Panama Canal, leaving the United States, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Japan and the Philippines in the northern zone and Australia and South American countries in the southern zone.

The commission considered the protest of smaller countries that annual participation was too costly and some comment was made that each country play alternate years. France, United States and England are expected to protest the alternate year suggestion on the ground that it would rob the Davis cup competition of much interest and make it possible for a weak team to win.

Atlantan Defeated At Myrtle Beach

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C., Nov. 22. G. B. Neal, Atlanta golfer, got as far as the semi-final round of the first annual Thanksgiving tournament on the links here today where he was beaten by Paul Cushman, of Greenville, S. C., by 4 and up. Cushman's opponent tomorrow will be Henry Norris, Jr., of Philadelphia, who today won by 10 and 8.

WILDCATS IN SNOW

Carey Spicer, formed the offensive backfield, and it was remarkable how the boys shifted through the freshmen. Of course, the holes were there and all the Wildcat backs had to do was to step through them, and they stepped through them with the same skill and speed which characterized their 44-to-6 slaughter of Clemson.

Spicer was mixing passes with running plays and seldom did a pass fail to click. Covington and Kelly were the receivers of the heaves in the main, with long, tall George Yates nabbing one once in a while.

Jack Phipps was the all-star of the scrimmage, however, plowing through the big green team like nobody's business and bringing back visions of what Lexingtonians expected of Jack before he broke his hand before the Alabama tilt. The member seems to be all okeh again. If he keeps up the drive Kentucky may be able to use Jack to great advantage against Tennessee.

THE ADVANCING PETRELS

If the Petrels defeat Mercer next Saturday their state championship claims will hardly be disputed. That Oglethorpe has a better team than Tech or Georgia could not fairly be questioned. Some say the Petrels couldn't beat Georgia again. Personally we think they could. However that may be, the Petrels did beat the Bulldogs on the day they played, which is always the best evidence we can think of. That Oglethorpe could take Tech for a ride is an even more certain proposition so far as we are concerned. As a matter of fact, Tech had better be very careful or the Jackets may supply the Auburn supporters with their first chance to cheer during the season.

SO IF YOU WANT to see the state's best team in action Saturday you should attend that game at Hermance stadium and show your appreciation of the record of a brave and valiant band of warriors who have brought Atlanta much prestige on the gridiron.—By Morgan Blake, in the Atlanta Journal, November 18th.

COACHES GIVE YELLOW JACKET SQUAD HOLIDAY

Cold and Drizzling Rain Bring About Rest for Team.

Training for the coming of the Tigers of Auburn was rudely interrupted by a cold and drizzly rain Friday afternoon, and Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets were turned loose on the town by the coaching staff without so much as feeling a football.

The Jackets have been drilling hard for the Thanksgiving Turkey Day game, which brings to the Flats a Tiger which grows stronger and stronger as the days pass. Auburn, a mere speck on the horizon when the schedule-makers convened a year ago, now blots out all other details in the landscape.

Scrimmages were the orders on Wednesday and Thursday, following two light days at the start of the week. The Jackets have looked well in these workouts, which have seen many—though brief—lineup changes. "Dutch" Faisst has apparently come into his own and may see plenty of service when the Tigers appear here.

It is probable that the Jackets will do but little work this afternoon, since the freshmen will use Grant field and the Rose Bowl field is in sloppy condition. This will mean that they will have to dig in hard on Monday and utilize the remaining three days left for practice in full.

Rain Halts Tiger Work.

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 22.—A continual drizzle caused Coach John Floyd to call a halt to Friday's workout after trying to work against the weather gods for 15 minutes with no noticeable progress being made. The workout was featured by another drill in blocking and tackling. But when rain would not halt its work, Coach Floyd sent his charges to the showers and had a blackboard drill for the remainder of the afternoon.

A scrimmage against Tech plays will be given the varsity Saturday afternoon. The Blue Shirts will be strengthened considerably as Coaches Lee and Baskin will wear Blue jerseys and impersonate Earl Dunlap and stumpy Thomason.

Illinois Is Set For Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Determined to wind up their season tomorrow with a victory in their traditional annual battle with Ohio State, the Illini eleven arrived here today.

Coach Zuppke indicated that he would be able to use Timm, considered his best all-around back, who has been out since the Army game with injuries.

Illinois was an 8-to-5 favorite. A crowd of 75,000 is expected to attend.

LINEUP UNSETTLED.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The starting lineup which Coach Harry Stuhldreher, of Villanova will use against North Carolina State in its football game here Saturday is still a matter of conjecture.

"Those taking the field against the southerners will be the ones who are in the best physical condition," said Stuhldreher. It is unlikely under these conditions that either Jack McAndrews or "Dixie" Sheehan will get the call as both are suffering from minor injuries.

'Gators Leave For Columbus

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The University of Florida's 'Gators, 31 of them, left here tonight for Columbia, S. C., where they will engage the South Carolina Gamecocks on the gridiron tomorrow.

The Florida team, accompanied by Coach Charlie Bachman and a string of assistants, is scheduled to take a light workout in Columbia tomorrow morning after their arrival at 7:30 o'clock.

Bachman said prior to departure from Gainesville that his squad was in excellent condition. He is expecting to start his strongest combination against the Gamecocks.

Harry Kipke Admits He Makes Mistakes

Harry Kipke, Michigan coach, has been soundly criticised for his team's showing this year and he doesn't deny its bad. For instance, he says:

"I've made some mistakes and the boys have made some and between us we've not done well. But I think we's showing improvement now."

GEORGIA TEAM KEPT INSIDE BY RAIN, COLD

Freshmen Leave for Game This Afternoon With Young Tide.

By K. Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 22.—A cold, drizzling rain and a muddy field kept the Georgia Bulldogs inside today except for only a few minutes of signal drill.

Tomorrow the Bulldog coaches will send their men through a hard scrimmage against a reserve freshman team in an effort to get the team in the best possible condition for the Alabama game.

Gene Smith's freshmen left here this afternoon for Tuscaloosa, Ala., where the Bullpups will play the University of Alabama freshmen Saturday. Twenty-two men are making the trip. They are: McWhorter and Snelling, centers; Patterson, Hazlehurst and Thurmond, guards; Swygert, Mitchell, Winn and Cordell, tackles; Crenshaw, Miller, Maxwell, Reynolds and Tom Clark, ends; Sullivan and Young, quarterbacks; Gaston, Clark, Lem and Kendrick, halfbacks; Gilmore and D. R. Clark, fullbacks.

Wade Works Against Flu.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Nov. 22.—No Crimson Tide practice was held Friday due to extreme inclement weather. Coach Wade's squad is in great shape, barring a couple of old injuries, and the Tide mentor seems intent upon keeping his boys from colds and flu. The number of casualties on the Tide roster is at the lowest point of the season, Ralph McRight, first-string blocking half, and John Suther, star open field runner, are not right yet.

McRight is slowly regaining the use of his left leg which has been in a cast since the Vanderbilt game, and Suther, hounded by injuries and illness during his entire varsity career, is in very doubtful condition.

Old Guard Set For Annual Shoot

Members of the Old Guard of Atlanta will hold their annual rifle shoot at the Atlanta Rifle Range, back of Fort McPherson today, it was announced Thursday by officials in charge. The shooting will start at 9 o'clock and each participant will shoot approximately 120 rounds of ammunition.

Among the medals and prizes for competition are the Woolford medal, the Randolph medal, the Lewis medal and the George M. Hope medal.

Shooting will be from 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards and will be slow fire and 200, 300 and 500 yards at rapid firing.

Championship Men All Scored Success

The reunion of Chicago's great football team of 1899 was a reunion also of very successful and wealthy men. Walter S. Kennedy, captain and quarterback, is now a newspaper owner. James Sheldon is a prosperous Chicago broker. Dr. Kellogg Speed is a prominent surgeon. Herbert F. Ahlswede, is a department store owner of Long Beach, Calif. Bert J. Cassells is a manufacturer. William F. Eldridge owns a ranch in the west. And many others who were in the lineup that year have made good in the bigger game of life.

Albie Booth To Start for Yale Against Harvard This Afternoon

STEVENS SENDS FULL STRENGTH INTO BIG TILT

Harvard To Use Passing Attack—Eli Is 8-to-5 Favorite.

By Frank Getty,
United News Sports Editor.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22.—(United News.) — Yale's football squad, with little Albie Booth very much in evidence, tested the frosted turf of Harvard stadium this afternoon and pranced through some vigorous signal drill in preparation for the annual game with Harvard, which will be witnessed by 57,000 on Saturday.

"Booth will start the game at quarterback," Head Coach Mal Stevens announced definitely, and Yale men everywhere heaved a sigh of relief and the odds on the Bulldog strengthened perceptibly.

Stevens also is going to gamble in Saturday's game as no Yale head coach ever has gambled before. He plans to start not only Booth, but Don McLennan, Albie's substitute, who did so well against Princeton, and Austen and Ellis, two more of the better Blue backs.

SHOOTING THE WORKS.

Thus Yale will be "shooting the works" from the opening whistle, a great gesture in the Harvard game, where the best ball carriers frequently are carefully saved for strategic moments.

It means action from the first kick-off, with Yale gambling everything upon an early score and the reserves nervous on the sidelines, watching Booth for signs of a breakdown after every play.

Harvard sportsmen are glad that Albie can play and will meet the Yale attack with a forward-passing game. Harper, the fullback who has been out with injuries, will be in the Crimson starting lineup, together with Barry Wood, Devens and Putnam in the backfield.

This means action on Harvard's part, as well, although Mays and Harding, the Crimson's best forward-pass receivers, are not listed to start the game.

YALE FAVORITE.

Cambridge and Boston were riotous with pre-game enthusiasm tonight, with Harvard men whistling bravely to keep their courage up and asking odds of 8 to 5 on Yale.

The Eli squad worked out for an hour in the stadium and Booth ran the team from the quarterback position, seeming spry and showing little evidence of the leg injury which has kept him out of action for a fortnight.

There still is considerable doubt as to Albie's probable effectiveness. Certainly he was badly injured or he would not have been kept out of the Princeton game when it seemed that the Tigers were holding the Bulldog on even terms.

AFTER SCORE.

The little spark plug to one of the best Eli football machines will go out after a score in the first quarter, alternating with McLennan in carrying the ball. "Hoot" Ellis, formerly a quarterback himself, will do the blocking, along with Austen. Ellis, who won the Dartmouth game by sprinting 75 yards with a captured forward pass in the closing minutes, has developed into a great blocker, as his work in the Maryland and Princeton games demonstrated.

Harvard is trusting to the ruggedness of its line and the forward passing game which tied the Army and nearly beat Michigan.

HARVARD.	Pos.	YALE.
Douglas	L. E.	Hickok
Barrett (C.)	L. T.	Marting
Trainer	L. G.	Hare
B. Ticknor	C.	Palmer
Talbot	R. G.	Greene (C.)
W. Ticknor	R. T.	Vincent
O'Connell	R. E.	Barres
Wood	Q. B.	Booth
Putnam	L. H.	McLennan
Devens	R. H.	Austen
Harper	F. B.	Ellis

DOWN the LINE by W. O. McGeehan

It is getting around to the time when the boys will be picking the All-American teams and the theoretical championship team in intercollegiate football for the season of 1929. All of this is somewhat futile, but it seems to be the annual custom.

My notion always has been that if the All-America team could be got together and induced to play as a unit, some college team with no All-America selections would beat the theorectical All-America team quite decisively. This intercollegiate football emphatically is an inspirational game. The college team would be playing as a team and ready to die for dear old Whatsis, while that All-America team would be a collection of stars, not fully co-ordinated and playing with no particular notion, excepting to play football.

At that, this should be the sane method of approaching the game, without the well known overemphasis and the hysteria. But this is not the attitude of either the players or the spectators. From the point of view of attendance, I do not think that a game involving the All-America team would draw as many spectators as, say, the Yale-Harvard or the Notre Dame-Army game.

Bad Business.

Of course, this discussion is even more futile than the picking of an All-America team or the selection of a mythical championship college team. In a rash moment some time back I agreed to act as one of a jury to select the mythical champions, the coach of the team to be given the Erskine award. I suppose that I will have to go through with that, but I think that immediately afterward I had better embark incognito for parts unknown to dodge the ire of the old grads of some of the other colleges.

There are numbers of unbeaten teams in the east, the corn belt, the Pacific coast and the south. There are Pittsburgh in the east, Purdue in the middle west, Tennessee in the south and California on the Pacific coast. There is, of course, Notre Dame, unbeaten at all points of the compass. And at Fordham they are pointing to the fact that the Maroon team has yet to brush the dust from the seats of its football trousers.

Before the season started Mr. Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, violating all the canons of football coaching, announced that Notre Dame would have a good football team this year. It seems that he exercised too much repression. The Notre Dame team is not merely good—it is perfect.

Bigger and Better.

Last year, after the defeat of New York University by the Oregon Aggies and the decisive defeat of the Army by Stanford University from the Pacific coast, there was a general notion that they bred better and bigger football players on the coast than they did in any other part of the far-flung football recruiting territory, and that they played better football there. It was the climate, or something.

My notion is that there is nothing in that. In the World War the troops from one section of the country were quite as good as those from any other section. Superiority in football seems to be largely a matter of chance. Any frank coach will tell you that in some years he gets good material and in others not so good. There is no really bad material for football any more than there is any bad material for armies.

But to get down to the matter of selecting the mythical championship team for this Erskine award. Football is the one game where the statistics do not count. There is no way in which anybody can get a mathematical line on the strength of a football team. I doubt if there would be even if the college football teams, like the big league baseball teams, played 154 games a year, which would be physically impossible.

All Not Rewarded.

The argument in favor of the annual selections for the mythical all-America team is that being picked for it is in the nature of citations for the players who are named. In the crowded football season there are many players who may have earned citations, but who remain uncited, as it were, just as in the war business there are many soldiers who have earned citations but who get nothing.

Even if there were enough experts to go over all the teams it would be hard to see some of the great work of the players who are playing only for the team and as parts of the machine.

When Pitt goes to California on New Year's Day to play at the Tournament of Roses, there might be a little excuse for theorizing on the mythical championship team on the basis of the result of this game. But that would leave out Purdue, and anybody who leaves out Purdue when figuring on a theoretical football championship will hear from George Ade—and not in a humorous way, either.

"What Matters the Victory?"

Dear Old Rutgers, for whom a football player once was or was not ready to die, contributed to a discussion as to the value of victory in intercollegiate football. Mr. David T. Bender, the line coach of the Rutgers football team, took as his topic, "What Matters the Victory?"

In theory I do not suppose that the victory in football amounts to a great deal, but in practice it is everything. I should hate to say to an old grad of Harvard when the sons of Eli are breaking through the line, "What matters the victory?"

Oh, yes, I know all about the theoretical part and that "It matters not the score, but how you played the game," and all that sort of thing. But try that out on an old grad after the team has been thumped about by the traditional rival, and you will learn that it is not a good working theory, though it should be.

It does not sound quite convincing, coming from Rutgers, where one of the boys from the banks of the old Raritan expressed his willingness to perish, or almost, for the alma mater. But perhaps the spirit of Rutgers has changed since the time of this young martyr of the gridiron, and they have reached the conclusion that football does not require such sacrifices. It would be just as well if this philosophy would become general, but it will not while the stands are crowded with ferocious partisans who feel that a player should be permitted to die for the alma mater, if he feels that way about it.

Snow Hampers Dogs at Hunt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(AP) Although handicapped by a five-inch snow which held scoring to a minimum for most hounds, Suckie, Black, White and Tan Bitch, by Tim, Out of Dusky, owned by General W. L. Sibert, Bowling Green, Ky., continued to lead in the all-age field trials of the National Fox Hunters' Association with a total of 110 points. The leader was credited with but 10 points today.

Gabe Moore, a brown and white hound, by Barb, out of Fannie, and owned by Sterling P. Owen, Jr., of Cynthiana, Ky., outclassed the field in today's cast with a score of 70 points, 40 for trailing and 30 for hunting. However, this mark with 20 points chalked up yesterday, sent the hound into second place. Three hounds —Min Lawson, owned by C. M. Meyers, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Fan Jackson, owned by Dr. M. Casper, Louisville, and Mayab, owned by the Kentucky Kennels, Paint Lick, Ky., were tied for third place with 70 points each.

The hunt was cut short by the judges, and this, they said, accounted for most of the low scores turned in. Many hounds with high marks yesterday were eliminated today for loafing rabbiting and other infractions.

Sixty-six hounds were left in the field for the final cast tomorrow when the national champion will be selected by the judges. The scoring today was on hunting and trailing. Endurance, which comprises one fourth of the total score, will be the main factor by which the judges will select the winner tomorrow.

Where Princeton Fails To Click

Bill Roper, football coach at Princeton, says the Tigers must play a different style of game than that played by many teams. He says:

"To put on intricate, meticulously coordinated offense of the Warner or Notre Dame systems requires months of laborious work. The Princeton authorities will not countenance year-around work. We don't have intensive spring practice, supplementary summer workouts and an early September start."

Florida Track Opens Dec. 14

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Nov. 22.—Approximately $175,000 in purses will be cut loose starting December 14 when Frank A. Keeney, millionaire New York sportsman, opens his track just north of here for a 27-day meeting.

Last year, during a 17-day meeting at Keeney park, something like $100,000 was distributed over the program with the races averaging about $800 each and handicap purses running to an average of $1,200 each.

This year Mr. Keeney's book will contain no race for less than $800 and the handicaps will run $2,000 or better with the Christmas and New Year's features touching the $2,500 mark.

Although the owners who ran here during last spring's short meeting were apparently satisfied with the purses, Mr. Keeney stated at the conclusion of the meeting that it was his intention to make the races this year worth more and to draw a better class of horses to the barrier. His decision has already been well rewarded with an entry reservation of more than double that of last year.

Weber Pleased With Mat Card

Plans for the opening winter wrestling matches, scheduled for next Tuesday night at the city auditorium, are rapidly nearing completion and Frank Brunowicz and Frank Nelson, two heavyweights who have been going good in recent matches, will head the card.

Paul Jones, a favorite with wrestling fans in the city, and George Zaharias, a promising Greek wrestler, are scheduled to appear in another match.

Promoter Henry Webber seemed pleased with the prospects for the opening show and stated Thursday night that some of the best wrestlers in the game today will be brought here in future matches.

B. H. S. DEFEATS SMITHIES, 18-6, FOR PREP TITLE

then lost 7 yards on an attempted end run. Hammond, with 30 seconds to play, threw another pass to Hutt over the goal line for 7 yards and a touchdown. The timer's whistle blew while the ball was in the air, but it was too late as the ball was on its way, and the half ended with the score tied at 6 each.

Boys' High began another touchdown drive late in the third quarter. The Hurricane received the ball in midfield. Howard went off left tackle for 8 yards. Davis added another over left tackle and McCalley made it a first down through the line. Howard then pulled a quarterback sneak through the line and made it for the open field for a 43-yard run. He was given some good interference by Davis but could not outrun the fleet "Pug" Boyd, who tackled him on the 3-yard line. Three line plays failed to make the goal but on the fourth try McCalley again rolled around the mass of players for another touchdown.

SPECTACULAR PLAY.

Turman, substituting for Howard, pulled one of the most spectacular plays of the game in the fourth quarter when he sneaked through the Tech High line, dodged the Tech High secondary and ran 14 yards to a touchdown. He had no interference whatever and it was a bit of clever twisting and dodging to get by.

J. Hadley, Morris, Hinson and Bender all played good football for Tech High in the line while the work of Hammond was outstanding in the backfield. Hammond was taken out in the fourth quarter with a bad ankle and it was the first time this year that time out had to be taken for him.

Lanier Ties G. M. C., 19-19.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 22. Lanier and G. M. C. tied, 19 to 19, here in one of the outstanding games of the football season Friday afternoon. The G. M. C. lads played a fine game the first half and were beaten by Lanier's stars in the last half, ending the game with a tie that will probably be played off in a post-season game.

Victory was in sight for G. M. C. at the end of the first half with the score reading 19 to 7, but Lanier's team came through with brilliant pass work in the last half that tied the score. In spite of valiant efforts the local team did not score at all in the last half of the game.

The last half of the game was played in a hard rain that had made the field muddy. Two thousand people came out to see the game in spite of lowering clouds and drizzling rain. The game marked the peak of interest here in the football schedule. Stars for the G. M. C. team were McArthur, Batchelor, Turbyville, McClellan and Rich. Lanier's stars were Ferguson and Burney.

Captain Parks, Barrentine and Owens gained consistently through the line and around the ends, with Johnson and Dobbs turning in frequent gains also. Few passes were attempted, on account of weather conditions. Barrentine was seldom stopped in his plunges through the line, while the off-tackle dashes and end sweeps of Parks netted him the greatest individual yardage, with the possible exception of that of Owens, who in the third quarter contributed the longest and most brilliant run of the afternoon. With the ball on his own 25-yard line, the speedy half ran across the field to the right sideline and then dashed straight up the field for a touchdown. Gordon's initial score was presented in the first quarter by Barrentine, who broke through the center of the line and dodged through the secondary to get a clear field for a 56-yard gallop.

For U. S. B., Jackson flashed several pretty runs. Thaxton also ran well until forced from the game by an injury. The Bluebirds could never prolong their attack to take the ball deep into Gordon territory. Twice they advanced the ball to the 20-yard line, where Gordon steadied and held for downs. Late in the fourth quarter the visitors completed one of the two successful passes of the game, the other being completed by Gordon, Parks to Godfrey for the only extra point scored.

Gordon plays the final game scheduled for the next Thursday, when the Bulldogs engage G. M. C. in Milledgeville. This Thanksgiving meeting will have an important bearing on the post-season game to determine the championship of the G. I. A. A.

Russell High Wins, 13 to 0.

POWDER SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22. Russell High school, of East Point, defeated Powder Springs Aggies, 13 to 0, here this afternoon on a muddy field and during a steady rain. The visitors scored first in the initial quarter.

Russell received the ball on the kickoff and drove 55 yards to a touchdown. End runs, line bucks and off-tackle plays carried the ball to the 5-yard line, where Clay went around end for 5 more and the touchdown.

In the third quarter, Russell staged another drive that netted a touchdown when Bunn bucked the ball across for six points.

Pitt-Colgate Game 'Natural'

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Unofficial overtures looking toward a post-season football game here between the universities of Pittsburgh and Colgate seem to have struck a responsive chord at both schools.

The game, a "natural" between two of the strongest teams in the east, has been suggested for December 7.

Back of the negotiations is the general belief that Notre Dame will be invited to participate in the annual Tournament of Roses game in Pasadena, Cal., New Year's day. Pittsburg also has been mentioned prominently as a possible eastern representative but the impression that Notre Dame will get the call has gained wide circulation.

Repeal Sought On Golf Taxes

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(United News.)—The United States Golf Association is seeking the co-operation of all social, athletic and sporting clubs in its efforts to obtain the repeal of the present tax on club dues and initiation fees, H. H. Ramsay, vice president of the U. S. G. A., announced today.

John G. Jackson, general counsel of the U. S. G. A., is conferring with officials of the treasury department at Washington this week, and it is likely that the association will sponsor an amendment to the internal revenue act of 1928 for the repeal of the tax.

FOOTBALL HIT BY CASE COACH

Spirit Lacking in Game, Mentor Declares As He Quits Job.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 22.—(AP) College football, hit recently by an exhaustive bulletin of the Carnegie Foundation which accused it of a "spirit of professionalism," tonight faced another criticism in a statement by one of the greatest players of recent years. Coach Bob Fletcher, of the Case School of Applied Science, that "only a few college players nowadays play the game because they like it."

Announcing his resignation as the Case coach today, to be effective after the Thanksgiving game with Western Reserve University, Fletcher declared that "intercollegiate football is dying."

Football games will continue to draw big crowds for a few years but the game will not hold the public as in the past, Fletcher said.

The former star quarterback of the University of Illinois declared there was a "changed attitude" among college players of the last few years. "The youngsters of today care more for the social life at college."

With few exceptions, Notre Dame outstanding, Fletcher said college teams lacked discipline. He cited the weak showing of Michigan early this season as an example and said the recent improvement of the Wolverines was accomplished only by discharging eight members of the team in order to have harmony on the squad.

Fletcher has been coach at Case since 1924. With several good seasons to his record, he faced even better prospects next year with almost an entire team of veterans. He said, however, his retirement from football would be permanent, and that he will associate himself in a business capacity with an Ohio oil company as soon as the present season ends.

Purdue Grinds For Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 22.—Purdue's Big Ten football champions, undefeated in seven straight starts, are leaving no stone unturned this week to prevent Indiana from providing an anti-climax to what has been the greatest season in modern Boilermaker gridiron history. The Boilermaker forces, which have already earned the clear-cut right to the conference title, realize that Indiana's rejuvenated squad, fresh from its surprise victory over Northwestern, has everything to gain and nothing to lose as far as Big Ten ranking is concerned and will consequently be ready to cut loose with a daring attack in order to stop the champions and gain full possession of the Old Oaken Bucket for the first time.

Badly battered, although triumphant, in their brilliant stand against the powerful Hawkeye crew, the Boilermakers will rave to call on every energy to reach the same pitch for the Crimson battle that they did against Iowa. The terrific struggle that resulted in a Purdue victory and the championship has taken its expected toll as far as bumps and bruises is concerned, and thoughts of championship celebrations have been abandoned by the squad in order that it may concentrate on getting ready for the Indiana battle that will determine whether the Big Ten champions are to have a claim to national football honors.

Purdue's forward wall play reached the heights against the powerful Hawkeyes. Pape, the nemesis of more than one eleven, was stopped with only seven yards' gain in five attempts, while the hard-driving Glassgow was curbed successfully whenever the Hawks made a serious scoring bid. George VanBibber and Red Sleight, tackles, played perhaps the greatest games of their careers in stopping Iowa's power attack.

The "Four Riveters" — Welch, Harmeson, Yunevich and White—upheld their reputation for versatility, calling on passes for the winning touchdown, and then falling back on a safe running game to hold the victory margin throughout the remainder of the tilt.

Boilermakers Meet Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Purdue expects to play some more of its excellent football here tomorrow afternoon against Indiana and that's why the Boilermakers believed tonight that they will finish their 1929 season as one of the three undefeated teams in the middle west.

The Boilermakers need only a victory over Indiana, their traditional rivals, to end the season with one of the most impressive records in the country. Even if Indiana wins tomorrow, Purdue will be western conference champion with a standing of four games won and one lost. If Purdue wins she will claim the mythical national championship.

Missouri Valley Game Is Vetoed

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A proposed post-season game between all-star teams representing the Missouri Valley Athletic conference and the Rocky Mountain conference has been voted down by the former group, it was announced today by the Rev. W. J. Corboy, president.

Unanimous approval of the contemplated game was necessary, and the Missouri conference vote found two schools opposed, it was learned unofficially.

EAST'S CRITICS DIFFER WIDELY ON SELECTIONS

By L. S. Cameron.
United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(United News.)—Eastern football experts, considered collectively, are taking few chances in picking probable winners of Saturday's games. Individually, of course, all are risking reputations, but the opinions are more divided this week than they have been all season.

Yale is favored to beat Harvard. This prediction is made purely on a poll of leading critics' choices. The percentage of choice runs about seven for Yale and five for Harvard. Uncertainty as to the ability of Albie Booth to play for Yale is reflected in the selections.

EVEN MONEY.

The Fordham-Bucknell tilt is another game on which the experts disagree with a bit of violence. As many have picked one as the other. This is as it should be, for the game is an even-money proposition.

All of the paid fans have selected N. Y. U. to top Rutgers, as well they might. They also like Army over Ohio Wesleyan, although one may find a scattering vote for the Buckeye combine.

One of the surprise selections is on the Lafayette-Lehigh game, in which something like eight out of ten handicappers have voted for the former. The decisions must have been made on a comparative score basis. Lehigh lost to Rutgers, while Lafayette beat Rutgers. Elsewhere neither team has a significant victory, and each has several defeats.

UNANIMITY.

Navy is an almost unanimous choice to beat West Virginia Wesleyan. Brown is also rated a sure winner against New Hampshire.

In the only eastern game of intersectional variety, Villanova is universally chosen to top North Carolina State. The southerners have won only one game in seven starts. Villanova has a record of five wins, two losses and one tie.

South Carolina Battles Clark

With one of the largest crowds to witness a colored football game here expected out, Clark University and South Carolina State will clash this afternoon at Spiller field.

This game will bring together two of the outstanding colored elevens in the south and is expected to be a real battle. In this game two shining backfield stars will match wits and speed when Cotton, of South Carolina, and Chambers, of Clark.

Over 6,000 tickets have been sold, it is reported, and most of these to white fans. The Georgia Tech football squad will attend the game as guest of honor.

Pep meetings at Clark were held until a late a hour Friday night. Feeling is running high and the war cry is to beat the Carolina champions, who have held that honor for the last two years.

South Carolina arrived early Friday morning. They went directly to Clark University, where the players will be guests of the Atlanta institution during their stay in Atlanta.

Prominent among the players making the trip were Cotton, sensational quarterback and punter; Gregg, the hard-plunging fullback; Webber, the much-heralded flankman, who is said to be the best colored pass receiver in the south; Evans, center for the aggregation and an accurate passer and blocker; Anderson and Frazier, backfield stars for South Carolina, who have been playing havoc with opposing teams throughout the country. These men are expected to bear the brunt of battle for South Carolina. All appeared to be in the best of condition physically. With Cotton leading the attack, they will be a dangerous foe for Clark.

Extensive preparation has put the south Atlanta aggregation in good shape for State today.

Coach Taylor put the finishing touches on the squad Friday. Ballou, husky guard who was thought lost for the game, is said to be in good condition and will get the starting assignment against the Staters.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Five Points cigar store, Atlanta Athletic club, Jacobs' main store, Milton-Yates pharmacy, on Auburn avenue; the Naborhood Drug Company, corner Ashby and West Hunter streets, and the Amos Drug Company, on Ashby street.

Oregon Players Are Ruled Out

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Because faculty members believed their scholastic standings such that two weeks' absence just before examinations would endanger their grades, three members of the University of Oregon football team today were declared ineligible to make the trip to Miami, where the Webfeet meet the University of Florida in an intersectional football game December 10.

The players are Austin Colbert, tackle; Irvin Schultz, substitute tackle, and Charles Spear, backfield.

Infection Spreads In Rockne's Legs

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22. (AP)—Knute Rockne probably has seen his 1929 Notre Dame football team in formal competition for the last time.

The infection in Rockne's right leg, which forced him almost out of action eight weeks ago, has made its way into the left leg, and his physician, Dr. Robert L. Sensenich, has ordered complete rest, even though the team must face Northwestern at Evanston Saturday and Army in New York, a week hence.

Dr. Sensenich hastened to add that Rockne's condition is no cause of real alarm, but said recovery would be long delayed unless the coach gets absolute rest from now on. He said Rockne was overfatigued last Saturday when he directed his team from a wheel-chair in the Southern California game, but had improved since that time.

Dr. Sensenich described the ailment as thrombosis-phelbitis, or the clogging of a vein by a blood-clot.

FIGHTING GAME ON DOWNGRADE

Four Classes Without Champion; Title Holders Refuse To Fight.

By George Kirksey.
United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—With four boxing divisions without champions and the other four dominated by champions who refuse to defend their titles for one reason or another, the boxing industry is decidedly on the downgrade in most of the large boxing centers of the country.

FORCED DOWN.

Two of the outstanding favorites in the east have been forced to go into the smaller clubs for their matches. Kid Chocolate, Cuban negro, appeared at a small Brooklyn arena last night for $1,500. Jack (Kid) Berg, of England, fought at a small uptown gym for a similar sum.

The absence of champions in the heavyweight, light-heavyweight, bantamweight and flyweight divisions has not helped the situation any.

Neither have the demands of Mickey Walker, Jackie Fields, and Sammy Mandell for prohibitive purses helped the trade.

The failure of Fields to place his welterweight title at stake has been a big disappointment to his many followers in the east. Fields has asked the preposterous sum of $100,000 to defend his championship against Jimmy McLarnin.

REFUSES OFFERS.

Bat Battalino, Hartford (Conn.) unknown, who won the featherweight title from Andre Routis, has a standing offer of $45,000 from Luis Guiterrez, manager of Kid Chocolate, to defend the 128-pound title against the Cuban negro. It is doubtful if Battalino could draw that much money outside Hartford against any opponent other than the popular negro.

Boxing needs a stimulant in the worst way. A couple of real champions who would get "in there" and fight for less than 50 grand would go a long way toward reviving interests in some of the dead divisions.

Little progress has been made toward selecting Gene Tunney's successor. Jack Sharkey was the outstanding contender when Tunney retired more than a year and a half ago, and he still remains such.

TOO MUCH RED TAPE.

A match between Sharkey and Max Schmeling would put new life in the heavyweight ranks. Red tape is quite likely to keep them apart, however, for the next year.

Two heavyweight matches are scheduled within the next month, Otto Von Porat meeting Phil Scott in Madison Square Garden and Tuffy Griffiths facing Paolino Uzcudun at Chicago.

A light-heavyweight champion may be crowned when Maxey Rosenbloom, of New York, meets Yale Okun next month. Rosenbloom just about clinched the title left vacant by Tommy Loughran when he decisively whipped James J. Braddock last week.

A flyweight tournament is in progress, with Eugene Huat, of France, the strong favorite, but almost four years of effort have failed to make any progress toward determining a bantamweight champion.

International Net Association Formed

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(United News.) Thirty lawn tennis professionals, composed principally of instructors, today formed the International Professional Lawn Tennis Federation with the intention of organizing a world's professional championship tournament early in 1930, probably in Paris. Among the founders were Darsonval, who taught Cochet, LaCoste and Brugnon the rudiments of the game, and Burke, a teacher who staged the Wills-Lenglen match.

BIG TEN ENDS SEASON TODAY IN OLD GAMES

Two Outside Battles Also On Card—Purdue Holds Title.

By Charles Dunkley,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With the 1929 championship already nailed to the mast at old Purdue, down on the banks of the Wabash, football will bid farewell to the Western conference tomorrow.

Four traditional games will wind up the season, with Purdue,- title-holder for the first time since the formation of the conference 32 years ago, meeting Indiana at Bloomington, Illinois engaging Ohio State at Columbus, Wisconsin battling Minnesota at Minneapolis, and Iowa taking the field against Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Northwestern and Chicago, having finished their Big Ten competition a week ago, will close the season in non-conference battles. Northwestern tackles Notre Dame at Evanston, while Chicago meets a Pacific Coast conference team, the University of Washington Huskies, at Stagg field.

IRISH BATTLE.

Notre Dame, bounding along the highway leading to a national championship, will cast its shadow over a Big Ten gridiron for the third time this season, as the Rockneless Ramblers battle for their eighth consecutive victory. Notre Dame always has had a tough time beating Northwestern, and tomorrow's game promises to be no exception. The fact that Northwestern took it on the chin from Indiana a week ago means that Notre Dame will find the Wildcats just that much tougher.

Notre Dame will take the field with its celebrated coach, Knute Rockne, listening to the game over radio from his sick bed in South Bend. Rockne has been ordered to remain in bed because of the spread of an infection to both limbs, and Tom Lieb, assistant coach, will direct the strategy of battle.

Purdue, regardless of having clinched the championship, is determined to wallop Indiana, thus winding up the season victorious in eight straight games.

SECOND PLACE.

Second place in the conference championship rating will be at stake for the winner of the Illinois-Ohio State game at Columbus. The triumphant team will boast of a record of three victories, one defeat and one deadlock. Illinois figures to win in the opinion of the experts, although anything may happen when these two old-time rivals meet.

Chicago will match its remarkable forward pass attack against the brawn of the University of Washington. If the Maroons' defense, which has been shaky all season, can hold the Huskies to one touchdown, Chicago has a better than an even chance for a win or a tie.

Mandell Fights At Miami Dec. 10

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, and Young Manuel Quintero, great Cuban boxer, will meet in the new Miami Beach Kennel Club boxing arena the night of December 10, it was announced here by G. R. K. Carter, president of the kennel club. The agreements with both parties were concluded after Mandell's contemplated bout here December 6 had been called off. The champion asked for a later date in order to get the bout with Manuel, who is considered one of the best lightweights in the game.

Manuel, according to the agreement, will enter the ring at 138 pounds or under. The Cuban cavalier is growing into a welterweight and will not go below that poundage. He has been fighting at about 140 pounds this fall.

The bout will be the second in the arena which the late Tex Rickard planned for Miami Beach and which Carter finished this fall. The first show, in which Dave Shade, of California, knocked out Dick Evans, of Cleveland, in two rounds, drew a big crowd. Manuel, who is a great favorite all through the southern states and in Cuba, is thought to be the best drawing card Miami could get for Mandell.

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

Housebroken

BY PAUL HERVEY FOX

SYNOPSIS.

Tom Davies, football star of a small eastern college, plays brilliantly in his last game. After the battle Bruce Stevens, his roommate, asks him to go to the dance that night to escort a girl who's been asked down to the college for him. Bruce explains that he wishes to avoid meeting one of the chaperons. Tom agrees to substitute for him. The girl, Suzanne Branch, makes an instantaneous appeal to him. She tells Tom that she is engaged to marry a friend of her father's. After she leaves, Tom writes to her. Before the Christmas holidays Tom meets her in New York. Suzanne breaks her engagement to the other man when she and Tom realize they love each other, and she invites Tom to her home to meet her family. Suzanne goes down to the college for commencement.

After graduation Tom's father gives him a small house at Stamford as a wedding present. Suzanne and Tom are married in November and for the first few months are perfectly happy. One day Tom stays in town to have dinner with some college friends, and on his return Suzanne upbraids him. The storm blows over, and a few weeks later he promises to attend a prize fight with some of the boys. Suzanne creates such a scene that Tom gives up the idea.

About a year after their marriage Bruce Stevens returns from a trip to the orient. Tom is delighted to see him. He asks Bruce to occupy the guest room at their house. They have dinner in town and arrive home late. Suzanne is furious. She and Tom quarrel over Bruce's visit. She refuses to get up the next morning to meet him. The two men go into town together, and Bruce tells Tom he will have to stay in town. Tom asks Bruce as a special favor to return with him to Stamford. That evening on their return from New York Suzanne greets them at the door. She is cordial to Bruce. The next day she starts a flirtation with him, but he realizes that it is all pretense and is done to get rid of him and his influence by making Tom jealous. Bruce confides this to Tom and offers to help him, and together they arrange a plan.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

CRISIS.

Suzanne lifted her large eyes to Bruce's face. He stepped forward and took her in his arms.

The door at the head of the cellar stairs snapped open. Tom Davies stood there, looking down. Without a word he descended. Suzanne had broken away. The nerves in her body were tight wires. She was suddenly terribly frightened and ashamed.

There was the longest pause Suzanne had known in all her life, and yet it could not have been more than 20 or 30 seconds.

Tom's face didn't look like his face. He did not even glance at her, but only at Bruce. Then he said in a single word:

"Well?"

Bruce gave a nervous laugh. "You want an explanation, of course. I'll give it to you—right now. I'm glad you've found out, though I'd have told you, Tom!"

"Don't call me Tom!"

"All right. I don't know what there is to say. I don't know what I can tell you even. Only you can't help things happening."

Tom put his hand up to his collar absently, and he spoke with difficulty.

"Yes, I guess you're right. I guess there's nothing to say except that I've been the usual fool. She loves you, I know she does, because she wouldn't have let you come near her otherwise. But you—what do you feel?"

"I don't know what you mean."

"I mean, do you love her?"

"Do you think I need to answer that?"

"Yes, I think you do."

"All right. I do love her. I want her to come away with me—I want to take her away."

Tom's voice broke a little.

"Then, I lose. You can take her. I won't stand in your way."

A cry that was half a sob broke from Suzanne. He made a curt gesture, turned his back. She stood there, her heart in a pitch of despair, and "What have I done? O, what have I done?" she asked herself miserably.

Then she could not control herself. She fled, fled up the stairs, up to her room, shut the door in a kind of panic, pressed her hands against her eyes, and a moan of actual pain came from her. He was letting her go, he was letting her go! But she wouldn't go, she'd tell him the truth, confess everything, crawl to him on her knees, beg his forgiveness. She had been beaten, beaten! But what did it matter, what did anything matter, except never leaving him?

It had turned out so differently, everything was unlike what she had expected would happen. And she thought of Bruce with a fury that amazed her now. She had not suspected she could hate any one so much. It was his fault, absolutely his fault!

She looked at her face in the mirror. It was quite white. Her eyes had an unnatural expression.

She tried to quiet her jumping nerves, tried to think calmly. Tom would take her back, he would understand! But she would have to tell him the truth. Then—then he would do as he wanted after that. He would always have that to hold over her. He'd spend evening after evening in that club, do what he liked, go out with other men.

Why, why had she ever begun this crazy thing?

A wild thought came to her. Perhaps Tom didn't expect her really to go! But he did—he meant that! He thought she loved Bruce, because of what he had seen. He had trusted her, and she hadn't appreciated till now what it meant to be trusted like that.

O, if she did go away, he'd regret it, he'd lie awake miserably and wish her back. He'd be sorry! Suppose she just ran off to her home in Pleasant Brook? Wouldn't he follow her there, beg her to return? But how could she go to Pleasant Brook, let her friends, her family realize that in seven short months her marriage had failed?

Her head began to ache furiously. There came a jangling sound. She lifted the telephone receiver automatically. It was Kathleen Mobray.

"Hello, Suzanne, what are you doing?"

"Nothing. Nothing at all."

"Have you got a summer cold?"

"No."

"Your voice sounds funny. O, I'm just awfully bored today. How's that man—that friend of Tom's who's staying with you?"

"Why, he's—he's all right."

"Don't you wish you could get away a bit? Out into the real country, I mean? It's such awfully muggy weather. I feel like fishing and tramping and doing things. I wish somebody would steal my car. Then maybe I'd walk at least."

An idea formed in Suzanne's mind with such rapidity she had to repeat it to herself all over again, while she went on, talking about nothing to Kathleen.

If—if she could get Kathleen to come along, she might wrest victory out of defeat. With Kathleen along she could actually go! And could brave things out for a week! She could go to that horrible island, she and Bruce, with Kathleen for protection against scandal.

And Tom would think about her! He'd see what it was like to miss her. He'd realize what he had done then. She'd let him know Kathleen was along, of course, that Bruce was only her suitor, not her lover. But he'd suffer just the same. He'd have to give in. There was a chance at least, and if she didn't do this——!

"Kathleen!"

"What!"

"Listen to me, Kathleen! Something has happened. I—I can't explain. But could you go away with me—right now—for—for about a week?"

"Go away with you?"

"Yes. To Maine. To an island. I—I'm leaving Tom."

"You're leaving Tom?" There was a slow, dreadful silence. "I—I guess I didn't understand," said Kathleen after a moment.

"I'm telling you everything—but you must swear never to breathe this to any one. I'm going away with—with his friend. But I can't go away alone. I—I want you to come with me."

"Suzanne, I—I can't grasp it. You're really leaving Tom? And you're going with——"

ROAD BOARD WILL LET $1,000,000 CONTRACTS

Construction Program Will Be Considered in Detail on January 1.

One million dollars' worth of state highway construction contracts will be let in January and February, it was announced Friday at the conclusion of a two-day meeting of the state highway board.

Other than this no plans for future construction by the department were revealed. The board is working on a five-year building program, but details will not be decided until the reorganization of the board on January 1, when W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, succeeds Stanley S. Bennett, of Quitman, as a member.

Colonel Sam Tate, chairman of the board, Thursday announced figures indicating a total expenditure by the board of $16,500,000 up to January 31, 1930. The figures are inclusive of $2,000,000 of present indebtedness, which will be paid shortly, and $1,500,000 of outstanding contracts.

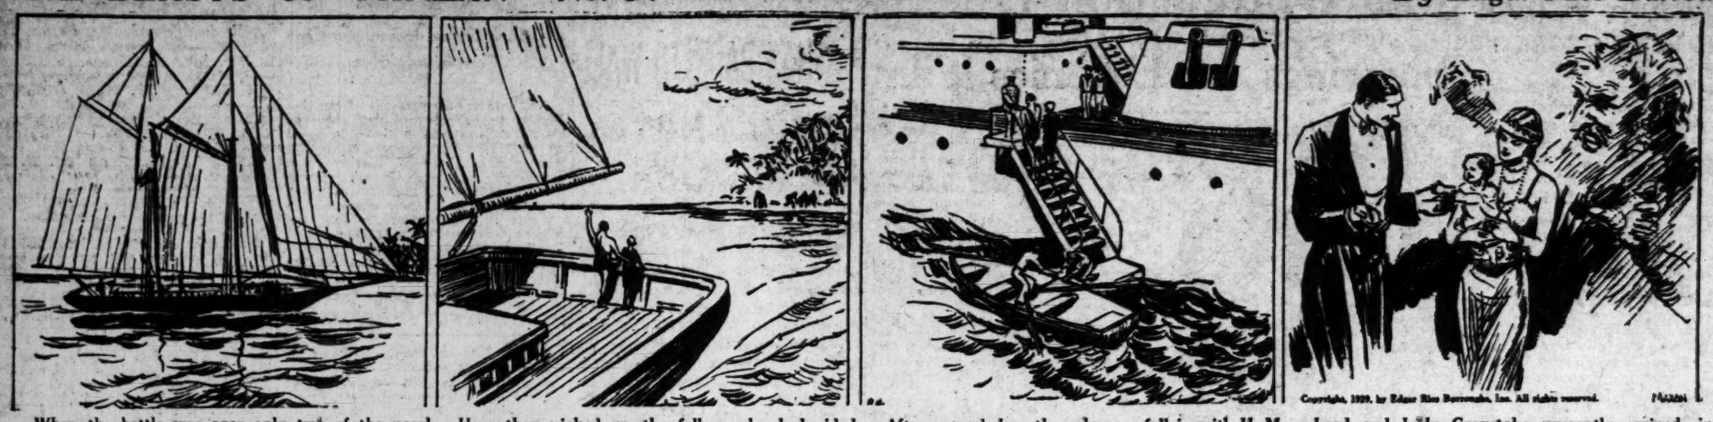
THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 84

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



When the battle was over only two of the pearl schooner's mutineers remained alive. They had found sanctuary in the forecastle. Tarzan brought them forth and without promises of immunity from punishment forced them to help work the vessel. A stiff breeze had risen with the sun, and with canvas spread the pearl schooner set in toward Jungle Island.

Here they picked up the fellow who had aided Tarzan, and here the ape-man bade farewell to Sheeta and the Apes of Akut. As long as their eyes could span the distance, Jane and Tarzan, standing upon the deck, saw the lonely figure of the shaggy anthropoid motionless upon the surf-beaten sands of Jungle Island. As the vivid tropical twilight faded, Tarzan of the Apes murmured wistfully: "Farewell—my faithful friends. I shall remember you always."

After several days the schooner fell in with H. M. Sloop of War "Shorewater." Through its wireless Lord Greystoke learned that which filled his and his wife's heart with joy and thanksgiving—his little son was safe at his town house. It developed that Rokoff had hidden the child in a low den where nameless infants were harbored, but a woman informant had enabled Lord Greystoke's solicitors to ransom him.

Lord and Lady Greystoke presently arrived in England for a joyful reunion with their child, but Tarzan of the Apes was not permitted long to enjoy his fancied safety and the comfort of his wealth and position. What made him forsake them—what befell him in his native Africa and how he overcame new perils is, as Kipling says, another story. That story is told in "THE SON OF TARZAN." WATCH FOR IT!"

CHARLES R. MITCHAL DIES AT RESIDENCE

Funeral Services Will Be Held at 2:30 O'Clock Sunday.

Charles Ryan Mitchal, 37, long a well-known resident of Atlanta, died Friday afternoon at the residence, 1103 Euclid avenue.

For more than 20 years Mr. Mitchal was an employe of The Constitution. A paralytic stroke 18 years ago forced his retirement, although he was not confined to his home until about a year ago.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Mattie Royal Mitchal, whom he married in Hawkinsville, where he was reared, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Orlie Mitchal Kirven; Miss Ryan Mitchal and Mrs. W. B. Roberts; a son, James Royal Mitchal, and a sister, Mrs. W. B. Daniel, of Eastman.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Ephiphany Episcopal church with the Rev. Russell K. Smith officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

NOTICE.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.

Whereas, Enterprise Development Company executed its loan deed dated May 1, 1928, recorded in Deed Book 1168, Page 474, of Fulton County Records, conveying to Milton Dargan, Trustee, certain real property situated in Fulton County, Georgia, a portion of which is more particularly hereinafter described, for the purpose of securing the sum of Fifteen Thousand Six Hundred ($15,600) Dollars, represented by four (4) notes, three of said notes remaining unpaid, all of them maturing on August 1, 1928, and

Whereas, the said loan deed provides that "in case the debt hereby secured, or any part thereof, shall not be paid when it becomes due by maturity in due course, or by reason of a default as above provided, the party of the second part, or assigns, may enter upon said premises and collect the rents and profits thereof, and may sell the said property at auction, subject to any prior encumbrance thereon, at the usual place for conducting sales at the Court House in the County where the land lies, in said State, to the highest bidder for cash, first giving four weeks' notice of the time, terms and place of such sale, by advertisement once a week in a newspaper published in said County, all other notice being hereby waived by said party of the first part"; and

Whereas, on the 27th day of April, 1929, the said Milton Dargan, Trustee, did make, execute and deliver to Mrs. Fannie Lee Davidson, of Montgomery, Alabama, a quitclaim deed covering that portion of the property conveyed to him by the said loan deed from the Enterprise Development Company hereinafter more fully described, (the remainder of said property having previously been quitclaimed by the said Milton Dargan, Trustee, to Enterprise Development Company upon the payment of the first of the four notes hereinbefore described), the said Fannie Lee Davidson having purchased the three notes remaining unpaid, aggregating Seven Thousand Eight Hundred ($7,800) Dollars principal with interest from August 1, 1928, at eight per cent (8%), and

Whereas, the above mentioned quitclaim deed from Milton Dargan, Trustee, to Mrs. Fannie Lee Davidson, recorded in Deed Book 1194, Page 429, of Fulton County Records, did convey to her all of the property hereinafter described, as well as the security held by the said Milton Dargan, Trustee, under the terms of which the said Fannie Lee Davidson succeeded to all the right, title and interest of the said Milton Dargan, Trustee, under the original loan deed, being the assignee and transferee thereof, and being subrogated to all of the rights of the said Milton Dargan, Trustee, under said original loan deed, and

Whereas, the three notes aggregating Seven Thousand Eight Hundred ($7,800) Dollars principal, with interest from August 1, 1928, at eight per cent. (8%) per annum, are in default and remain in default, and there is now due thereon Seven Thousand Eight Hundred ($7,800) Dollars principal, with interest from August 1, 1928, to November 1, 1929, Seven Hundred and Eighty ($780) Dollars, with future interest at eight per cent. (8%).

Now, therefore, the said Fannie Lee Davidson, as the owner and holder of the said notes and as successor to all of the rights of the original holder of said loan deed, as the assignee of the said notes and the transferee of the security therefor, does hereby give notice by this advertisement that she will sell to the highest bidder for cash within the legal hours of sale before the Court House door of Fulton County, Georgia, on the first Tuesday in December, 1929, to-wit: on the third day of December, 1929, that portion of the real property conveyed by Enterprise Development Company by loan deed recorded in Deed Book 1168, Page 474, of Fulton County Records, which was in turn conveyed by Milton Dargan, Trustee, by quitclaim and transfer deed to Fannie Lee Davidson, recorded in Deed Book 1194, Page 429, of Fulton County Records, said portion of said property so conveyed being more particularly described as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the City of Atlanta, in Land Lot 15 of the 14th District of Fulton County, Georgia, and being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the southeast side of Bernina Avenue at the corner formed by the intersection of the southeast side of Bernina Avenue with the southwest side of a twelve (12) foot alley, the same being the first alley intersecting the southeast side of Bernina Avenue east from Elizabeth Street; running thence southeastwardly along the southwest line of said twelve (12) foot alley a distance of ninety-seven and five-tenths (97.5) feet to another twelve (12) foot alley which runs northeastwardly from Elizabeth Street; thence southwestwardly along the northwest side of said last named twelve (12) foot alley a distance of one hundred seventy-five and one-half (175½) feet, more or less, to a point which is one hundred and one-half (100½) feet northeast from Elizabeth Street, as measured along the northwest side of the twelve (12) foot alley last referred to; thence northwestwardly seventy-five and six-tenths (75.6) feet to a point; thence northeastwardly one hundred twenty and nine-tenths (120.9) feet to the southeasterly corner of a one-story brick building; thence northwestwardly along the northeast line of said building sixty and six-tenths (60.6) feet to Bernina Avenue; and thence northeastwardly along the southeasterly line of Bernina Avenue seventy and three-tenths (70.3) feet to the point of beginning.

This notice is given in compliance with the terms of the said loan deed and the said sale will be in the exercise of the power of sale contained in the said loan deed, authorizing Milton Dargan as attorney in fact for Enterprise Development Company, or his assigns, to sell said property, and the said Fannie Lee Davidson, as assignee of the said notes and transferee of all of the rights contained in the said loan deed, having by such assignment and transfer succeeded to the rights of the said Milton Dargan as attorney in fact for Enterprise Development Company to sell said property under the terms of the original loan deed.

Said property will be sold for the purpose of paying the indebtedness due Fannie Lee Davidson and all the expenses of this sale, and the deed to the purchaser will be executed by the undersigned as attorney in fact for Enterprise Development Company.

This 8th day of November, 1929.

THOMAS F. CLEARY, OF SAVANNAH, DIES SUDDENLY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Thomas F. Cleary, a member of the Savannah police department, dropped dead this morning while putting on his uniform.

THOMAS J. ROBERTS DIES IN THOMASTON

THOMASTON, Ga., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Thomas J. Roberts, 56, died at his home here early today. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mattie Allison Roberts; a daughter, Mrs. Grantland Kersey, of Florida, and a brother, James T. Roberts, of Yatesville, Ga.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon from the Baptist church here, with the Rev. C. S. Durden officiating, and interment will be in the Roberts cemetery.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR B. F. TEAGUE, PIONEER GEORGIAN

Funeral services for Benjamin Franklin Teague, 73, retired business man and widely known pioneer resident of this section, who died at his home early Friday, will be conducted from the residence, 1265 Gordon street, S. W., at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. W. L. Duren, Rev. Wallace Rogers and Rev. T. Tatum, of Marietta, will officiate. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Teague had been prostrate for several weeks when the end came. He retired from business several years ago due to ill health.

Mr. Teague was a native Georgian. He was born in Cass county and resided in Gordon and Gilmer counties before coming to Atlanta in 1879. For a number of years he was a member of the Park Street Methodist church, and at the time of his death belonged to the St. Mark's congregation.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Jo Morgan Teague and W. B. Teague; a sister, Mrs. J. W. Mulkie, of Apache, Okla., and a brother, James W. Teague, of Greenville, Texas.

Court Injunction Protects Showings of Eugenics Film

:: OPPONENTS PLAN TO FIGHT PRESENTATION ::

BY HELEN AND OLIVE PARISH.

Scene of the battle over projected exhibition before Atlanta audiences next week of "The Very Idea," eugenics film comedy, shifted Friday to the courts as injunction proceedings were brought by the management of the Rialto theater to prevent interference.

The injunction proceeding was met with threats of counter court actions by Dr. Wilkie Collins, pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist church, following exchange of phone messages earlier in the day by members of a special committee directing the fight against the exhibition of the photoplay.

Every one of the committee of five who waited on Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Thursday to enlist his support in the effort to bar the picture and Chief of Police James L. Beavers were named in the injunction signed by Judge G. H. Howard and set for a hearing at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Dr. Collins, Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor of the Gordon Street Baptist church, and James Morton, secretary of the Atlanta Christian council, all members of the Better Films Committee, conferred with several others opposed to showing this picture Friday morning and later communicated over telephone with members of the executive committee of the Christian Council, gaining sanction for a "fight to the finish against presenting the film here next week," according to Dr. Collins.

Heavy Damage Seen.

Charging opponents of exhibition of the picture with libel and an attempt to injure the theater with unfounded statements designed to mislead and misinform the public, the petition for the restraining order complains that the house will be injured many thousands of dollars unless it is permitted to show the picture unmolested. It also objects to a proposed boycott suggested Thursday at a meeting of the Better Films Committee. The paper cites the fact that the Atlanta board of review, the legally constituted censor body, has approved the picture unanimously.

The city board of review declares that it will not alter its position in approving the photoplay. Arthur Lynch, chairman of the board, stated that none but the evil-minded could find anything harmful in the picture, and that he considered it a fine, healthy, light comedy on eugenics, which would not offend the sensibilities of the most delicate.

The Better Films Committee was also involved in Friday's controversy, since those named in the injunction, with the exception of Chief Beavers, are all members of the association. The list of those named in the injunction follows: Mrs. Newton Wing, Mrs. George Price, Dr. Wilkie Collins, James Morton, J. W. Setze, E. R. Enloe and James L. Beavers.

Mayor Ragsdale, to whom a number of ministers, officials and members appealed Thursday, will consult with Miss Lillian Wade, assistant manager of the Rialto, at 9 o'clock this morning.

Board's Position Unchanged.

Action against the photoplay was precipitated by refusal of the official city board of review (which had unanimously approved the picture), to order it removed at the insistence of the Better Films Committee, an unofficial organization, numbering among its members representatives of 75 civic organizations, and claiming to represent public opinion.

The executive board of the latter organization sent resolutions to the city board Tuesday, and when no notice was taken of the communication, resentment was voiced at the association's monthly meeting Thursday.

Although the Better Films Committee stated through its president, Mrs. Wing, that it did not consider the picture obscene, indecent, or vulgar, yet they thought it might cause embarrassment to theatergoers, and that there was a possibility of young people leaving the performance outraged. At the meeting on Thursday, Dr. Collins branded the failure of the board of review to follow the suggestion as an affront to the Better Films Committee.

"If the board of review does not do what we want, there should be a new board," he said. "The board is a servant of this committee, and should accede to this request, as we make so few. This is a slap in the face, which reflects upon the prestige of the Better Films Committee."

This attitude was reiterated Friday when Dr. Collins stated that the Christian Council was making an issue of the picture, not because it was the worst thing that had ever come to Atlanta, but because it was the duty of the board of review to carry out the wishes of the unofficial body.

The injunction petition was taken out by Craighead & Craighead, and William C. Henson, attorneys for the Rialto. It stated that the success of the opponents of the picture would cost the Rialto no less than $10,000, and uncomputable damage in the way of defamation, and requests that the defendants be enjoined from all further intervention.

The injunction was presented to Judge Howard in the absence of Judge E. D. Thomas, who would ordinarily have signed it because of his position on the motion division of the court.

JOSEPH H. DENT, FORMER ATLANTAN, DIES IN MARYLAND

Joseph H. Dent, 85, formerly of Atlanta and Newnan and widely known in this section, died Friday morning at his home in Oakley, Md. Mr. Dent was the son of the late W. B. W. Dent, of Newnan and United States congressman from this district.

Mr. Dent had been ill for several years. He lived at Newnan for many years before moving to Atlanta. He left here several years ago to make his home in Maryland.

He is survived by his wife; his son, John F. Dent; three daughters, Miss Fannie Joe Dent and Miss Lettie Dent, all of Oakley, and Mrs. Elliott Burch, of Erie, Pa.

TWO ARE SLAIN, ANOTHER WOUNDED IN SHOOTING FRAY

HEPBURN, Ky., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Two men were killed and another seriously wounded in a shooting affray here last night. The dead are Dan Hensley, Jr., 24, and Boyd Carnes, 25.

Dan Hensley, Sr., a witness of the shooting, said Carnes and his brother went to Gillis Hensley's home with liquor last night and an argument started a few minutes later.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT HAS BACK TO WALL

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The nationalist government of China, which grew out of the military movement of 1926, was contending today against three great challenges to its continuance. Armed forces were attacking it along the Manchurian-Siberian border in the far north; civil war raged in the central provinces, and in Kwangtung province, whence sprang the progenitors of the government, the city of Canton was threatened by a new combination of rebel forces.

Within the past few days airplanes of the soviet government have bombed cities along the Chinese Eastern railway at the border of Siberia where soviet artillery has destroyed stations of that railway for which Russia contends with China for possession and control. The governor of the great area of Manchuria, Chang Hsueh-Liant, is reported to be seeking independent negotiations with the soviet powers on the railway dispute, asserting that the nationalist government is too occupied with civil war to aid Manchuria in its conflict with Russian troops.

In central China the kuominchun, translated "people's army," is at grips with the nationalist government troops in a civil war that threatens to spread from Hupeh and Honan provinces. In this area the forces engaged have been estimated at from 150,000 to 250,000.

Far to the south, the Kwangsi province rebels are reported engaged in a concerted movement with the "ironsides" regiment, which seceded from the government, and are advancing toward Canton in Kwangtung province.

Harassed by this new menace in south China, Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the nationalist government and general in chief of its forces, has withdrawn a portion of his troops which have been fighting the rebellious kuominchun in central China, in order to relieve the threatened Cantonese government.

Thus the Cantonese who, led by Chaing Kai-Shek, began a march northward in a national movement three years ago and subjugated all China to create a nationalist government in which all elements should be unified, are back today fighting to maintain themselves in the province from which they sprang.

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, U. S. S. R., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The official Tass News agency reported tonight that more than 8,000 Chinese soldiers and 300 officers had been captured and disarmed by soviet forces in a series of vigorous counter-attacks.

The report stated that about 10,000 rifles, a considerable quantity of field guns, ammunition, miscellaneous arms and equipment had been taken by the red soldiery. The counter-attacks were described as directed against continuous provocative assaults by Chinese along the soviet border in the trans-Baikal and coast line districts during the past three weeks.
